YOUTH MEETING DENIES VOTE TO ANTI-RED GROUP

Bars Pro-Americans on Technicalities.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lake Geneva, Wis., July 4.—The American Youth congress today refused voting powers in its convention here to the pro-American group of delegates, whose avowed purpose is to purge the organization of communists. The action demonstrated the tight control communists hold over the A. Y. C., which claims it represents 4,000,000 young Americans, members of the anti-Red group said.

Gene Tunney.

Heading the pro-American group of about 50, which is supported by Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion, was Murray Plavner of New York. Plavner was ejected from a Washington meeting of the A. Y. C. addressed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, last year.

Mrs. Roosevelt has continued to back the Youth congress despite mounting charges that it is a tool of the communist party. The largest billboard at the congress in College camp here features a defense of the A. Y. C.—a book entitled "American Youth Today," by Leslie Gould, with a foreword by Mrs. Roosevelt.

Represents 23 Organizations.

She writes that the "accusations of Murray Plavner serve only a destructive purpose." Several high leaders of the A. Y. C. regard her as an intimate friend.

Plavner's bloc represents 23 organizations, including the Young Republicans, Young Democrats, Junior Chambers of Commerce, Jewish Youth Organization of America, and the Knights of Columbus. Most of these delegates, bearing credentials duly signed by their secretaries, arrived from Michigan during the morning.

After a caucus in which R. Bruce McKay of Detroit, head of the Progressive Youth Political club, was named chairman, the group journeyed from their Williams Bay headquarters to College camp. There they formed a long line at the registration desk.

Technicalities Brought Up.

Plavner told Executive Secretary Joseph Cadden that he wanted to register the pro-American bloc of the Youth congress. He presented a folder of credentials.

A tangle of technicalities and delays was hurled at the new arrivals by Cadden and Norma Spelrein of New York, registration chairman. They said, among other things, that the credentials would require "investigation as long as necessary."

Chairman McKay finally announced that the meeting of his group stood adjourned sine die.

"The only conclusion we can come to is that pro-Americans, who announce their purpose of purging the congress of communists, are not wanted here," he said. "We won't pay $5 apiece to become visitors without even the right of speaking on the floor of the convention. We will remain here for a while to await developments."

Sheriff Keeps Watch.

Sheriff Joseph A. Dorr of Walworth county, who has been on hand since the congress began yesterday, had nothing to do because there was not even the semblance of disorder. His presence had been requested by Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin. The congress will continue until Sunday afternoon.

Tunney said recently that the pro-American group had made two unsuccessful attempts to get into the A. Y. C., in New York a year ago and in Washington last February.

"This time will be the last time," Tunney said. "The American people and its press will be the referees in this fight and their decision shall be final."

Tunney is a director of the Boy

BET $906,617 AT ARLINGTON PARK; 11 YEAR RECORD

More than 50,000 persons attended yesterday's horse races at Arlington Park and bet $906,617, the largest amount handled at an Illinois track in 11 years. The all-time betting record was established on July 13, 1929, when $1,300,000 passed thru the mutuel windows at Arlington. The handle on July 4 a year ago was $601,073.

Track officials last night said the wagering would have exceeded a million dollars if the crowd had not been so large. Many occupants of seats preferred not to risk losing them and passed up the betting lines.

SONJA HENIE MARRIED TO TOPPING, WEALTHY SPORTSMAN, IN CITY

Sonja Henie, ice skating champion and movie star, was married late yesterday afternoon to Daniel Reed Topping, millionaire sportsman and owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers football team.

The wedding took place in the apartment of Arthur Wirtz at 942 Lake Shore drive. The Rev. Dr. Joshua Oden of the Irving Park Lutheran church read the ceremony. The bride wore a black sheer street dress and a high draped black turban. Only the relatives of the bride—her mother, Mrs. Selma Henie; her brother, Leif Henie, and his wife, who was Miss Henie's attendant—John [Shipwreck] Kelly, professional football star, who was best man, and a few intimate friends were present.

The bride wept as the ceremony ended and she received Topping's kiss. But then she brushed away her tears and beamed, "I have never been so happy."

Miss Henie is 27 years old. Rumors frequently have linked her name to various movie stars, but the marriage is her first. For Topping, who is 28, it is the third. He was divorced last May by Arline Judge, movie actress. Miss Henie's romance with him came to public notice last March when she went to Honolulu for a vacation and he took the same ship.

ROOSEVELT-HULL TICKET REPORTS CAUSE A FLURRY

Washington, D. C July 4 (AP).—Reports that President Roosevelt had decided to accept a third term nomination and had picked Secretary of State Cordell Hull as his vice presidential running mate excited Capitol Hill and the camps of other presidential aspirants today. The report emanated from usually authoritative sources.

Supporters of Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] made clear, however, that they were disinclined to accept this decision as final. They announced the opening of Chicago convention headquarters, headed by J. Burke Clements of Helena, Mont.

Until this week, Wheeler had said he would not be a candidate if Mr. Roosevelt ran, since he conceded that the President could have the nomination if he wanted it. The Montanan announced last Tuesday, however, that his name would go before the convention in any event.

Bomb British Exhibit at N. Y. Fair; 2 Killed

New York, July 4 [Special].—A flame throwing bomb, concealed in a suitcase, killed two detectives and injured five others today after they had rushed it from its hiding place in the British pavilion at the New York World's Fair.

The dead were Bomb Squad Detectives Joseph J. Lynch, 33 years old, and Ferdinand Socha, 35. Among the injured were Capt. John McLaughlin of the world's fair police and two detectives, both of whom are in a serious condition.

Leaves Large Crater.

The blast tore a hole five feet wide and four feet deep in the ground; smashed two huge windows in the dining salon of the Polish pavilion, about 100 feet away, and ripped the clothing from the bodies of the victims. It shook the lower end of the foreign section and sent excitement thru the Independence day crowd of more than 168,000 visitors.

The bomb, which police said was a time device, spread its destruction only two days after a mysterious voice in a telephone call on Tuesday had ordered the pavilion switchboard operator to "get out of the building. We're going to blow it up."

Employés of the British pavilion became suspicious when they discovered the suitcase, a small striped one such as women carry on short trips, had been lying for many hours in an unfrequented part of the building. They called police, who carried it outside.

Big Sheet of Flame.

The blast was touched off when one of the detectives opened the catch on the bag. There was a roar like a cannon, and a sheet of flame spread fanwise over the ground for 50 feet or more. Some police were burned by the flame; others were struck by flying splinters of metal. Fragments of clothing were blown 75 yards away.

Thousands of fairgoers halted in their tracks as the roar filled the air. Then they raced to the spot.

Additional squads of police were rushed to the scene, and were joined by agents of the federal bureau of investigation, who said they would cooperate in an extensive inquiry.

FRANCE'S 'GIBRALTAR' FINALLY GIVES UP—9 DAYS AFTER ARMISTICE

BERNE, Switzerland, July 4 (AP).—France's "Gibraltar of the Rhone"—last French fort known to be flying the tricolor, held by a garrison of 300—fell yesterday, it was disclosed tonight.

The French flag was hauled down from Fort de l'Ecluse, atop a 1,000 foot cliff over the Rhone river gorges near Bellegarde, nine days after the armistice. The French units in the fort had been cut off from communications with their government for 10 days and fought on, unaware their war with Germany was over.

The day before the cease fire order was given strong German forces were driven off with a loss of several tanks. Since then the Germans had sent neutral emissaries to the fort from Bellegarde almost daily demanding its surrender. The French refused, saying they had received no orders and would hold out indefinitely.

Yesterday the Germans moved 1,000 men, tanks, and field guns into position to attack. The garrison then surrendered without a fight and left the fort carrying the French flag. The soldiers marched into Bellegarde singing. They carried no arms.

2 U. S. CUSTOMS OFFICERS SLAIN NEAR TEXAS LINE

Eagle Pass, Tex., July 4 (AP).—Two American border customs patrolmen were found shot to death tonight in an automobile three miles from the Texas-Mexico border. The names of the slain men were given as C. T. Boulware and Horace Hyaman. Both men had been shot at close range and apparently were killed outright.

Sheriff Herman Lehmann of Maverick county said he had obtained statements from several persons that the two patrolmen engaged in an argument at an inn during the day.

Dog Takes Self to Hospital to Get Away from It All

Columbus, O., July 4 (AP).—Five years ago Skippy, a small house dog, became so disturbed by firecrackers his owners took him to a pet hospital for peace and quiet until the holiday noise was over. The move was repeated the next three years. Today Skippy showed up unescorted at the hospital, a mile from his home, to beg retreat from firecrackers, skyrockets, and the like.

SCUTTLE CRAFT IF NECESSARY, HITLER ORDERS

Berlin Rages Over Oran Attack.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 4.—Adolf Hitler tonight gave Marshal Petain's French government permission to order the scuttling of all French vessels "which find they cannot escape being seized by the English."

Nazi officials and the press voiced Germany's rage at the British fleet's destruction of French naval units in waters off Oran, Algeria, some suggesting that Winston Churchill "ought to be hanged."

Germany obtained some satisfaction from the high command's announcement that a torpedo from a German submarine had hit the British fleet's newest aircraft carrier, the 23,000 ton Illustrious, and that two heavy bomb hits had been registered on a "large vessel" in a British convoy.

The high command communique did not say when or where these attacks took place or tell the extent of the damage done.

Given at French Request.

Hitler's approval of the plan to scuttle ships was reported given at the request of the French armistice representatives at Wiesbaden and transmitted immediately to French ships.

[The Petain government was reported by the official Italian news agency to have ordered that British ships or planes coming within 12 miles of the coasts of France or French possessions be attacked at once. The French admiralty ordered all French warships on the high seas to stop British merchantmen which they meet and to fire in event of any new aggression. Details of the French communique will be found on page 2.]

Asked whether France must now be regarded as at war with Britain, an authorized German spokesman said sarcastically:

"Worst Villany in History."

German commentators denounced the "British attempt to strengthen England's position by seizing French naval units" as "the worst villainy of world history," and an "incredible action."

The officially inspired commentary, Dienst aus Deutschland, which is close to the German foreign office, commented:

"We should not be astonished if the English people reconsidered matters, realized how terrible their downfall is, and summarily hanged Winston Churchill opposite the Nelson statue in Trafalgar square."

A major premise of German indignation was that Germany, by its armistice agreement with France, had pledged that the surrendered units of the French fleet would be interned and not used against the British.

Predict Loss of Sympathy.

DNB, the official Germany news agency, said that the British attack found the French unprepared. The French warships were said to have been without steam and thus had no power to operate their heavy gun turrets.

The Germans are convinced that the British attack on the French vessels will destroy the last vestiges of sympathy for England which might have existed in France.

German officials indicated that it is certain that if there had been the slightest chance of a peace compromise between Germany and the Churchill government in England—which both parties vehemently have denied—it is completely finished now.

As a further effort to undermine the faith of European nations in England as a big power or potential ally, the government today began publishing documents which the Germans say were seized in France and prove the French government failed to get requested help from England.

Report Big New Oil Field Discovered in Hungary

BUDAPEST, July 4 (AP).—The discovery of new rich oil fields in Hungary was reported today from the region of Szentes between the Tisza and Maros rivers. Government circles said the new fields were capable of large production.

WHAT HAPPENED AND WHERE IN BIG FLEET CONQUEST

The British navy's spectacular seizure of most of the French fleet has, according to naval experts, assured Great Britain of an indefinite preponderance of naval power over Germany and Italy.

AT ORAN, ALGERIA:

According to the British the battle lasted only 10 minutes with the following results:

Two battle cruisers of the Strasbourg class, one damaged and forced aground, the other, presumably the Dunkerque, bombed and torpedoed as it escaped toward Toulon, French naval base.

France's only seaplane carrier, the 10,000 ton Commandant Teste, either sunk or set afire.

The firing of the Dunkerque or Strasbourg.

The firing of the French destroyer Mogador.

AT ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT

[British sources]:

French battleships, an unstated number seized.

IN BRITISH WATERS

(British sources):

Two battleships and eight destroyers seized.

Two light cruisers and unannounced number of submarines taken.

Approximately 200 smaller craft—mostly minesweepers and anti-submarine boats—seized.

In addition, several French submarines have joined the English fleet on a voluntary basis, the British announced.

USES 6 NAZIS AS A SHIELD AGAINST GUN; SENTENCED

BERLIN, July 4 (AP).—A French lieutenant, Jules Levresse, was sentenced to 15 years in prison today by a German court martial in Brussels on a charge of using six German prisoners as a shield against a German machine gun. Two prisoners were killed.

GRAB 250 UNITS IN AFRICAN AND HOME WATERS

Premier Gives Vivid Report of Battle.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 5, Friday.—The British navy, turning both with ferocity and reluctance upon its former ally, has seized, sunk, damaged, or dispersed the greater part of the mighty French war fleet.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the dramatic story of the unprecedented attack to a house of commons both exultant with pride and downcast with sorrow last night. Churchill wept with anguish when he told of the heavy loss of life among the French, but he spoke with pride of the achievement of the British navy.

The magnitude of the English move became more apparent than ever when the Daily Herald said this morning that nearly 250 French warships—bound under the German armistice terms to be interned—had fallen into British hands.

Pulls No Punches.

Churchill told the house he spoke with sorrow, but at the samp time he pulled no punches in saying what he thought of the French government of capitulation, headed by Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain. He characterized its treatment of the British government as "callous" and "even malevolent."

[Text of the Churchill address will will be found on page 3.]

Informed sources said that the British action, carried out Wednesday in home ports and off Oran, Algeria, and Alexandria, Egypt, may lead to a complete rupture in diplomatic relations with the French government of Marshal Petain. Even a French declaration of war was regarded possible by some Britons.

The sudden attack on and seizure of the French ships was precipitated, it was believed in some quarters, by an order from France to its warships to proceed immediately to home ports, as required by terms of the German armistice.

Quick Action Necessary.

Thus it was believed that immediate British action was necessary to prevent these ships from reaching French ports and thus falling under control of the Germans.

Seizure of the French fleet was hailed thruout England as the best news received since the war began because it relieved the nation of its greatest fear—that the French fleet might be turned against this country.

Early this morning British sources indicated that the royal navy has taken command of still more units of the French fleet than were seized in the original action Wednesday.

Take Ships Into Scottish Waters.

The well informed British press association said the additional vessels were taken into Scottish waters—to which they presumably came themselves.

British guns were loosed at Oran, Churchill said, only after agonizing hours of suspense and the final rejection by French Admiral Gensoul of these British alternatives:

"[a] Sail with us and continue to fight for victory against the Germans and Italians.

"[b] Sail with reduced crews under our control to a British port. The reduced crews will be repatriated at the earliest possible moment.

British Warning to France.

"If either of these courses is adopted by you we will restore your ships to France at the conclusion of the war or pay full compensation if they are damaged meanwhile.

"[c] Alternately, if you feel bound to stipulate that your ships are not to be used against the Germans or Italians unless they break the armistice conditions, then sail them with us with reduced crews to some French port in the West Indies—Martinique, for instance, where they can be demilitarized, or be perhaps entrusted to the United States and remain safe until the end of the war, the crews being repatriated to France.

"If you refuse these fair offers I [the British commander] must, with profound regret, require you to sink your ships within six hours. Failing the above, I have the orders of the government to use whatever force may be necessary to prevent your ships from falling into German or Italian hands."

Battle Lasts 10 Minutes.

Churchill, speaking with restraint, thrilled the packed galleries with a vivid account of the 10 minute bombardment of the French at Oran. He managed to take another verbal crack at the Italian fleet when he said, "The Italian navy, altho considerably stronger numerically than the fleet we used at Oran, kept prudently out of the way." This remark was greeted with laughter and the prime minister added:

"We trust that their turn is coming during the operations we are pursuing to secure effectual command of the Mediterranean."

Then, the prime minister, in discussing the French ships which escaped the British dragnet, declared it was Britain's "inflexible resolve to do everything to prevent them from falling into German hands."

Scuffle Aboard One Ship.

French fleet units seized within British water proper were taken over by strong boarding parties, the prime minister said. There was bloodshed on only one vessel, the Surcouf, 2,880 tons, the world's largest submarine.

This scuffle, as Churchill described it, resulted from a misunderstanding. A British seaman was killed. Two British officers and a seaman were wounded, and one French officer was killed, and another wounded.

"The French sailors mainly cheerfully accepted the end of the period of uncertainty," Churchill went on.

Some 800 or 900 of the Frenchmen, he said, had expressed an ardent desire to continue the war. Some of them, he continued, had asked for British nationality.

Hopes to Repatriate Crews.

Those of the Frenchmen who do not want to fight will be repatriated to France, "if the French government is able to make arrangements for their reception by permission of the German rulers," he said.

This stroke against the French fleet should set at rest any rumors that Britain might be looking for a peaceful way out of its fight with Germany, Churchill said.

He asserted with great emphasis that the British government was convinced that however painful and unpleasant the action, history and Britain's friends thruout the world, including the United States, would justify the seizure of the French ships, and even the bombardment of them. Churchill acknowledged that the destructive fire power turned on the French at Oran probaly had caused heavy loss of life.

Attacks Petain Government.

"We were compelled to use a very severe measure of force and immense explosions were heard," he said. "None of the British ships taking part in the action was affected in gun power or mobility by the heavy gun power directed at it."

Churchill accused the French government of having struck what might have been a mortal injury to Britain not only by breaking its pledge to send the fleet to Britain before singing an armistice, but also in turning over to Germany 400 skilled German airplane pilots who had been captured by the French. Many of these flyers, he said, had been shot down by British aviators in France. They were released, he charged, in the face of the "sure knowledge that they would be used against this country a second time."

Cites Cabinet's Support.

It was while discussing this action that the prime minister referred to the conduct of the French government as both "callous and even malevolent."

The British naval action, he explained, was approved unanimously by the cabinet, including those members who were noted for "their long friendship with France."

It was a decision which created much anguish both among British and French officers, Churchill said, especially since on the very morning of the coup French ships at Alexandria had fired heavily and effectively at Italian air raiders carrying out an attack on the British base.

Tribute to French Admiral.

Churchill paid tribute to Admiral Gensoul, who spurned the British ultimatum at Oran.

"Every allowance must be made for him and his officers, who felt themselves obliged to obey the orders from their government, behind whom they were unable to see the German dictator," he declared.

At the end of his speech, the prime minister sat down on the front bench between his parliamentary spokesman, Clement R. Attlee, and Former Prime Minister Chamberlain. He slumped back with his chin on his chest. For a moment there was a hush, then wild cheering. Churchill was visibly moved by the demonstration.

GALWAY GAY AS U. S. LINER COMES TO RESCUE 1,800

GALWAY, Ireland, July 4 (AP).—The United States liner Washington—"last ship" on which war stranded Americans may return to the United States—arrived at Galway tonight.

The liner will embark 1,800 Americans from Great Britain and the continent. Originally scheduled to sail Friday, she may not leave until Sunday.

Galway tonight looked like an American town, with the stars and stripes flying from buildings in honor of Independence day. One hundred Americans who failed to make reservations found themselves settling down for the night in chairs in hotel lobbies.

Open Homes to 18,000 Children.

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 4 (AP).—Australian families have offered to accommodate 18,000 children to be taken from the British Isles, and a result the cabinet is expected to increase the limit of 5,000 which Australia had guaranteed to accept.

Belfast to Evacuate Children.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 4 (AP).—Voluntary departure of school children from Belfast to less populated havens in the countryside will start July 7, it was announced today.

JAPAN ASKS FOR ASSURANCE ON U.S. AIMS IN EAST

TOKIO, Japan, July 4 (AP).—A Japanese naval spokesman asserted today that United States abandonment of "unwarrantable interference with and obstruction of" Japan's policies on the far eastern continent is among the "concrete facts and deeds" needed to relieve "grave concern" among the Japanese people over American-Japanese relations.

He suggested these moves to America:

1. Abandonment of assistance to the Chinese government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

2. Lifting of economic pressure against Japan.

Statements in Washington, he said, show "it is not advisable for the United States to attempt to intervene in far eastern issues beyond legitimate bounds."

FIRE DAMAGES GARAGE.

Bloomington, Ill., July 4 [Special].—Fire started by firecrackers today threatened the Wilbur Rusk garage located on the main street of Bloomington before firemen brought it under control. Damage was estimated at $2,500.

FRENCH ORDERED TO STOP BRITISH SHIPS ON SEAS

Communique Assails Former Allies.

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 4 (AP).—French warships have been ordered to stop British merchant ships which they meet at sea, and to fire in event of "any new aggression" on the part of British forces, it was revealed today in a communique of the Petain government concerning the battle at sea between the French and their "allies of yesterday."

The communique, as published in the newspaper Le Petit Dauphinois of Grenoble, France, follows:

"On the morning of July 3 a large British force which included, among others, three powerful battleships, came down from the North sea and appeared off the harbor of Mers El-Kebir, naval base of Oran, where a part of the French fleet was anchored according to terms of the armistice agreement, including the [battleships] Dunkerque and Strasbourg.

"The British admiral demanded that Vice Admiral Gensoul, commander of the French squadron, either to surrender or scuttle his fleet.

Six Hours' Ultimatum.

"The British accorded Vice Admiral Gensoul a delay of six hours to make a decision.

"Without awaiting expiration of the postponement, seaplanes of the British navy came to close the harbor mouth of Mers El-Kebir with magnetic mines.

"The French admiral having refused to accept, the British opened fire at 5:40 p. m. on French ships.

"Before this unqualified aggression the French government gave the order to French units anchored in the harbor of Alexandria beside the British fleet to raise anchor and proceed to sea, if necessary by force.

"Moreover, in the face of this aggression so much more odious since it was committed by our ally of yesterday, the French admiralty immediately ordered all French warships on the high seas to stop British merchantmen which they meet and to fire in event of any new aggression."

Italian Fleet Too Late.

ROME, Italy, July 4.—The official Rome radio tonight revealed that the ships of the Italian war fleet were in the vicinity of the battle between French and British naval units at Oran, but were not able to reach the scene in time.

The broadcaster, speaking in English, assailed the British for a "cowardly and unsportsmanlike act" in fighting the warcraft of their former allies.

"British sailors and officers will forever be ashamed of the action their navy took at Oran," the speaker said, "in destroying ships whose guns were unable to reply because they could not get up steam to fire." It was like hitting a man when he was down, the announcer asserted.

150 DANISH NAZIS ON BIKES SEIZED IN COPENHAGEN

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, July 4 (AP).—Police arrested 150 Danish Nazis attempting to stage a bicyclist "march" into Copenhagen's central square today.

EXPERTS STUDY FRENCH FLEET'S VALUE TO BRITAIN

Difference in Guns Seen as Handicap.

Washington, D. C., July 4 [Special].—Legislative leaders and navy officials in the capital today studied with great interest the possible results of the seizure of the French fleet by Great Britain, and offered their views on the value of the warfleet to the cause of England.

Naval experts stressed that Great Britain's bold move had averted the great peril of having the fleet fall into the hands of Germany, in which case Adolf Hitler's war machine could have faced the English on the seas on almost equal terms.

Discussed by Senators.

The possibility that the Germans should get this sea power had been the subject of a lengthy discussion yesterday between the naval high command and members of the senate naval affairs committee before approval of a bill calling for a 70 per cent increase in the size of the navy's fighting fleet.

The need for a two ocean navy, navy officials were reported to have contended, would have become all the more imperative with the French fleet in the hands of an enemy.

One navy spokesman pointed out that every French ship the British capture not only gives the English that much more, but deprives the Germans of it. He admitted, however, that the British will not be able to make as good use of the French navy as the Germans could have done, because of a difference in standards.

Difficult to Repair.

"In trying to make use of the captured units of the French fleet the British will have to cope with a different operating standard," he said, "and with operating standards in another language."

Dimensions of the French vessels and their armaments are in the metric system like the Germans, he pointed out. Guns will have to be retooled to make them suitable for British made shells. Speedy repairs, too, will be difficult without available machines and tools.

Good for Quick Fight.

For a speedy thrust at the Germans, however, the seized French ships and guns would be highly useful, the navy spokesman said. He expressed the view that the English probably are in possession of sufficient French ammunition for a short term engagement.

If the war lasts long enough, it is conceded, the British can adapt themselves to the awkward difference of standards between French and English units.

BLITZKRIEG COST NAZIS 400,000, BRITISH ASSERT

LONDON, July 4 (AP).—British military informants today estimated that Germany's casualties since May 10—the date of the westward Nazi drive against the Low Countries and France—had been about 400,000, exclusive of prisoners subsequently released.

These informants, recalling Germany had acknowledged 156,492 dead, wounded, or missing between May 10 and June 25, declared:

"The general conclusion is that German official figures are not worth very much."

Reynaud Critically Hurt in Automobile Accident

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France, July 2 (AP) [Delayed.]—Paul Reynaud, former premier of France, suffered serious head injuries Friday, June 28, in an automobile accident in the south of France, according to reports to official French quarters here. The reports said he had not regained consciousness yesterday, July 1.

FRENCH ARMADA AS LARGE AS AT WAR'S OUTBREAK

Losses Supplanted by Newly Built Craft.

LONDON, July 4 (AP).—The French fleet which Great Britain has struck to seize or neutralize is at least as large as it was at the outbreak of the war—the second largest in Europe and fourth largest of the navies of the world.

The main units in the French navy numbered about 180 ships. How many of these were in French mainland ports when the French-German armistice was signed, how many in colonial ports, and how many in British ports were naval secrets.

France's naval losses in the war were negligible until the evacuation operations at Dunkirk following the battle of Flanders. She lost seven destroyers there, but these losses are believed to have been offset by completion of at least an equal number from among 26 destroyers which were under construction at the outbreak of the war.

Five Capital Ships.

At that time the French fleet had the following ships in commission, according to reliable estimates.

Five capital ships, including the Dunkvik and Strasbourg, which, pending completion of new British and French 35,000 ton vessels, are the most modern and fastest capital ships in the world.

Twelve "B" cruisers of from 6,000 to 8,000 tons with six inch guns.

Thirty-two small cruisers of about 3,000 tons with speeds of between 35 and 40 knots.

Thirty-eight destroyers.

Thirty-seven escort vessels and similar small ships.

A number of submarines, including the Surcouf, displacing 2,880 tons afloat, the largest submarine ever built—and 30 ocean going submarines of 1,400 tons.

Large Building Program.

These ships were manned by 4,900 officers, 17,000 warrant and petty officers, and 65,000 able and ordinary seamen.

The day the war began the French had under construction nearly 300,000 tons of warships: Four 35,000 ton capital ships, two aircraft carriers, three light cruisers, 26 destroyers, 24 submarines, 26 escort vessels, 53 submarine chasers, and motor torpedo boats and nine large oilers.

The British Press association, in an article today following announcement of Britain's action against the French fleet, paid high tribute to the work done by it prior to the French capitulation.

"Our empire soldiers," said the article, "have been convoyed across the seas partly by French warships, which have also helped, sometimes alone, in bringing food supplies to Britain.

"Some fine work was achieved by French vessels in the allies' efforts to block German passage of troops to Norway.

GERMANY CALLS OFF REPRISALS AGAINST CAPTURED AVIATORS

BERLIN, July 4 (AP).—Unfavorable "special treatment" of French and Belgian air force prisoners of war has now been discontinued, it was reported today by DNB, official German news agency.

The retaliatory measures, in effect since May 27, were ordered by Marshal Goering, it was stated, after he learned that French and Belgians were treating captured German flyers contrary to international law.

French and Belgian air force prisoners will now receive the same treatment accorded other captured enemy flyers, it was said.

CHURCHILL TELLS HOW FRENCH NAVY FELL TO BRITISH Parliament Cheers Prime Minister's Account.

LONDON, July 4 (AP).—Following is the text of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's war report to the house of commons:

"It is with sincere sorrow that I must now announce to the house the measures which we have felt bound to take in order to prevent the French fleet from falling into German hands.

"Sir: [Addressing the speaker] when two nations are fighting together in long and solemn alliance against a common foe, one of them may be stricken down and overwhelmed and may be forced to ask its ally to release it from its obligation. But the least that could be expected was that the French government, in abandoning the conflict and leaving its whole weight to fall upon Great Britain and the British empire, would have been careful not to inflict needless injury upon their faithful comrade in whose final victory the sole chance of French freedom lay and lies.

Tells of Offer to France.

"As the house will remember, we offered to give full release to the French from their treaty obligations—altho they were designed precisely for the case which arose—on one condition, namely, that the French fleet should be sailed for British harbors before separate armistice negotiations with the enemy were held.

"This was not done, but on the contrary, in spite of every kind of private and personal promise and assurance given by Admiral Darlan [French naval chief] . . . an armistice was signed which was bound to place the French fleet as effectively in the power of Germany and its Italian following as that portion of the French fleet which was placed in our power . . . at Plymouth and Portsmouth about 10 days ago.

"But I must place on record that what might have been a mortal injury was done to us by the Bordeaux government with full knowledge of the consequences and of the dangers and after rejecting all our appeals at the moment when they were abandoning the alliance and breaking the engagement which fortified it. This was another example of the callous and perhaps even malevolent treatment which we received . . . from the Bordeaux government.

400 GERMAN FLYERS FREED

Declares Reynaud Promised to Send Them to Britain

"There were over 400 German air pilots who were prisoners in France, many of them shot down by the R. A. F. [Royal air force].

"I obtained from M. Reynaud [then French premier] a personal promise that these pilots should be sent for safe keeping to England and orders were given by him to that effect. But when M. Reynaud fell these pilots were delivered over to Germany [cries of shame] in order no doubt to win favor for the Bordeaux government with the German masters and to win it without regard to the injury done to us.

"The German air force already feels acutely the shortage of high grade pilots and it seems particularly odious that these 400 skilled men should be handed over with the sure knowledge that they would be used to bomb this country and thus force our airmen to shoot them down a second time.

Such Wrongful Deeds.

"Such wrongful deeds will not, I am sure, be condoned by history and I firmly believe a generation of Frenchmen will arise who will clear the national honor of all countenance of them. I said last week that we must now look with particular attention to our own salvation. I have never in my experience seen so grim or sombre a question as what we were to do about the French fleet discussed in the cabinet.

"And it shows how strong were the reasons for the course we thought it our duty to take that every member of the cabinet had the same conviction about what should be done. . . . Men like the minister of information [Alfred Duff Cooper], and the secretary of state for the colonies [Lord Lloyd] [particularly noted for their long friendship with France], when they were consulted were equally convinced that no other decision was possible. . . . It was a decision to which with aching hearts but with clear vision, we unitedly came.

MOST OF NAVY TAKEN OVER

Battleships and Cruisers Included in Seizure

"Accordingly, early yesterday morning, July 3d, after all preparation had been made, we took the greater part of the French fleet under our control [cheers] or else called upon them with an adequate force to comply with our requirements.

"Two battleships, two light cruisers, some submarines, including a very large one, the Surcouf, eight destroyers and approximately 200 smaller but extremely useful minesweeping and antisubmarine craft, which lay for the most part in Portsmouth and Plymouth, were boarded by superior forces after a brief notice had been given wherever possible to their captains.

Succeed in Taking Fleet.

"This operation was successfully carried without resistance or bloodshed except in one instance.

"A scuffle arose thru a misunderstanding in the submarine Surcouf in which one British seaman was killed and two British officers and one rating [seaman] were wounded, and one French officer was also killed and one wounded.

"For the rest, the French sailors in the main cheerfully accepted the end of a period of uncertainty. A considerable number—800 or 900—expressed an ardent desire to continue the war.

"Some have asked for British nationality. This we are ready to concede without prejudice to other Frenchmen, numbered by the thousands, who prefer to fight with us as Frenchmen.

"All the rest of these crews will be immediately repatriated to French ports if the French government are able to make arrangements for their reception by permission of their German rulers. We are also repatriating all French troops within this country, excepting those who, of their own free will, have volunteered to follow Gen. de Gaulle and to enlist in the French forces of liberation, of whom he is the chief.

Repatriated to France.

"Several French submarines have also joined us independently and we have accepted their services. Now I turn to the Mediterranean at Alexandria where a strong British battle fleet is lying. There are besides French battleships, four French cruisers, three of them modern, 8 inch gun vessels and a number of smaller ships. These have been informed that they cannot be permitted to leave harbor and thus fall within the power of the German conquerors of France.

"Negotiations and discussions have taken place and measures have now been taken to ensure that those ships which are commanded by a very gallant admiral shall be sunk or otherwise made to comply with our wishes. The anguish which this process has naturally caused to the British and French officers concerned may be readily imagined when I inform the house that only this morning during the air raid on Alexandria some of the French ships fired heavily and effectively with us against the common enemy.

"We shall of course offer the fullest facilities to all French officers and men at Alexandria who wish to continue the war and we will provide for them and maintain them, and we have promised to repatriate the rest.

CURIOUS PART OF THE STORY

British Officer Waits on French Admiral at Oran

"But the most curious part of the story remains. Two of the finest vessels of the French fleet—the Dunkerque and the Strasbourg, modern battle cruisers—much superior to the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and built for the purpose of being superior to them, lay with several light cruisers and a number of destroyers, submarines and other vessels at Oran and the adjacent Mers el Kebir on the French frontier of Morocco.

"Yesterday morning a carefully chosen British officer—Capt. Holland, late naval attaché at Paris, was sent on in a destroyer to wait upon the French Admiral Gensoul and after being refused an interview put before him a document. . . .

"Sir, we had hoped that one or other of the alternatives which we presented would have been accepted without the necessity of using the terrible force of a British battle squadron.

"Such a squadron arrived before Oran two hours after Capt. Holland and his destroyer. This battle squadron was under the command of Vice-Admiral Somerville, an officer who distinguished himself lately in bringing off 100,000 Frenchmen during the evacuation of Dunkirk.

"This officer was further provided with strong flotillas of smaller ships. All day the parleys continued and we hoped that, until the afternoon, our terms would be accepted without bloodshed. However, no doubt in obedience to orders dictated by Germany from Wiesbaden, where the Franco-German commission are in session, Admiral Gensoul refused to comply and announced his intention of fighting.

"Admiral Somerville was therefore ordered to complete his mission before darkness fell.

THEN BRITISH GUNS SPEAK

Heavy Action Lasts for Only Ten Minutes

At 5:58 p. m. he opened fire on this powerful French fleet which was protected by its shore batteries. At 6 p. m. he was heavily engaged. The action lasted for some ten minutes.

"It was followed by heavy attacks from our naval aircraft carried on the Ark Royal. At 7:30 Admiral Somerville forwarded a further report stating that a battle cruiser of the Strasbourg class was damaged and ashore, and a battleship of the Bretagne class had been sunk, another of the same class heavily damaged, two French destroyers and a seaplane carrier [Commandant Teste] were also sunk or burned.

"While this melancholy action was being fought the other battle cruiser of the Strasbourg class, the Dunkerque, or another, managed to slip out of harbor in a gallant effort to reach Toulon or North African ports, and place herself under German control, in accordance with the armistice terms of the Bordeaux government. She was pursued by aircraft of the fleet air arm and hit by at least one torpedo. She may have, however, been joined by other French vessels from Algiers during the night, for these vessels were well placed to join her and the whole were able to reach Toulon before we could overtake them.

No British Ships Damaged.

"The Dunkerque will, at any rate, be out of action for many months to come. I need hardly say that the French ships were fought albeit in this unnatural action, with the characteristic courage of the French navy. Every allowance should be made for Admiral Gensoul and his officers who felt themselves obliged to obey the orders which they had received from their government and could not look behind that government to see the German dictator.

"I fear that the loss of life among the French and in the harbor must have been heavy as we were compelled to use a very severe measure of force and immense explosions were heard. None of the British ships taking part in the action was affected in gun power or mobility by the heavy gun power directed on it.

"I have not received reports of our casualties but Admiral Somerville states that the fleet is in all military respects intact and ready for further action.

"The Italian navy, for whose reception we had also made preparations and which is considerably stronger numerically than the fleet we used at Oran, kept prudently out of the way.

Get Big Part of Fleet.

"However we trust their turn will come during the operations we shall pursue to secure effectual command of the Mediterranean.

"A large proportion of the French fleet has therefore passed into our hands or has been put out of action or otherwise withheld from Germany by yesterday's events.

"The house will not expect me to say anything about the other French ships which are at large except that it is our inflexible resolve to do everything possible in order to prevent them from falling into German hands. [Cheers.]

"I leave the judgment of our actions with confidence to parliament. [Cheers.] I leave it to the nation; I leave it to the United States of America; I leave it to history; and I turn now to the immediate future.

"We must, of course, expect to be attacked or even invaded, if that proves to be possible—it has not proved so yet—in our own island home before very long.

PLAN TO REPEL INVASION

Ready Even if Germans Try to Land in Ireland

"We are making every preparation in our power to repel the assaults of the enemy, whether they be directed on Great Britain or Ireland, which all Irishmen, without distinction of creed or party, should realize is in imminent danger.

"These again are matters upon which we have clear views. These preparations are constantly occupying our toil from morn till far into the night, but altho we have a clear view it would not, I think, be profitable for us to discuss this matter in public, or even, so far as the government is concerned, except under very considerable reserve, in a private session.

"I call upon all subjects of his majesty and upon our allies, and our well-wishers—and there are not a few—all over the world, on both sides of the Atlantic, to give us their utmost aid. In the fullest harmony with our dominions we are moving thru a period of extreme danger and of splendid hope when every virtue of our fate will be tested and all that we have and are will be freely staked.

"This is not a time for doubts or weaknesses. This is the supreme hour to which we are called.

Reads Message to Officials.

"I will venture to read to the house a message which I caused to be sent to all who are serving in positions of importance under the crown and if the house should view it with sympathy, I should be very glad to send a copy to every member for his own use—not that such exhortations are needed. This is the message:

[Reading] "'On what may be the eve of an attempted invasion or battle for our native land the prime minister desires to impress upon all persons holding responsible positions in the government, in the fighting services, or in the civil departments, their duty to maintain a spirit of alert and confident energy while every precaution must be taken that time and means afford. There are no grounds for supposing that more German troops can be landed in this country either from the air or across the sea than can be destroyed or captured by the strong forces at present under arms.

FLYERS IN FIGHTING TRIM

Force at Highest Strength It Has Yet Attained.

"'The royal air force is in excellent order and at the highest strength it has yet attained. The German navy was never so weak nor the British army at home so strong as now. The prime minister expects all his majesty's servants in high places to set an example of steadiness and resolution. They should check and rebuke expressions of loose and ill-digested opinion in their circles or by their subordinates.

"'They should not hesitate to report or, if necessary, remove any officers or officials who are found to be consciously exercising a disturbing or depressing influence and whose talk is calculated to spread alarm and despondency. Thus alone will they be worthy of the fighting men who in the air, on the sea, and on land, have already met the enemy without any sense of being outmatched in martial qualities.'

"In conclusion, I feel that we are entitled to the confidence of the house and that they should sincerely and readily believe that we have not failed in our duty, however painful it may have been. The action we have already taken should, in itself, be sufficient to dispose once and for all the lies and rumors which have been so industriously spread in the United States and elsewhere by German propaganda and which you meet with here, fostered here at home by fifth column activities.

Decries Peace Talk.

"These lies and rumors have suggested that we have had some intention of entering into negotiations with the German and Italian governments. Any idea of that should be completely swept out of the way by the very drastic and grievous action we have felt ourselves compelled to take. No, there is no thought of negotiation.

"There is no thought here, I say, in this country, whose love of peace has been proved so long. There is no thought here of peace. We shall, on the contrary, prosecute the war with the utmost vigor, by all the means that are open to us until the righteous purposes for which we entered upon it have been in all respects fulfilled."

BRITAIN ASKS BILLION MORE TO PAY FOR WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—With war costs increasing by leaps and bounds, the British government tonight submitted a new billion pounds [$3,820,000,000] credit appropriation to parliament, bringing the total set aside for war expenditure this year up to three billion pounds.

The amount now earmarked for war purposes may be six hundred or seven hundred million pounds short of actual needs, financial observers estimate.

A treasury statement on national expenditures in the first quarter of the fiscal year shows that out of a total of 694,834,000 pounds spent, 613,145,000 pounds were absorbed by the supply services, which cover all departments of the fighting services and home defense system.

BRITISH SEIZURES MAY TAKE WAR TO AMERICAN SEAS

See Possibility of Attack on French in W. Indies.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 4 (AP).—Britain's use of force to seize French warships raises afresh the possibility that the war may be carried again into American waters.

The French navy, which thruout most of the war handled a section of the South Atlantic patrol from the "bulge" of Brazil northward, has a West Indies base at Martinique.

The number of French vessels there now is unknown, but some informed sources say the cruisers which had maintained patrol and convoy duties off Brazil likely have sailed for Africa, perhaps leaving only small escort vessels based in the West Indies.

Doubt British Would Offend America.

If that is true, it appears the British would be unlikely to risk offending American nations by attacking Martinique, it was said.

On the other hand, say these same sources, if French cruisers, submarines, and other important units still are in Martinique it is reasonable to suppose the British may attempt to take them over despite the neutrality zone.

It has been learned that, with the collapse of the French, Dutch units, especially a strong submarine flotilla headquartered in the West Indies base of Aruba, have effectively assumed patrol duties in coöperation with the British.

Trace Sub Scares to Dutch.

A neutral expert said it was the heightened operations of Dutch submarines in Caribbean waters which were responsible for many reported sightings of "foreign" submarines off the Panama canal.

This expert said the Dutch submarines and other units in the West Indies are ample to take over all duties formerly performed by the French.

Brazil Warns Shipping.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 4 (AP).—President Getulio Vargas today decreed that merchant ships of belligerent nations will be prevented from departing except by special authorization if they take refuge from attack in Brazilian ports or remain unusually long.

The regulations were similar to recommendations of the Pan-American neutrality.

CHURCHILL MENTIONS ARK ROYAL'S DECISIVE PART IN NAVAL FIGHT

LONDON, July 4 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in a gesture that sounded very much like derision, mentioned by name today in his report on the British fleet's defeat of French warships only one of the attacking craft, the aircraft carrier Ark Royal.

After telling of the action from British guns, he went on:

"It was followed by heavy attacks from our naval aircraft carried on the Ark Royal."

The Germans repeatedly claimed to have sunk or badly damaged the Ark Royal and some months ago German radio announcers were saying:

"Ask Churchill what became of the Ark Royal."

CAIRO, Egypt, July 4 (AP).—A naval communique said one of 32 bombs dropped on Alexandria today fell on the estate of King Farouk of Egypt.

No mention was made in the communique of any damage on the estate.

The communique said:

"Enemy [Italian] aircraft carried out air raids on Alexandria at 7:45 a. m. and at 8:45 a. m. today. About 32 bombs were dropped, only slight damage being caused. One bomb fell on the king's estate.

"Casualties caused by splinters were three killed and four slightly wounded.

"A second air raid warning sounded at 10:30 a. m. The all clear was sounded 10 minutes later."

"In the western desert the enemy advanced yesterday against Sallum, but subsequently withdrew. On the Kenya front Tuesday the enemy, supported by artillery, made three unsuccessful assaults on Moyale, where our casualties were slight. Other fronts: Nothing to report."

GERMAN RAIDERS BLAST BRITAIN'S NEW NAVAL BASE

Strike England in Waves by Day and Night.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 5, Friday (AP).—A German bomber was shot down by a British fighter after daylight today, falling in flames into the sea off the southeast coast. The crew of four was captured.

LONDON, July 5, Friday (AP).—German bombers attacked Great Britain's big new naval base of Portland in a daylight raid yesterday, destroying a naval auxiliary vessel, a tug, and a lighter, then swept back overnight to renew the pounding of England from the air.

A few persons were reported injured at the naval base and about 20 casualties, none serious, were caused by bomb-shattered glass in northeast England.

Britain's defense planes swarmed up to drive off waves of at least 20 bombers which smashed at shipping and buildings at the naval base. One German plane was reported shot down there and another damaged.

Invading Planes Shot Down.

The overnight raids started as soon as it was dark. Antiaircraft guns blazed at the raiders over the northeast coast. Heavy explosive bombs were dropped. The government announced in a communique that "reports so far indicate that damage was very slight."

The air ministry reported British fighter planes shot down a heavy German bomber and a fast fighting plane and seriously damaged another fighter over the south coast.

British fighters chased the bomber in a hide-and-seek pursuit thru the clouds until machine gun bursts sent it crashing in flames into the treetops. Two of the bomber crew were killed.

Hurricane planes patrolling the southeats coast attacked six Messerschmitt 109 fighters. Then nine more Messerschmitt 109s, hovering above, joined the battle. In a dogfight a Hurricane pilot shot one German fighter into the sea and severely damaged a second Messerschmitt.

Incendiary Bombs Dropped.

Incendiary bombs were dropped on a building in a southeast coast town, but air raid precaution workers prevented fires from spreading.

The score or more of bombers which assailed Portland harbor in waves of three were retaliating perhaps for raids by the British yesterday and last night on German communications, oil plants, transport, depots, and airports in Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, and northwest France.

Destroy 40 German Planes.

Hundreds of residents of Portland ignored alarms to watch the German assault on the island naval base which Britain built to guard against an enemy thrust into the English channel from the west.

The air ministry, announcing widespread raids on Germany and the German occupied Low Countries and France, said the royal air force had destroyed 40 German planes from June 23 to July 4, inclusive, as against 30 British planes "lost by enemy action."

This declaration came in reply to a German communique saying the score was 75 to 12 in favor of Germany.

Royal air force operations yesterday included attacks on airdromes at Evere in Belgium, Ypenburg and Dekooy in the Netherlands, Aachen in Germany and Merville in northwest France, all possible bases for aerial invasion of England.

Troop-carrying planes and other aircraft on the ground were set afire at Evere and Ypenburg, the air ministry communique said. One plane is missing from the night operations.

Rail Junctions Attacked.

A later communique said squadrons of British planes bombed railway junctions and siding at Neumuenster, south of Kiel, Osnabrueck, Luenen, and Hamburg early this morning.

A direct hit was scored on a group of hangars at the Brussels airdrome which immediately burst into flames, the communique said. Five Junkers bombers and other aircraft were believed hit. British planes also bombed The Hague airport and left three German planes burning, the ministry said.

The air ministry called for civilian pilots to take commissions in the R. A. F. and announced it had reduced the number of hours of required solo flying from 200 to 150.

Hospital Attacked, Say Nazis.

BERLIN, July 4 (AP).—British bombers were declared tonight by DNB, official German news agency, to have attacked a hospital in northwest Germany yesterday, injuring three patients.

The Germans also reported the bombing yesterday of British channel and North sea quays, coastal fortifications, barracks, and arms and plane factories. The targets included an army camp at Aldershot, a plane plant at Reading, and heavy coastal batteries near Newhaven.

15 Killed in Germany.

It also was reported that the British made raids yesterday and last night on several points in northern and western Germany, Holland, and Belgium. Six British planes were destroyed, as against four missing for the Germans, Berlin claimed. Fifteen civilians were reported killed and 20 injured in an attack at Hamburg-Barmbeck, while there was no "noteworthy" damage in the Low Country raids.

BRITAIN ACCEPTS U.S. TYPE OF ARMS TO SPEED UP WAR

Standards Conform to Supplies on Hand.

LONDON, July 4 (AP).—Great Britain acted today to standardize British and United States arms and military equipment and, at the same time, increased orders in its dominions and the United States for munitions ranging from tanks and bombers to ammunition clips.

The ministry of supply said the standardization was ordered to insure that surpluses of American arsenals and arms factories may be quickly thrown into the war against Germany.

The ministry pointed out that if the military forces of Britain and the United States used a common type of arms and equipment, it would insure to both the rapid delivery of essential war supplies without the complexities of requisitioning from countless diverse specifications and avert the danger of delays due to unmatching shipments.

Canada is cast in a major rôle in the program.

Three reasons for the expansion were cited:

1. Munitions are urgently needed to replace those lost in France and Flanders when the British expeditionary force withdrew, and also to equip the new army defending the British Isles against the Germans.

2. With Nazi air raids already peppering Britain, the government has decided that munitions should be produced in countries beyond range of the German air force.

3. The old leisurely policy which was in operation for the first nine months of hostilities, based on a theory that this was to be a three year war, has now been replaced by a policy of urgency.

Goering Invites Paris Opera Ballet to Berlin

PARIS, July 2 [Delayed via Berlin] (AP).—Serge Lifar, director of the Paris opera ballet, said Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering visited him yesterday and invited him to stage a production in Berlin. The marshal appeared at Lifar's office, where he is preparing to revive the ballet. Lifar said he told Goering he could make no plans for trips until the company has been reorganized.

TELLS HOW LINER SANK WITH DECKS A 'SEA OF FACES'

Liferafts and Men Pulled Down by Suction.

Nazis Investigate

BERLIN, July 4.—German authorities today were investigating the case of the Arandora Star, sunk by a German submarine. At the time of the sinking, it was stated, it was not known that the vessel was transporting German and Italian war prisoners. It is questionable, some circles said, whether it is permissible under international law to transport war prisoners on armed merchant vessels, which are legal prey. It remains for legal experts to decide, it was stated, whether a ship transporting war prisoners should not bear some marking—such as the Red Cross—making it immune to attack.

LONDON, July 4.—The first survivor of the torpedoed British prison ship Arandora Star to reach London today said the decks of the liner "were a sea of faces as she went down. A cloud of steam rose 100 feet into the air, and the suction dragged lifeboats and men down with her."

The survivor was Martin Verinder, 18 year old steward, who was among the 1,000 odd landed yesterday at a port in western Scotland.

Their arrival left unaccounted for some 1,000 more of the 2,000 who were aboard—1,500 Germans and Italians being taken to Canada for internment and 500 members of the crew and British soldier guards.

A torpedo launched by a German submarine ripped open the 15,501 ton liner off the west coast of Ireland Tuesday morning and sen the prisoners into a panic.

800 Germans and Italians.

At least 800 Germans and Italians who fought to reach the lifeboats were believed to have lost their lives in the greatest passenger ship disaster since the Lusitania sank on May 7, 1915, with the loss of 1,198 lives.

Two American seamen were disclosed to have been among the survivors.

Verinder, the young steward, said the last he saw of Capt. E. W. Moulton "was when he coolly asked a man to fetch him a glass of water.

"The bridge was protected by barbed wire, and I knew as I saw him standing there that the captain would never get away."

Verinder said the prisoners "were frightful. If they had not panicked so completely, many more men, particularly Englishmen, would have escaped."

Every Man for Himself.

"As they rushed to the lifeboats with the idea of every man for himself," he related, "the soldiers and crew had to threaten them. I even saw one German sailor, who seemed to have a lot more sense than the rest, take a rifle and club his compatriots.

"In the lifeboat the internees were selfish too. When a plane dropped bread and beef, they grabbed it and a few started to wolf it as fast as they could. The soldiers had to seize it from them before it could be shared evenly among us.

"Some of the Italians tried to take large suitcases with them into the lifeboats," the steward said. "They simply did not seem to understand there was room only for the men.

"I saw the ship's doctor, apparently wounded in the leg, stand up and salute the ship and the captain as the vessel turned half over and sank within about two minutes."

Trouble with Austrians.

The steward said the Germans and Austrians among the prisoners began fighting on the first day out, when the Austrians objected to the Germans raising a Nazi flag in the deck space allotted the internees. They had to be separated by guards, he said.

James Frost, another crew member, said 100 survivors in one lifeboat sang "It's a Lovely Day Tomorrow" as they pulled toward a message dropped from a circling plane.

Frost said he "felt sorry for the Italians, whose average age was about 60. They didn't know what to do and many of them hung on to the ship for dear life. Some of them were quite British, having lived in England all their lives."

"There were 36 lifeboats for nearly 2,000 people," he said. "One boat carried away in the explosion, and another, weighed down with hundreds of people trying to get away in it, smashed to pices with the davits rolling down on top of them."

STOPLIGHT BANDIT SEIZES TRUCK.

Police yesterday were seeking a small delivery truck containing $50 worth of drugs and a built-in safe which held $154. A stoplight bandit took the truck at Pershing road and Indiana avenue from William Botarf, who was making a delivery for a drug company.

PREMIER PETAIN SEES BULLITT IN SECRET PARLEY

U. S. Envoy Journeys from Paris for Conference.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CLERMONT-FERRAND, France, July 2 [Delayed].—The various departments of the government of Marshal Henri Petain today began to concentrate in Vichy, moving there from Clermont-Ferrand and other nearby towns where they operated for a few days.

The senate and chamber of deputies already are installed in Vichy, a town which, before the war, had about 18,000 inhabitants. It is in south central France, about 32 miles northeast of Clermont-Ferrand.

Premier Petain, erect and sturdy, spent the day at his desk in Vichy. Former allied commander-in-chief, Gen. Maxime Weygand, also went thru a busy day at his quarters there. They keep themselves from the crowds and are not seen often.

Meanwhile, over hot, dusty roads and the mangled bridges which lie between Paris and this area, came American Ambassador William C. Bullitt. He made his presence known after a mysterious conference with Premier Petain this afternoon. There was no announcement as to what the conference was about.

Communication between France and the outside world is very bad. This correspondent has been able to send out cable dispatches only by devious means and with difficulty.

The French government still is coping with the problem of what to do with 3,000,000 demobilized soldiers and the 10,000,000 refugees.

Residents fight for places in the restaurants and for hotel rooms, or

America Moving Ever Closer to a Crisis in the Far East

Washington, D. C., July 4 (AP).—Japan's three year old war on China, now developed into a claim for domination of all east Asia, brought the United States closer tonight to a momentous decision on whether to try to maintain its traditional policy in the far east or make up its (rel with Tokio.

Disturbed by German successes in Europe and potential threats to the New World, administration leade.s watched with growing concern Japan's moves to squeeze foreign interests out of the Orient.

They remained silent on a Japanese naval spokesman's assertion today that abandonment by the United States of "unwarrantable interference with and obstruction of" Japan's policies on the far eastern continent was needed to relieve concern there over American-Japanese relations.

U. S. Attitude Unchanged.

Despite fears about the safety of the western hemisphere, United States policy toward the far east remained unaltered by any official declarations or even indications.

That policy, as enunciated in a note to Japan two and a half years ago under world conditions much less critical than today, was:

A refusal to recognize Japan's right "to prescribe what shall be the terms and conditions of a 'new order' in areas not under its sovereignty and to constitute itself the repository of authority and the agent of destiny in regard thereto."

But how long it can be maintained under new conditions depended on many factors, chief of which was the ability of Britain to repel invasion and keep its powerful fleet. With that fleet in German-Italian hands, withdrawal of the United States fleet from the Pacific might become necessary, giving Japan a free hand to force control over east Asia.

A Progressive Waiting Game.

Thus Japan appeared to be waiting, like the United States, on European developments before going "all out" on enforcement of the new "Asiatic Monroe doctrine," but meanwhile moving step by step toward the day when perhaps it could be done without serious risks.

British and French reverses in Europe nevertheless gave Japan the opportunity to speed up the war on China, which began three years ago next Sunday.

These moves now center on cutting off vital supply lines to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. France's capitulation enabled Japan to strike at one of these principal supply routes—that thru French Indo-China. Next came pressure on Britain to close the road from Burma. Britain was reported resisting this.

DELAY EXECUTION OF I. R. A. LEADER REPORTED DEAD

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 4 (AP).—It was announced officially tonight that the execution of Tomas McCurtain, 22 year old son of a former lord mayor of Cork, has been postponed until July 13. McCurtain, originally scheduled to be hanged tomorrow for the murder of a detective, was denied a conditional writ of habeas corpus by the Dublin high court today. Another appeal was taken on McCurtain's behalf to the Supreme court, sitting tomorrow.

Dispatches which reported that McCurtain was hanged yesterday were erroneous. He was sentenced for slaying Detective John Roche at Cork, Jan. 4. He pleaded self defense.

A petition circulated by the outlawed Irish Republican army in Belfast, of which McCurtain was Cork commandant, said: "If De Valera [Prime Minister Eamon De Valera of Ireland] carries this treachery so far as to authorize the murder of this Republican soldier [McCurtain], he will have cause to regret it in a very short time."

GAS VICTIM IN HOSPITAL.

Mrs. Nick Molitros, 34 years old, was taken to Roseland Community hospital in serious condition yesterday after she inhaled gas in her home at 301 West 109th street. She told police she had been despondent over separation from her husband.

RUMANIA NAMES PRO-NAZI REGIME TO COURT BERLIN

New Demands Reported Made by Moscow.

BUCHAREST, July 4 (AP).—Amid unconfirmed reports of new Russian demands—this time for control of strategic frontier bridges along the Prut and Danube rivers forming the new soviet-Rumanian border—Rumania today installed a new nationalistic, pro-Nazi, anti-Semitic government which was regarded as King Carol's supreme bid for German support.

Premier Ion Gigurtu.

Carol included the German minister Fabricius in his conferences with political leaders and then announced a new cabinet headed by Ion Gigurtu, who is a personal friend and a frequent guest of Field Marshal Goering of Germany.

Iron Guardists Included.

There were many signs of Carol's eagerness for German support. The chief among them were these:

1. The new cabinet includes 10 former members of the pro-Nazi Iron Guard and 5 members—including Gigurtu—of the former anti-Semitic government of ex-Premier Goga.

2. Hans Otto Roth, leader of the Transylvanian Germans, was named minister of minorities in the new cabinet. He is known as anti-Hungarian, and foreign diplomats here surmise he was picked to strengthen Carol's bid for German support against Hungarian claims on Transylvania.

3. British oil men, deemed likely to destroy British owned Rumanian wells rather than see the oil go to Germany, were ordered to leave the country within 24 hours. The British legation intervened, getting a suspension of the order to permit those involved to arrange their affairs.

Change Made Abruptly.

The change of government was abrupt. Premier George Tatarescu's pro-ally cabinet resigned this morning, and by midafternoon the new cabinet had been sworn in.

The new cabinet announced after its first meeting that "the foreign policy of this government is an honest adaptation to the system created by the Rome-Berlin axis."

"We do this not only as an expression of realistic policy, but also as the logical consequence of the political and biological principles of members of this cabinet, who are true representatives of the people's feelings," the statement said.

Puts Generals in Cabinet.

In authorizing the sweeping political change—as a result of which his own position may suffer—King Carol appeared to have hesitated at nothing which might help him preserve the present boundaries of Rumania.

Carol, however, seemed to be taking some precautions against letting power slip too far away from his grasp. Foreign diplomats noted that among the new cabinet members were four generals and one admiral, all reputed to be close friends of the king, and the new vice premier, Gen. Ion Mihail, was chief of the monarch's military household.

All levers influencing public opinion now are in the hands of Iron Guardists, with the Iron Guard's chief, Horia Sima, functioning as minister of culture and art.

Hungary Is Displeased.

BUDAPEST, July 5, Friday (AP).—Informed quarters said today the Hungarian government is displeased with the appointment of Hans Otto Roth, a German, as minister of minorities in the new Rumanian cabinet of Premier Ion Gigurtu. Roth's appointment was regarded as an effort to win German support against the Hungarian demand for Transylvania.

Bulgaria Gets Assurances.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 4 (AP).—Official circles reported today that Bulgaria has received assurances from Germany and Italy that her claims for annexing Dobruja from Rumania would be supported in a future peace settlement. Bulgaria, it was said, asked Moscow, Berlin, and Rome to state their attitude on the Dobruja question. A reply from Russia still is awaited.

King Carol was described in diplomatic dispatches from Bucharest tonight as nervously confiding to his intimates his uncertainty over abdicating in favor of his son, 18-year-old Prince Michael.

United Defense for Americas Urged by Daniels in Speech

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, July 4 (AP).—United States Ambassador Josephus Daniels declared today that all the Americas should stand solidly with the United States in defense of the Monroe Doctrine against any aggression from abroad.

Josephus Daniels.

Speaking at a July 4 embassy reception, he urged Mexico and the other American republics to pledge themselves to preservation of democracy.

"Independence day," he said, "has a greater significance this year than ever before, for today war and tyranny have overwhelmed many foreign nations. Disloyal elements without our borders undermine national unity; antidemocratic forces seek to abrogate civil, political, and economic liberties; dictatorships abroad and traitors at home assail the very ideals of freedom and equality on which this nation was founded.

Bright Spots for Democracy.

"The shadow of war falls with apprehension as we celebrate on this national holiday. There are, however, some bright spots on the dark horizon for those of us who cherish the brand of democracy set fourth in the declaration."

The ambassador listed as encouraging signs the awakening of the people to the needs for preparedness and the determination to unite the forces of the western hemisphere.

President Cardenas sent the ambassador a brief message felicitating the United States on the anniversary.

Toasts Given in Paris.

PARIS, July 4 (AP)—[Via Berlin]—Two hundred Americans in Paris observed Independence day with a luncheon party at the Hotel Bristol. Those who toasted their independence with champagne cocktails included members of the U. S. embassy and American hospital staffs, war service volunteers, and newspaper correspondents.

300 Celebrate in Rome.

ROME, Italy, July 4.—More than 300 Americans today celebrated July Fourth at a party given by the United States ambassador, William Phillips, in the gardens of the Villa Taverna, the embassy residence. Most Americans in Rome attended. There was no dancing. There were no fireworks.

Japan Sends Greetings.

Brazilians Hear Caffery.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 4.—Ambassador Jefferson Caffery, addressing a vast throng of Americans and Brazilians at the Gavea Golf Country club today, said "on July 4, 1940, liberty is fighting for its life in the new world, its citadel. We will not fail our trust."

Tribute Paid to Rowan.

HAVANA, Cuba, July 4.—Independence day was celebrated here by both Americans and Cubans. A plaque honoring Col. Andrew Summers Rowan, bearer of the "message to Garcia," was revealed at Cerca del Lemuvre.

Parade in Puerto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, July 4.—An estimated 100,000 joined in today's Independence day celebration. A military parade passed the capitol in a two hour review.

CITIZENS SWAMP MEXICO CITY WITH VOTE PROTESTS

Investigation Ordered as Election Nears.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, July 4.—The ministry of the interior, which has charge of Sunday's presidential election, today began to receive thousands of protests from citizens all over Mexico. They reported either that voting credentials had been denied them, or that local election officials had issued faulty credentials that may prevent them from voting.

Minister of the Interior Igancio Garcia Tellez said reports had been so widespread that he had directed that an immediate investigation be made to determine their basis. A normal number of mistakes was to be expected, he said, but he added that there might be some truth to charges made by followers of Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, Conservative candidate, that discriminations have been made against them.

Opponents Protest Also.

Tellez declared, however, that the protests came not only from Almazanistas. They also were received from voters who favor Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, the candidate of the communistic PRM [Mexican Revolutionary party]. This party controls the present administration and is the country's reigning political power. Besides Almazan and Camacho, other candidates in the race are Gen. Rafael Sanchez Tapia, and a last minute entrant, Ramon de la Paz, Lower California druggist.

In Mexico City this afternoon a committee of workers for Almazan published the charge that 99 per cent of their supporters in the federal district around Mexico City [similar to the District of Columbia] were not receiving voting credentials.

At the same time, the committee declared that Camacho supporters and PRM members were receiving their credentials in proper order. Employés of the national health department added to the uproar by addressing a protest direct to President Lazaro Cardenas, who says he is strictly neutral in the campaign.

Object to Polling Places.

The employés charged that the head of their department, a member of the PRM, is trying to force them to vote for Camacho on pain of dismissal from their jobs. Independent citizens' group protested that many polling places in Mexico City had been placed in the headquarters of various branches of the radical CTM [Mexican Workers confederation] unions.

With grim humor some newspapers printed flippant accounts of some of the election difficulties. The Sombre Libre [Free Men] published this story:

"Three brothers, Antonio, Agustine, and Enrico Caso, applied for credentials as voters. The credentials came in the names of Antonio Campos, Antonio Jaso, and Antonio Cano. Reader, you must decide whether this reveals administrative ineptitude, imposition, malice, or cleverness."

The Excelsior put on page 1 the report of an encounter among two pairs of Camacho supporters, each of which had mistaken the other for Almazanistas. Two Camacho adherents had pasted up posters which referred to Almazan as "Fuehrer Juan Andreu Almazan." When two other Camacho supporters passed and saw Almazan's name they immediately started a fist fight.

Four Seized by Police.

Police took the four men, covered with bruises and paste, to a police station. When it was discovered that all were on the same side they were released.

Not all the stories are amusing, however. Several papers have charged that CTM and PRM officials purchased large quantities of bricks, ordered 6,000 rubber incased steel clubs, and 10,000 wooden clubs for distribution on election day.

Preparations for keeping order, including mobilization of the armed forces, were started on Wednesday and continued today. The war department ordered that 3,000 students in military schools be placed under orders of zone commanders for emergency duty on Sunday. Five thousand troops are concentrated in Mexico City proper. Engineers are setting up a portable radio network.

FORECASTS 21 POWER MONROE DOCTRINE TO PROTECT AMERICAS

HAVANA, Cuba, July 4 (AP).—Secretary of State Miguel Angel Campa expressed belief today that the Havana conference, starting July 20, will take steps to create a 21 power mandate to protect all European possessions in the western hemisphere by broadening the Monroe Doctrine into a unified doctrine of all the nations of America.

Campa will be president of the conference. He predicted adoption of a military pact under which all the nations of America will work against invasion.

He explained, however, that since the Havana conference is purely a diplomatic meeting it could only draw up the pact and refer it to the various governments. If approved, a military commission would be created to formulate a continental defense plan.

Argentina, Chile, Brazil, and Uruguay will lend the fullest coöperation, Campa said.

The Pan-American union will meet in Washington, D. C., tomorrow to study the conference agenda.

IGNORING EUROPEAN EVENTS IS SUICIDAL, SAYRE WARNS U. S.

New York, July 4.—[Special.]—While emphasizing that the United States is the most powerful nation in the world, Francis B. Sayre, United States high commissioner in the Philippine islands, warned tonight that western civilization is seriously endangered by the "primitive and utterly barbaric philosophy of force" dominating Europe, and for the United States "to ignore the happenings in Europe is suicide."

Commissioner Sayre voiced the warning in an Independence day broadcast from Manila. He said:

"Humanity can not go forward, civilization can not advance except as the philosophy of force is replaced by that of human brotherhood, for these two never can be reconciled. The world is not large enough for both."

Sayre said the United States was profoundly concerned with European developments because it was a test between the philosophy of force and a philosophy presuming that the world should be safe for peace loving peoples.

The United States must send money and supplies to England, he urged, "helping to the utmost, short of sending troops and entering the war." He described the United States as holding the fate of western civilization.

JAPANESE SEEK A PACT TO END CHINA CONFLICT

SHANGHAI, China, July 4 (AP).—Negotiations to "readjust relations between Japan and China" will start tomorrow between the Japanese-sponsored Nanking régime and Japan's special envoy, former Premier Gen. Nobuyuki Abe.

This announcement today was widely interpreted as meaning that Japan is attempting to negotiate a peace treaty, with the Japanese supported Nanking puppet régime playing the rôle of "national government of China."

Such a pact, it was said, would enable the invaders to declare that the Sino-Japanese "incident" is closed.

FRENCH LET JAPS CUT CHIANG LINK WITH INDO-CHINA

HONGKONG, July 4 (AP).—Japanese officers established control stations today at five key points along highways and railroads connecting French Indo-China and China proper.

The action closed Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's only year round supply route and signalized Japan's first bloodless success in extending her influence to Asian spheres hitherto dominated by Europeans.

Gen. Issaku Nishira, chief of the inspectorate setup, expressed gratification over the coöperative and conciliatory attitude of the French.

Steel Worker Drowns; Girl Companion Rescued

Sylvester Sakowicz, 26 years old, 4124 Grand boulevard, East Chicago, was drowned yesterday in Paw Paw lake, near Watervliet, Mich. Sakowicz, an employé of the Inland Steel company, was boating with Miss Jean Strijewski, 5101 West 32d street, Cicero. The craft overturned as they attempted to change seats. Miss Strijewski clung to the gunwhale and was rescued by James Anglos and Louis Jacobson of Chicago, who were fishing nearby.

OWN TOOLS BACK FIREMEN'S FAITH AT THRILL SHOW

They Rely on Department Shops for Safety.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

Mighty aerial trucks will hurl their ladders seven stories into the air at the third annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show in Soldiers' field July 14. And firemen will scale their dizzy heights, confident that those ladders will not fail them.

Water towers built to protect Chicago's skyscrapers will throw their streams of water upon a blazing building at the precise level and at the exact instant that the firemen choose.

Trust Men in Shops.

Chicago's firemen have utter confidence in the mechanical equipment upon which their lives so many times depend. They have that confidence because of the eternal vigilance of the men who serve them in the fire department shops, the least known division of the fire department.

The directing genius of those shops, situated at 3100 South Sacramento avenue, is James M. Gleason, automotive engineer in charge of the department's maintenance and equipment. He designs and builds most of the equipment used by the department, in coöperation with Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan and Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy chief fire marshal.

The department buys the actual motor trucks it uses and the tires upon which they run. But the Corrigan-Mullaney-Gleason triumvirate designs the trucks, which are built to their specifications. Little else that the fire department needs, except hose, is bought. Gleason and his men make almost everything else.

Make Their Own Sirens.

Fire bells? They make them. Sirens? They make them. Nozzles? Gleason and his men make them of every size and model. They're particularly proud of their own invention, a nozzle which turns water into an extremely dense fog. Flames turn that fog into steam, and the steam smothers the flames.

City officials call Gleason the junk man. He takes the old copper down spouts when the city hall gets new ones. He begs the metal filings and scrapings he finds in the construction department and asks for discarded water meters.

Then he melts the old metal and sets to work in his foundry. Suction baskets for straining water pumped from the river, connections for turret nozzles, everything that can be made from metal, are the results.

Carpenters Build Ladders.

Gleason says it's extravagance to buy ladders with new trucks. His carpenters make the ladders. When long ladders are broken, they make them into short ones.

Wrecked trucks are no problem to Gleason. His mechanics and machinists make new trucks of them. Some of the motor trucks now in use were originally horse drawn vehicles bought in 1904. Gleason, who never believes in wasting anything, did a little remodeling and dropped a motor in.

The blacksmiths and the men at the lathes can make anything the department may require. The shops make their own springs. Even the tables from which the firemen eat at their stations are made in the shops. The splints the ambulances carry and the life nets are, too.

Special Belts for Special Jobs.

Firemen at the thrill show will climb the front of a six story building with pompier ladders, which look something like a fish's backbone and hook over window casings. For this they need strong belts to which the ladders can be securely hooked.

Those belts, too, are made in the shops. The leather worker who makes them produces many strange things for the firemen. One is a belt to which weights are attached so that the man who is wearing it can go deep into the water to rescue victims from a submerged car.

The show is sponsored by the Chicago police and fire departments and the Chicago Park district, in coöperation with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

BARRETT SOUNDS WARNING AGAINST INTERVENTIONISM

Poplar Grove, Ill., July 4 [Special].—"The brilliance of the American flag must not be dimmed by the banner of internationalism!" said George F. Barrett here today in his first address as Republican candidate for attorney general.

In reminding an Independence day audience of America's struggle to be freed from old world tyranny, Barrett said:

"We must not forget the struggle our fathers made to free themselves and their children from European domination. Nor must we forget that any one who now claims we should return to the old world for our first line of defense is thereby scrapping the very document we cherish so highly.

"The Declaration of Independence clearly limits our first line of defense not to the Rhine but to our own shores in the western hemisphere."

BANG IN BRITISH JULY 4 SUPPLIED BY AIR RAIDERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 4.—The British government today clamped a ban on firecrackers because they may be used to give signals to the enemy. Thus Americans observing Independence day in England had only such fireworks as German bombers supplied.

Private persons henceforth are forbidden to own rockets, shells, Roman candles and colored fires and must surrender them to the police by Friday.

Retail dealers were ordered to get rid of their stocks by July 15, either by handing them over to the police or disposing of them to manufacturers.

All firecrackers surrendered to the police will be destroyed. Manufacturers were not affected by the order.

ILLINOIS PAROLE BOARD FREES 170 FELONS IN JUNE

The state board of pardons and paroles announces that 170 inmates of Illinois penal institutions were freed on parole in June. Of these, 65 were sentenced in Cook county.

Sixty-three of the parolees were held at Stateville, 14 at Joliet, 54 at Pontiac, 35 at Menard, and four in the women's prison at Dwight.

One of those released is Seymour Peller, who was sentenced in 1930 to 20 years' imprisonment for kidnaping. He served nine years 10 months of the sentence.

LATVIA TO ELECT PARLIAMENT, 1ST SINCE '34 PUTSCH

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 4.—After a six year interval a new parliament will be elected in Latvia under the democratic constitution in force before Dictator President Karlis Ulmanis staged a putsch in 1934. Elections have been decreed for July 14 and 15 and the government has said a new electoral law will be announced within a few days.

The government also decided to follow Lithuania's example and introduce politics into the Latvian army thru establishing a propaganda department in the general staff and having political instructors attached to army units.

Moscow Talks Kept Secret.

Nothing has been officially divulged in Lithuania on the result of the visit of Vice Premier Vincas Kreve-Mickevicious to Moscow during important negotiations with Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov. According to reliable information, the negotiations concerned Lithuania's future existence as an autonomous republic within the federation of soviet republics, ruled from Moscow.

Four thousand Jewish workers meeting in Kaunas, the Lithuanian capital, passed a resolution demanding that instruction in the Hebrew language be forbidden in Jewish schools. After welcoming the Red army in Lithuania, the resolution congratulated the soviet for this action, and expressed loyalty to the Lithuanian communist party, the present "national" government, and the new people's army.

Former Economic Policy Hit.

In an article in today's edition of the new Latvian newspaper Cina, which condemns the economic policy of the former government, a communist economist made this statement:

"Reserves of gold and foreign holdings no longer have any value in maintaining the value of money in circulation and, despite this fact, the former Latvian government did not use her available funds abroad to purchase stores of needed raw materials when it was generally known that war was inevitable. If Latvia's gold reserves and foreign holdings can be realized they should be turned over to the soviet government to pay for raw materials which are now being supplied to Latvian industries."

It further was announced that the Latvian economy will be placed on the Russian system and that Moscow's slogan that those who won't work don't eat will be introduced.

$7,940,610 Spent on CCC Accouterments in Year

Washington, D. C., July 4 [Special].—The war department disclosed today in a report to the Civilian Conservation corps that $7,940,610 was spent for clothing and equippage for the CCC enrollees during the 1940 fiscal year ended on June 30. Approximately 500,000 men were enrolees during the year. Expenditures for equippage such as barracks bags, toilet kits, blankets, and similar items totaled $937,390.

PRESIDENT TURNS OVER LIBRARY TO U.S. GOVERNMENT

Transfers Title to Tract on Hudson Estate.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 4.—President Roosevelt today formally transferred to the government title to the $250,000 memorial he is building to himself on the grounds of his boyhood home.

The building which will house Mr. Roosevelt's state papers was begun a year ago at a time when it was believed the chief executive planned to retire and supervise the library. Today Mr. Roosevelt is apparently considering a third term attempt against Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee.

Ceremony Simple One.

The ceremony of the deeding of the property was simple. Only a few friends witnessed the turning over of the key of the library to Dr. R. D. W. Connor, national archivist, who accepted the structure on the part of the people of the United States.

The key was given to Frank Walker, treasurer of the library committee, who in turn passed it to Dr. Connor. In making the gift the President said that 32 cases of books have been packed for the library and that he expects his papers as governor of New York will arrive from Albany next week.

"This is a very happy day for me," he said. "To see this building go up during the last year and to see it completed means that I have got to get very busy in sending material to fill its shelve."

President's Mother Present.

Among those present at the ceremony were Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, the President's mother; his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; Basil O'Connor, the President's law partner, who is president of the library corporation; James Roosevelt, the President's oldest son; Frederic Delano, the President's uncle and chairman of the National Resources Planning board, and the Rev. Frank R. Wilson, pastor of St. James' Episcopal church, in which Mr. Roosevelt was baptized and of which he is senior warden.

The library stands on a 16 acre plot of ground about 200 yards from the door of the house in which Mr. Roosevelt was born. It is a one and one-half story structure built of Duchess county field stone.

Young Earle's Enlistment as British Flyer Barred

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 4 (AP).—George H. Earle III., son of the American minister to Bulgaria, has been prevented from joining the British royal air force by the American neutrality act and will try to reach home to enlist in the American air force, his father said today.

"My son did not understand that the neutrality act applied to an American holding no governmental position and living outside America until the department of state advised me," said the elder Earle, former governor of Pennsylvania.

"The British have informed me that he has not as yet enlisted in the air force."

Leaves for Camp

A party of 24 boys from two west side settlement houses, packing baseball bats, fishing poles, and blanket rolls, set out yesterday by bus from the Bethlehem Community center at 1853 South Loomis street, for four days of camping on the Zinser farms near Lake Delavan, Wis. All but Jerome Torres were from 15 to 17 years old. Jerome, who is 13, went along as mascot. Theirs will be the first of the Camps Adventure, promoted by the Chicago Outdoor league.

The Bethlehem party, with Lawrence Meltesen as director, took a tent, but the Chase house contingent, with Walter Papciak in charge, expected to sleep in the open.

Dies Will Address Legion Post's Americanism Rally

Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] will address an Americanism rally, sponsored by Lincoln Park post, 481, of the American Legion, in Lincoln Turner hall, 1005 Diversey parkway, the night of July 14, it was announced yesterday by Thomas McManus, post commander. McManus described the rally as "anti-German-American bund, anti-Fascist, anticommunist, and antififth column."

CITIZEN SOLDIER CAMP OPENS AT SHERIDAN TODAY

1,980 Gather for 30 Days of Army Life.

The Citizens Military Training camp at Fort Sheridan will open today with the arrival of 1,680 young men from Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan for a 30 day training period. The civilian soldiers, ranging in age from 17 to 24, will be given uniforms and assigned to infantry and cavalry companies of 200 each.

Col. John B. Johnson.

The number of those in the camps will be increased to 1,980 tomorrow by 300 business and professional men enlisted under the new volunteer training program which allows men between 25 and 50 years of age to attend the citizen camps.

The younger soldiers will be assembled tomorrow morning for the oath of allegiance and will participate in their first parade after this ceremony. Those who have not attended a camp previously will be enrolled in the basic course, second year soldiers in the red course, third year in the white course, and fourth year cadets in the blue course.

Commissioned on Graduation.

On completion of the blue course the C. M. T. C. graduates are commissioned as second lieutenants by passing correspondence courses provided by the army.

"While these young men will receive military training," Col. John B. Johnson, commandant of summer camps, said yesterday, "it is not the primary purpose of the C. M. T. C. to make soldiers.

"These camps strive to develop the qualities of leadership; the virtues of fair play, self-reliance, self-respect, respect for the rights of others, patriotism, and good citizenship."

Col. Johnson said the business men will be taught the essentials of military training with attention to physical condition. The training schedule calls for close order drill, firing on the rifle range, calisthenics, defense against chemical warfare, demonstrations of mechanized equipment, and other subjects.

Father-Son Combinations.

Several father and son combinations will be training together at the two camps in Fort Sheridan. Among these are Howard E. Parliament, head of a sales promotion company, and his son, Howard Jr., and Fred O. Goetz, accountant, and his son, Fred Jr.

Others to attend the business men's camp are Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan; Fred Kramer, president of the Metropolitan Housing council and the Chicago Mortgage Bankers' association; Lyman Barr, broker; Charles Z. Henkle, second vice president, Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Phillips Holmes, co-star with Elissa Landi of the new WGN dramatic series, "Wings for America"; Frank B. Gilmer, attorney, and Alexander Kirk, broker.

QUAKER GROUP BLASTS FORCED TRAINING IN ARMY AS UN-AMERICAN

Richmond, Ind., July 4 (AP).—Compulsory military training in peacetime was opposed by the Society of Friends [Quakers] today as being a radical departure from American principles of freedom and democracy.

Two hundred representatives of 12 yearly meetings on the American continent, called together by the American Friends Service committee, reaffirmed the Quaker conviction that all war is wrong in a statement which said in part:

"Specifically, we are absolutely opposed to the entrance of our nation into the present European conflict. We encourage our members to unite with their fellow citizens in all honorable and effective ways to prevent this country from becoming involved in the conflict.

"It follows that we are opposed to conscription in war and compulsory military training in time of peace as part and parcel of the war system. We protest against this policy in peacetime and particularly as a radical departure from American principles of freedom and democracy, as an unwarranted infringement of individual liberty and as an unnecessary and dangerous step toward the regimentation of a free people."

I Saw Quality at Fannie May!

★ Recently Mr. R. R. McKNIGHT, of the Esco Engineering Laboratories, visited the Fannie May Kitchens—and this is what he says . . .

"I am a research engineer, and the minute I saw in the Fannie May Kitchens a flavoring that I knew cost five times as much as ordinary, I said to myself—'These folks make a quality product.' Later in my visit, I tasted the candy into which the flavoring was blended, and my first judgment was right—Fannie May Candy is certainly fine quality."

CITY'S MILLIONS FETE FREEDOM'S BIRTH IN NATION

75,000 Attend Rally in Soldiers' Field.

An upsurge of patriotism marked Chicagoland's celebration yesterday of Independence day. Many thousands of citizens flocked under sunny skies to parks, beaches, and more distant summer resorts. Tens of thousands of others attended patriotic meetings.

The largest of these meetings was held last night in Soldiers' field under sponsorship of the Cook county council of the American Legion. An audience of 75,000 cheered as mechanized units of the Illinois National Guard and airplanes from the Great Lakes naval training station went thru military maneuvers.

William J. Collins, commander of the Legion's county organization, spoke briefly. He stressed the need for unity and predicted that "fifth column" movements would fail so long as Americans kept faith with the flag and their traditions.

Military Units Take Part.

Military units participating in the demonstrations included Company I of the 132d motorized infantry, the 33d division tank company, Battery A of the 122d field artillery, Battery F of the 124th field artillery, and the 61st coast artillery regiment.

The new chorus of the Chicago Opera company sang "God Bless America" and Commander Collins sang "Taps." The celebration ended with a $10,000 display of fireworks that depicted military and patriotic scenes in color.

One of the features of the evening was a polo game between the Evanston team and the New York Athletic club. Evanston won, 4 to 3. William Fergus, playing No. 1, scored all the goals for Evanston.

Nine women were treated for burns on the legs and arms in the emergency hospital of the field. They reported that a rocket bomb which came over the stadium wall and exploded near Gate 34 on the east side caused the accident.

Many Visitors in City.

It was estimated that 2,000,000 persons passed into and out of Chicago during the day, three-fourths of them by automobile. Roads were congested in many sections, but police officials reported that there was little delay.

Crowds estimated at 300,000 flocked to forest preserves for outings, hiking, horseback riding, and cycling.

An estimated 367,000 persons visited the city and park beaches chiefly for sun baths altho a few ventured into the chilly water. Lifeguards at Oak street beach reported that they assisted 18 persons out of the water because of fatigue.

One of the largest of the neighborhood celebrations was that of the North Evanston association. It was an all day affair and included athletic contests, a parade and a huge evening display of fireworks in Northwestern university's Dyche stadium.

Miss Helene Cassidy of 2636 Asbury avenue, Evanston, was chosen "Miss Liberty" and was formally installed in the stadium. Runners-up for the honor were Miss Mary Cook, 1731 Jenks street, Evanston, and Miss Martha Grawols, 2312 Ewing avenue, Evanston.

Revive Annual Celebration.

After a lapse of eight years the Irving Park community council revived a celebration with 20 years of tradition behind it at Independence park. More than 3,000 children marched in a morning parade at this program. More than 200 young men and women who have reached voting age in the last year reaffirmed their allegiance to the flag in a mass ceremony.

An estimated 40,000 gathered in Whiting, Ind., for an all day celebration.

Injured Playing with Fireworks

Arthur Darsch, 12 (left), of 2816 North Fairfield avenue, who suffered burns from a firecracker; George Silas, 11 (center), of 805 North Wells street, whose foot was cut by flying glass when firecracker burst a bottle, and David Byster, 11, of 1726 North Kedzie avenue, whose hand was burned.

More than 100 Hurt

One hundred and three persons, most of them children, were treated in Chicago for injuries suffered from fireworks over the July 4 holiday. Several others were hurt in the suburbs. Most of the injuries were minor, consisting of burns, bruises, or cuts on the hands and face. Last year 91 persons were hurt by firecrackers during the first six days of July.

There were no fatalities from fireworks in Illinois or the nation.

Two storekeepers were arrested when police said they found stocks of fireworks in their shops. They are Fred G. Petersen, owner of a grocery at 2323 North Albany avenue, and Mrs. Josephine Damkowich, owner of a delicatessen at 1143 East 93d street. They were charged with violating a city ordinance forbidding the storage and sale of explosives within the city without a permit.

LEGION PREPARES PLANS TO DIRECT PATRIOTIC ARDOR

Commander Kelly Asks for 'Sensible Activity.'

Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit, national commander of the American Legion, yesterday said in a Fourth of July radio address that the Legion feels it can best serve the nation in these days of world dislocation by guiding the millions of Americans who desire to aid their country to "sensible activity which will benefit rather than impede the building of national defense."

Raymond J. Kelly.

Speaking from Chicago over a nation-wide network, the Legion commander said that a comprehensive program was being prepared which would provide such direction on a national basis. He denied that the program includes setting up a private army under Legion direction.

[Last week Maryland Legionnaires voiced objection to a proposal supposedly submitted to members of the Legion's national executive committee under which a "security corps" would be organized under Legion auspices. The plan provided for a complete military organization, led and operated along regular army lines.

[Two days after publication of the Maryland protests Commander Kelly said release of the plan was premature and a breach of faith. J. Bryan Hobbs, Maryland member of the executive committee, subsequently criticized Kelly for the confusion which he said had resulted from the plan. He declared that it had not been acted on by the executive committee and that it was too important for presentation to the Legion's 11,000 posts without committee approval.]

No Such Plans Approved.

"During the last week," Kelly said, "some furor was created in certain sections about reported American Legion plans for strengthening our internal defenses, together with a suggested course of action to keep constituted law enforcement agencies informed of subversive organizations and individuals.

"No such plans have been authorized by me as national commander for release at this time either to the public or Legion organizations.

"I have no hesitancy in reporting that plans for the utilization of all the manpower and patriotism of the American Legion in times of grave national emergency are in process of preparation.

Wants to Uphold Law.

"But such plans do not provide for any independent Legion action. Loose talk of a private army under Legion direction is ridiculous. Any Legion plans of such nature would be predicated wholly on their being acceptable to the federal, state, and local governments responsible for the safety of the country.

"The American Legion at no time has been an advocate of direct action. It upholds the arm of law and order thru coöperation with those selected by the people for the administration of these functions of our government."

In discussing the opportunity which the Legion has before it to serve as an agency in directing and disciplining the patriotic ardor of Americans awakened to a new sense of duty thru recent developments in Europe, Kelly said:

"Millions of American men and women today are not only willing, but anxious, to dedicate themselves to the protection of this country.

Outlet for Enthusiasm.

"They are filled with the fervor of patriotic service. There is need to crystalize and to utilize that ardor—to direct it along avenues which will benefit rather than impede the building of our national defense.

"It is important that practical outlets be provided for the enthusiasm of the hour. It must not be allowed to become dormant. It should be a steady, driving determination, and not a matter of blowing hot and cold."

2 WOMEN FLUNG FROM RIVERVIEW PARK THRILL RIDE

Two women riding on the Rocket Ship, a thrill ride at Riverview amusement park, were bruised yesterday when they were thrown from the ship to the ground. They fell about 25 feet. Those injured were Mrs. Eleanor Sims, 27 year old, of 3528 Wabash avenue, and Miss Rose Lofton, 23, of 320 East 41st street, both colored.

A. L. Filograsso, advertising manager of the park, said the accident was the first on the ride since the ship was brought to the park after the close of the world's fair in 1934. In that time, he said, 100,000 passengers had taken rides. Filograsso said an attendant invariably fastens the passengers in with belts, and that the belts on the seats occupied by the two women were found fastened after the accident.

The women were taken to North Avenue hospital. The Rocket Ship was closed for the rest of the day.

BRITISH PAPER AT LAST GETS LETTER FAVORING CHAMBERLAIN'S CAUSE

LONDON, July 4 (AP).—The News Chronicle "at last" has received a letter favoring retention in the cabinet of Former Prime Minister Chamberlain, now lord president of the council, the paper announced today.

In a letter to the News Chronicle Sir Patrick Gower, publicity chief of Chamberlain's Conservative party, wrote:

"How can it help revive the national cause to revive party controversy by alleging that the leaders of one of the largest parties in the country are little short of traitors?"

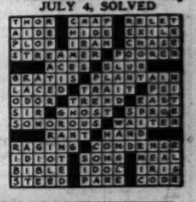
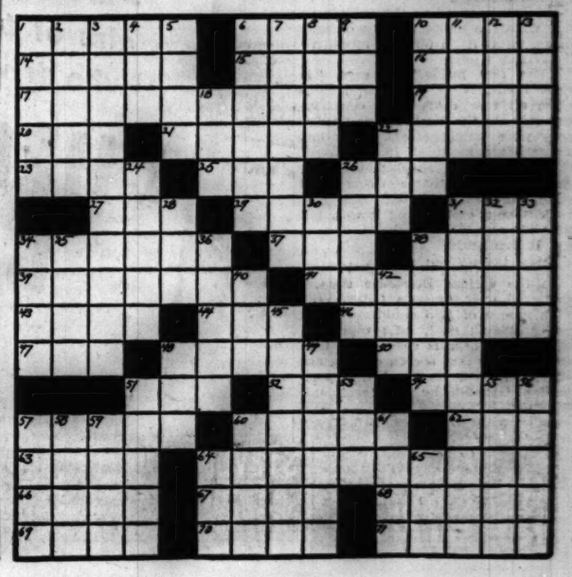
PUZZLE OF THURSDAY, JULY 4, SOLVED





A WILLKIE SPEECH THAT ROCKED THE ROOF, BACK IN '16

He Told Indiana U. What He Thought of It!

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., July 4 [Special].—Even now, 24 years later, people here grow mysterious and mute when you ask about the speech Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, made when he finished law school.

Its title was a Willkie specialty, "New Freedom." Many now seem to think it was intended to be satirical, but it split Indiana university like Quisling split Norway, and the orator's diploma was withheld for two days. In it forthright, ardent young Willkie, who a week later began to practice law in little Elwood—"like a circus giant in rompers," his Uncle Frank Willkie comments—told what he thought of the university.

His thoughts, altho couched in eloquent syllables and delivered with sonority, were of lowly content. He didn't think much of it.

A Frank, Some Say.

Such personages as Dr. William L. Bryan, president emeritus of the university, now say it was a boyish prank.

"He wanted to make some grave old gentlemen shiver in their clothes at the idea of sending a man as radical as he out into the world," Dr. Bryan says. "He succeeded. It was characteristic of him."

Others, such as Miss Lillian Gay Berry, white-haired professor of Latin, contend, "He meant every word he said." Miss Berry, who found in Willkie a diligent student, adds, "It's always been my bitter regret that I missed it."

To understand the audacity, or the fearlessness, behind the speech, one must remember, townspeople say, that Willkie, finishing law school at 24, had more than a purely academic background. He had roughed it in Wyoming and the Dakotas. He had taught history in Coffeyville, Kas. He had been a leader where he was.

Study with a System.

Back in Bloomington in the fall of 1914, thinner than ever and bent on the serious study of law, he had worked out a systematic study plan, by which he and three classmates mastered a book a night. He achieved a reputation as the campus' No. 1 wise-cracker and informal arguer. If he wasn't in the law library, hunched over Blackstone's commentaries or Pound, he was arguing on the library steps or huddled in the basement clubroom of Phi Delta Phi, honorary law fraternity.

"There the cuspidors were within reach," George Henley, Bloomington attorney and former classmate of Willkie, says. "There were plenty of tables to put your feet on, and nobody around but law students, who were ready to argue at the drop of a hat—which was all right with him."

Willkie had done well. He had won the junior law prize the year before. He was senior class orator. He was finished with a scholastic record for his combined undergraduate and graduate years of 72¾ hours of A's, 74¾ hours of B's, and 10¼ hours of C's.

A Separate Commencement.

There were only 18 in the law school graduating class in 1916. Ordinarily it did not have separate commencement exercises, but this year, for some reason obscured or lost in the years, it was held singly.

L. Erb Stark, United States attorney, was to deliver the principal address. A circuit judge was to swear in the graduates. And Willkie, as class orator, was to speak.

As he recalled it later, "Everybody knew what I was going to say. We had planned it together. Everybody had agreed to clap furiously."

He prepared the speech, a biting castigation of the school and its methods. He interspersed his acid with pungent wit. He memorized it, and walked solemnly onto the stage to deliver it.

"And there sat the full bench of the Indiana Supreme court, headed by Chief Justice Charles E. Cox," a professor relates. "Nobody made a sound. Willkie was stuck with his memorized speech. He blushed to his teeth and gave it.

"Nobody made a sound at the end."

Even Willkie Frightened.

The august guests, the dignified law faculty sat aghast. Was this radical monster a thing of their own making?

For two days they refused him a diploma. Even Willkie was frightened. Finally the late Dean Enoch Hogate sent for him.

"Young man," he said dourly, "here's your diploma, if you'll remember that there is a time and place for everything—and that you are no humorist."

Dr. Bryan, recalling the episode today with the understanding of long years, terms it "a piece of mischief" on Willkie's part.

"The real inside," he says, "is this: Members of our law faculty then, all now dead, were conservative men. In the Mark Hanna phrase, they were 'stand-patters.' They had never heard anything like that.

"No doubt he shocked them by making a speech that was considered radical then. I don't remember how pink it was, or how red it was, but he went as far as he dared, and he did it brilliantly."

Rejected by Phi Beta Kappa.

In the various Bughouse squares scattered over America today, Willkie's speech of 1916 doubtless would be considered mild, milk toast, but not here. There is speculation here still whether that speech of long ago did not have a part in Willkie's rejection last fall by the formidable ranks of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, when he was proposed for honorary membership.

Miss Berry, who believes she is the only woman ever to have been president of Phi Beta Kappa, went to bat for him. "You'll rue the day," she scolded the cold, adamant group, "when you turned down Wendell Willkie!"

They could supply no good reason for rejecting him. One member suggested he had no literary attainments.

"How many of you have had a article published in Atlantic monthly?" Miss Berry demanded indignantly.

The group could say nothing. Finally another spoke up, saying Willkie had no scientific attainments.

"He had made a science of business," she retorted. "How many of you can make $75,000 a year?"

Sam Hasn't Forgotten.

There's a little colored man on the campus here, however, who glows with happy memories of Willkie. He is Sam Dorgan, curator of the law library for the last 30 years, and he has never forgotten how Willkie—whom he describes as "long headed," meaning wise—prevented a fellow student's expulsion.

This was in Willkie's final year at law school, when a third year student, who had taken out a library book without permission, then a grave crime, was about to be expelled. Sam was the chief witness against him. To Sam came Willkie.

"He put his arm around my neck," Sam recalls. "He said, 'That's right, Sam. He deserves to be expelled. He knew better, but I would drop it if I were you. He'd make it hard for you. You'll do a good act if you drop it, even if he doesn't appreciate it.'"

Sam dropped it, and since then has been a fervent Willkie booster. Every once in a while he gets a letter from the great man. He treasures them all.

SECRET SERVICE GUARDS HOME OF JOHN ROOSEVELT

Nahant, Mass., July 4 (AP).—Nahant police confirmed a report tonight that secret service agents were guarding the home of John Roosevelt and his wife, who recently became parents of a son. The President's youngest son said he had "no comment."

Nahant police said three secret service agents had been on duty for the last three weeks, guarding the ocean front estate on 8 hour shifts thru the day and night.

The young Roosevelts had made no request to them for special protection, the police said, adding they were unable to explain the agents' presence. Mrs. Roosevelt is the former Anne Clark of Boston.

FEDERAL SHARE OF PENSION FUND FOR JULY LATE

Springfield, Ill., July 4 (AP).—State old age assistance officials said today there had been a delay in receipt of current federal pension contributions but that they hoped to avoid delay in mailing out July checks to Illinois' 138,000 assistance recipients.

A statement issued by the office of State Auditor Edward J. Barrett said there had been technical difficulties in Washington to delay transmitting of pension funds to all states. The federal government pays half the assistance awards.

Fletcher C. Kettle, state superintendent of assistance, said the federal allotment to Illinois for the three months beginning July 1 probably would arrive tomorrow, in which case there would be no delays in pension payments in this state. He said checks for July already had gone out to aged persons in about 20 counties, these payments being possible because of federal reserves on hand in Illinois.

Until the new federal grant is forthcoming, further payment of regular awards must be held up, Kettle explained.

WILLKIE TO VISIT HOOSIER FRIENDS ON INITIAL TOUR

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 4.—The middle west will get first attention from Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for President, in a trip planned for next week, the candidate announced today.

While it is not a campaign tour in the regular sense, and is more the beginning of his two or three week vacation, Mr. Willkie will make his old Hoosier home district the starting point of his first journey out of the Atlantic seaboard since his nomination.

The trip will begin next Monday night or Tuesday from Washington, D. C., and will take him by automobile to Rushville, Ind., the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Phil Wilk, and from there to Elwood, his boyhood home. From Indiana he will set out on his vacation to some as yet unselected spot in the lake country of Minnesota or Wisconsin.

Will Confer with McNary.

Mr. Willkie will leave New York for Washington by airplane Sunday night or Monday morning, according to present plans. In Washington he will talk with Senator Charles L. McNary, his running mate, and attend a reception of the Republican members of the senate and house which is being arranged by Frank Horton, national committeeman from Wyoming.

He will leave Washington by automobile, accompanied by Mrs. Willkie and his secretary, Fred Rahter, and make a leisurely trip to Indiana by a route not yet disclosed. He will stop for a night somewhere along the way, and will spend two or three days in Rushville. It is a drive of about 50 miles from there to Elwood, where he will mingle for a day with his old fellow townsmen and schoolmates. It is at Elwood the latter part of the month that he will deliver his formal acceptance speech, on which he intends to work during his vacation period.

Willkie Gets 50 Invitations.

Mr. Willkie has 50 or 60 invitations to spend his vacation time in various resorts, some as far west as the Black Hills. Rapid City, S. D., which once entertained President Coolidge, is anxious to have him, but he has made no decision as yet and may not decide until he gets to Indiana. He will become, for the time being, the Hoosier candidate for the Presidency, by right of birth.

During his Indiana visit Mr. Willkie will have time to look over the five farms which he owns and operates. Asked today whether he had cooperated with the Agricultural Adjustment administration—he said he would talk about that later. Asked if he made money on his farms he merely smiled.

In the meantime, the nominee is absorbed in the problems of party and campaign organization. He will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow with the members of a special sub-committee of the Republican National Committee for the purpose of deciding the national chairmanship and other campaign matters. The decisions, however, will tie in with his plan for a triumvirate to run the campaign, a new organization which will have as its executive head his own campaign manager, who has not yet been selected.

TOWNSEND CONCLAVE GOES ON RECORD AS AGAINST THIRD TERM

St. Louis, Mo., July 4 (AP).—In a resolution proposed by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, pension plan founder, the national Townsend convention went on record today as being "irrevocably opposed to a third term for any President of the United States."

In the tumult that followed the introduction of the resolution, Frank C. Smith of East St. Louis, Ill., made himself heard above the shouting and demanded: "Do I understand that resolution is against a third term for any President?"

When Chairman John Weir of Boston replied that it was, the delegate asserted: "I am opposed to that. I understand this Townsend movement is for the advancement of the Townsend plan, and not mixing in politics. I, too, am opposed to a third term, but with the condition of the world as it is now, how in the name of heaven can we change horses in midstream?"

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], speaking immediately after the action on the third term resolution, congratulated the convention on its stand.

WINDOW BROKEN IN HOME OF VICE SMASHING PASTOR

The Rev. Joseph A. Winters, 70 years old, pastor of the Progressive Community church, reported to police yesterday that a window in the front door of his home at 4508 Calumet avenue was smashed by a stone during the night. He attributed the vandalism to vice and policy game interests which the John R. Lynch Model Community council, of which he is vice president, is attempting to drive from the south side colored community.

Another window smashing was reported Tuesday by Miss Kathryn Johnson, president of the council, who resides in the Ezella Mathis Carter Memorial Home for Girls, of which she is superintendent, at 4509 Prairie avenue.

The Lynch council is named for a prominent member of the colored community who died last year. Some 200 colored citizens and property owners who are members have pledged themselves to drive antisocial elements out of the area between 43d and 47th streets, Michigan avenue, and South Park way.

FALL DOWN STEPS IS FATAL.

John McDonald, 33 years old, 318 North Lotus avenue, a salesman, died in Garfield Park hospital yesterday of injuries suffered when he fell down the rear steps of his home.

NEGROES DISPLAY ACHIEVEMENTS IN 1ST WORLD FAIR

Five years of planning a Negro world's fair was climaxed at 1:30 p. m. yesterday when the American Negro Exposition, celebrating 75 years of progress since emancipation, was opened in the Chicago Coliseum.

Behind the show, which includes 120 exhibits, an art show of 300 paintings and sculptures by Negro artists, dioramas and murals depicting the progress and contributions by the race, and two musical productions, stands one figure—that of James W. Washington, south side real estate man.

Washington was warmly and repeatedly cheered yesterday when he was introduced from the Coliseum balcony to the hundreds attending the exposition's first day. He is its president and Attorney Truman K. Gibson Jr., is executive director.

$75,000 Provided by State.

Since he conceived the idea of a world's fair for members of his race, Washington has traveled more than 100,000 miles thruout the country promoting it. With others he established the United Coöperative League of America, Inc., which brought into being the Afra-Merican Emancipation exposition, the name by which the exposition was known when a $75,000 appropriation bill for its maintenance was introduced in the Illinois legislature last year.

The name of Representative Charles J. Jenkins [R., Chicago], a prominent Negro legislator, was first on the list of sponsors of this measure, and with him were 39 other members—both white and colored. The bill passed both houses by large majorities and the $75,000 it released was supplemented by a like appropriation from congress.

With these funds and an admission fee of 25 cents, the fair administration will continue the exposition thru Sept. 2. On almost all the intervening days, some state, organization, or Negro notable will be honored. Delegations are expected from all the southern states and other parts of the country.

Replica of Lincoln Tomb.

Most of the exhibit booths were ready at yesterday's opening and workmen will complete the remainder within a few days. Dominating the center of the big hall which houses most of the exhibits is a large replica of the Lincoln tomb and monument at Springfield. From its four corners radiate rows of dioramas commemorating Negro achievements from ancient times.

The art exhibit of murals, oil paintings, water colors, drawings, and sculptures was called by Alonzo J. Aden, its curator, the largest showing of work by Negro artists ever assembled.

Lights rose in the exposition hall at 1:30 p. m. yesterday when President Roosevelt, in his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., pressed a button opening the fair. Mayor Kelly—introduced by Gibson as "a man who went down into his own pocket to aid the exposition"—was the principal speaker.

"The nation pays a debt of gratitude to the Negroes today," the mayor told his audience. "Not alone for their contributions to the arts and sciences; not alone to the good and great names that stand out in the book of American achievements, but to the great mass of 14 million Negroes who help to form the backbone of American democracy."

Jack McMichael, president of the congress, made a speech today in which he admitted there are communists in the organization, but made no reference to the key positions they occupy. About 500 delegates and official observers are here from more than 200 youth groups, but the communists are in a position to control the proceedings.

McMichael charged in his speech that the attempt to force the ouster of the young communists was inspired by a desire to disunite the Youth congress. He asserted that the congress would continue to welcome the participation of the young communists "because they have abided by the rules of democratic procedure and have supported our program."

How the communists dominate the congress was revealed today by the Rev. O. Kenneth Goff, young preacher from Delavan, Wis. He once was a member of the A. Y. C. executive committee and headed the Young Communist league of his state.

Disputes McMichael Claim.

Goff quit the communists and testified before the Dies committee last October regarding their control of the congress. He attended all previous sessions as a delegate. Now deprived of vote or voice in the convention, he is remaining as an observer representing the young Progressives of Walworth county.

"A majority of all delegates are communists or fellow travelers, altho only six technically represent the party," Goff said.

"Undercover communists join aboveboard youth organizations and 'sell' them the A. Y. C., suggesting that A. Y. C. speakers be called to explain the movement. These smooth talkers propose certain members for A. Y. C. delegates.

The Rev. Mr. Goff pointed out Harold Christoffel of Milwaukee, strolling across the camp grounds.

"There goes an example," Goff said. "Officially he's just a delegate here for a C. I. O. union, but he's a communist pledged to keep the party in control of the congress.

Pro-American Seeks to Register

MARINE WORKERS ON WEST COAST CALL OFF STRIKE

San Francisco, Cal., July 4 (AP).—The long feared west coast marine strike was cancelled today, minutes after the midnight deadline which was to have sent C. I. O. marine cooks and stewards to the picket lines to blockade 175 American flag ships. The union, in full membership meeting, at 2:33 a. m., voted to ratify the memorandum peace formula adopted after midnight by their negotiators. They won a 10 per cent wage adjustment.

The settlement followed ten turbulent months of negotiation for a contract to replace the one which expired in September, 1939. Only the Marine Cooks and Stewards union was involved, but it had the pledged support of 30,000 men of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific, which includes longshoremen, marine engineers, radio operators, and other C. I. O. and A. F. of L. groups.

The memorandum must yet be reduced to formal contract terms.

MASKED GUNMEN ROB TWO COUPLES OF $22,500 IN GEMS

Jewelry valued at $22,500 was taken last night by two masked gunmen who held up Daniel F. McMahon, manager of THE TRIBUNE's local advertising department; Harry D. Crooks, owner of Crooks Terminal Warehouse company, and their wives. The two couples, driven by the Crooks' chauffeur, John Brown, of 5331 Lake Park avenue, were returning to Chicago from a country club when their car was stopped on Cicero avenue just south of Touhy avenue.

One of the masked men entered the machine and the other followed in a second car to Pratt boulevard, where Brown was ordered to turn left and stop. The robbers demanded a ring Mrs. Crooks generally wears, but did not have with her last night. Lincolnwood police said this indicated the robbery had been carefully planned. In addition to the jewelry, the gunmen took fox furs from both women and cash totaling more than $100 from the party. One of the robbers struck McMahon with his fist when McMahon resisted.

OLD ARMIES AND NEW IDEAS.

The transportation of tanks by air, which the Russian army used to surprise and capture a Rumanian city, may or may not be of great military significance. It is significant, however, that, like all of the other military innovations of this war, the flying tank is brought forward by one of the two nations that had to start virtually from scratch in building up their armies after the last war.

The Russians have, in fact, had to rebuild their army twice, once after the fall of the czarist régime and again after Stalin shot most of the Red generals. This goes a long way to explain both why the Red army has had so many fresh military ideas and why so few of them have been successfully executed.

The Russians originated parachute troops, but won few if any successes with them in Finland. It remained for the Germans to take the idea and make it practicable, if, indeed, the successes claimed for their parachute troops were not exaggerated.

Germany gained most on the side of material from the fact that it had to rebuild its army, but its gains in the field of military thinking were likewise considerable. The Germans kept their old officer caste, but those officers were not in a mood to look back to the world war for guidance. When they thought about the war it was to think what had been done wrong.

Military men are by nature conservative, and those of a nation that won its last war are particularly so. It takes greater intellectual force than most armies are capable of producing to cast aside the methods that have once yielded victory. The German victories have been due fully as much to the mental lethargy of their opponents as to the willingness of German leaders to break away from tradition.

The American army officer has the reputation of being the most studious soldier in the world. He spends about a third of his time, on the average, as student or instructor in various service schools. His studies, however, will be of little value if his lessons stem from mental lethargy and satisfaction with the tactics and weapons that were successful in 1918.

The American army, so far as the public knows, has failed to date to experiment with parachute troops or with air transportation of tanks and artillery. This probably is a matter of no great moment. The failure to do so is, however, a symptom of a resistance to new ideas that is alarming in its wider aspects.

Whatever the value of parachute attacks, the value of mechanized units is well established. The recent Louisiana maneuvers disclosed a distressing ineptitude in officers required to adapt their thinking and action to the swift pace of mechanized war. That indictment came from their own commanding general.

The army, it is true, has been starved for seven years to provide funds for President Roosevelt's wasteful social experiments. It has been denied both modern equipment and funds for the maneuvers necessary to teach its use. That neglect is being repaired, but unless the army itself throws off the domination of minds too lazy and self-satisfied to make proper use of the new equipment our defense program will be a failure.

PARKING METERS.

The city of Cleveland has installed 2,200 parking meters in its downtown area, and following a four week trial THE TRIBUNE'S automobile editor finds considerable sentiment in favor of them.

Chicagoans who have motored thru the country are familiar with parking meters. Under the usual system the parker deposits a nickel in a coin box mounted at the curb, which entitles him to park in that location for an hour. At the end of the hour a flag flips up, giving a signal to police that the car has been parked longer than the period allowed.

In Cleveland it has been found that the meter system has done away with all day parking that was a principal cause of congestion in the downtown section. Traffic police also find that it is easier to catch overtime parkers, and drivers now have no difficulty in finding a place to park.

Unregulated or improperly regulated parking is one of the greatest sources of waste in municipal government. Millions of dollars are spent on widening streets with the objective of speeding traffic, only to have the additional space preempted and used as a free public garage, frequently by occupants of nearby buildings who leave their cars at the curb thruout the business day. The obvious remedy—prohibition of parking—is usually frustrated by merchants who fear that a parking ban will cause them to lose customers.

The parking meter offers a tempting solution to this problem, but it has not had wide acceptance, nor has its use been continued long in most cities where it has been tried. It is almost an axiom in the parking meter trade that the first six months during which meters are in use in a city furnish a bonanza, but that thereafter the operator had better be prepared to move because of public antagonism.

One reason for this is that the parking meter, like that other innocent device, the juke box, suffers by keeping bad company. Slot machine operators dominate the coin operated machine business. Frequently they have taken on parking meters as a side line, and in those instances they have used the same methods to get their parking meters adopted that they customarily use to keep their slot machines going. Parking meters have left a trail of graft and scandal behind them in many cities.

PROFIT SHARING AND THE RIGHT TO STRIKE.

The National Labor Relations board has ordered the Jahn & Ollier Engraving company to make changes in a profit sharing contract with its employés that clearly would have the effect of canceling the contract.

Jahn & Ollier operates a nonunion shop, which the photoengravers' union has been trying to organize for more than 30 years. The labor board order was issued as the result of charges brought by the union. While the board sustained other charges of unfair labor practices against the company, principally alleged attempts by company officials and foremen to discourage employés from joining the union, the matter of the profit sharing contract can be separated from these other issues.

The labor board admits in its order that the Wagner act does not forbid an employer to offer to share profits with his employés or to extend them any other benefits. It is only when a profit sharing contract is used to interfere with the right of employés to organize for collective bargaining that the board claims the right to order the contract canceled, its order states.

The board's order discloses three grounds on which it objects to the Jahn & Ollier profit sharing contract. They are that it took the form of an agreement between the management and individual employés, which the board charges precluded them from taking advantage of collective bargaining rights; that the employé was bound to give the company continuous uninterrupted service for the period of the contract, two years, and that certain contingencies, among them strikes, would abrogate the contract.

The Wagner act does not forbid individual bargaining between employer and employé. The Supreme court has said specifically that it does not. The act declared that employés have a right to organize for collective bargaining and forbids interference with that right. Nowhere does it require that they organize. It has remained for the labor board to attempt to require that, without warrant of law.

The section of the contract requiring an employé to give continuous uninterrupted service is unenforceable insofar as it might be used to prevent an employé quitting his job or striking. Involuntary servitude was prohibited 70 years before the Wagner act was passed. Whether an invalid clause of this sort would invalidate the whole contract is a matter to be decided by a court of equity, which the labor board obviously is not.

The question remains whether an employer violates the Wagner act if he promises his employés a share of the profits of their joint business provided they do not strike. The labor board says that it does.

Obviously there will be no profits to share if a business is crippled by strikes, but this does not answer the question directly. The answer is to be found in the preamble of the Wagner act itself. It declares strikes to be a burden on interstate commerce and declares it the policy of the government to remove such burdens.

When an employer offers his employés a share of profits on the condition that they do not strike and endanger those profits he is seeking the same end that congress has pronounced desirable in the Wagner act. He is not using the machinery provided by that act, it is true, but it is equally true that nothing in the Wagner act either prohibits profit sharing or indicates the belief or desire of congress that collective bargaining should be the sole avenue to industrial peace.

There is nothing antagonistic between profit sharing and collective bargaining, and certainly none between collective bargaining and agreements not to strike. The antagonism is injected by the labor board in its inconsistent misconstruction of the Wagner act. The strained logic that the board uses in the Jahn & Ollier case to attack profit sharing gives one more reason why congress should provide adequate judicial review of burocratic rulings by amending the Wagner act.

Editorial of the Day

WHEN SCIENCE DISAGREES.

[Kansas City Times.]

There seems to be nothing before which science is so helpless as the problem of finding some way to successfully predict weather changes. Even in mere 24 hour prognostications the best in trained men and equipment have a disconcerting number of failures—as witness the records of even the most modern of United States weather forecasting offices.

But when the attempt is made to make long distance forecasts, science really finds itself hamstrung, handcuffed, and hogtied. If weather is so fickle that it will overturn every known indication within the space of a few hours, what can it do in a week—or a month—or a year?

Yet such is human nature that, regardless of the apparently impossible situation, men are going to continue to try to peer into the future—even for a large number of years. As a result, we have just now a striking instance of diametrical disagreement between two schools of science on the question of the drouth cycle.

About three weeks ago a widely known savant of the University of Oklahoma came out with a flat-footed declaration that the drouth cycle was broken, or about to be broken. He based his prognosis on the frequency of sun spots and showed that in the past certain sun spot conditions had coincided strikingly with wet or dry eras.

Now comes an equally prominent geologist speaking before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, who predicts that the worst drouths in 20 centuries are about to begin in the United States. He bases his prediction on study of rock strata, which he says show the cycles in which drouths and rainy eras come.

Well, you can pay your money and take your choice. Personally, we prefer to believe the Oklahoma scientist. And we have the comfort of knowing that he is just as likely to be right as his colleague.

The trade names given to baby clothes are among the most gruesome achievements of the advertising profession, and they often set up curious blocks in parents' minds. An aunt of ours sent one of these garments, something called a Snuggle Bunny, to a young mother she knows. Bewildered and alarmed, she showed us the letter of acknowledgment she got back. "Thank you so much," the young woman had written all unconsciously, "for the lovely Dixie Davis."—New Yorker.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THE WORD DETECTIVE.

Philadelphia lawyer: In colonial times the city was famous for its shrewd legal talent. Moreover, the records of the trial of John Peter Zenger, Albany publisher, for criminal libel show that the defense was ably conducted by Andrew Hamilton, Philadelphia lawyer. The case established the principles of a free press and free speech.

Higher than Gilderoy's kite: An allusion to the high gallows upon which Patrick McGregor, alias Gilderoy, a Scottish robber, was hanged in Edinburgh [1638]. He was lifted so high that people said his body looked like a kite in air.

Gob: American navy slang for a sailor. It apparently came into use in 1912 in ships on the China station. It has been in use in England for many years for sailors in the revenue service. Gob, vulgar English for the mouth, is apparently in the background. Coast guard men in a tavern session, smoking and talking and freely expectorating, were called gobbies in Scotland.

Cheshire cat: Always used to describe a teeth-showing grin. Old English folk saying of doubtful origin; the accepted theory is that Cheshire cheese was formerly molded in forms like a grinning cat.

Ivory tower: Figure of speech for an aloof, contemplative, intellectual life. A search for its origin stood the entire English faculty of Yale university on its head, a few years ago. It was put into highbrow circulation by the French critic, Sainte-Beuve, in describing the poet, Alfred de Vigny.

Alma mater: In the collegiate sense, this was first used in reference to Cambridge university, England. It was a title given by the ancient Romans to Ceres, Cybele, and other goddesses.

O. K.: The first written record of this much discussed idiom is in the archives of Sumner county, Tennessee, dated Oct. 6, 1790. Andrew Jackson "proved a bill of sale from Hugh McGary to Gasper Mansker for a Negro man, which was O. K." Probably a misreading of bad writing for O. R.—Ordered Recorded.

ENGLAND AT BAY.

Under the angry skies that lower,
And crouching from the missile rain
Indifferent to their pain.

The torn and ravaged countryside
And the red-stainéd loam
Cannot abate their deathless pride,
For here is still their home.

Somewhere above the Stygian black
A fairer heaven smiles,
Burning its message thru the wrack
To those beleaguered isles.

Apollyon's wings may blot the sun,
But slaughter-frenzied fools
Shall learn that war has just begun,
And a just God still rules.

The Duke Gets Dragged to the Movies.

Tha lame-brain Indian that invented "double-features" must of been a cousin or sumthin of Sitting-Bull. Last night I can hardly navigate home on account my dogs are plenty calloused an I got sweet visions of eatin in my socks. I start unlacing when a very dear melodious voice bellows like a top seargent informing me that after supper we're goin to a pitcher-show. If every one of those magic-lantern emporiums was laid end to end I dont give a darn how far they would reach so long as they started laying em. On askin tha mama what pitchers we was gonna see, I'm told one is "Tropical Love," and the other is "My Jungle Rose."

When I asks tha mama if she woodn' wait an go Saturday she blitzkriegs me with words that I woodn't even use on her mother. If tha pictures were instructive like fer instance one of Mae West's or mebbe "Tha Gangster's Moll," I woodn' mind it so much, but to sit thru a lotta phoney 2-bit palm trees made out of paper an watch a vaselined sheik fight off 40 dinjes with brass curtain rings in their noses—that to me is "Phul, with tha cover off."

Tha last time we saw one of them ship-wrecked romance pitchers a big fat guy sittin next to me snored so loud he woke me up twice. Some wide-awake manager could make a fortune if he stuck a sign in the box-office readin "Cots for Men." Didn't used to be so bad when they let ya smoke in tha balcony cause it wood help take your mind off'n tha picture, but it seems now tha more uncomfortable they can make it for you tha better they like it.

I certainly love tha way they put spaces in tha back of your seat so's tha guy behind you can get both his shoes shined at tha same time. Sure is an economic age. Out in front of tha show they got a sign readin, "Our features are fit for a King." To me that's a bit of rib. Duke Bakrak.

BANISH DISCOMFORT IN "THE CHANGE IN LIFE."

WOMEN who face the menopause—the change of life—can do so these days with complacency. Assistance is available which will bridge over the interval—avoiding the many disagreeable manifestations which otherwise would be encountered.

While nature attempts a gradual transformation, nevertheless a stormy interlude will be observed in about 25 per cent of women who reach the age of 50. In an effort to side-step hot flashes, dizzy spells, ringing in the ears, faintness, palpitation, and periods of depression—which are so characteristic—hormones may be employed.

We have learned that the symptoms arise because the powers of reproduction are going into winter quarters. Atrophy or shrinking of tissues occurs and, in consequence, certain of the gland secretions may disappear from the circulation too rapidly. In other words, the ability of the pelvic organs to correlate their activities tends to become unbalanced.

For years physicians have attempted to lighten the ordeal with sedatives—quieting drugs. While mild compounds such as bromides are helpful, it has been found that the so-called sex hormones [theelin, emmenin, etc.] are far more efficient. By means of these extracts we can turn back the progress of time and continue to do so until the body catches up on its adjustment.

One of the most frequent disorders is anxiety. The patient is perfectly miserable and she reflects her attitude into the lives of those about her. The case is reported of a 50 year old woman in whom menopausal disturbances had been present for some six months. She experienced hot flashes alternating with chilliness and was subject to attacks of weakness. Cast down mentally, she displayed signs of irritability on occasions. Here the administration of six doses of theelin [1,000 units each] on succeeding days brought prompt and satisfactory relief. One injection per month thereafter enabled her to maintain excellent health.

Another victim—who was thought to be afflicted with melancholia—suffered flushing and palpitation, associated with fear of oncoming insanity. With the thought that the entire picture might be on an endocrine basis, theelin was prescribed and here again a spectacular recovery ensued. The drug was continued for some months merely as a precautionary measure. It should be understood that all forms of mental illness will not respond to this type of therapy. On the other hand, medical literature supplies numerous reports of favorable reactions following this identical plan.

But personality changes are not alone involved. A 46 year old wife of a physician complained of almost every symptom in the books. Long a victim of mild sinus infection her nasal trouble increased markedly with pain which traveled over the vault of the skull and down the back of the neck. Joints were affected—particularly the knees and hips—and sometimes she would develop a sensation which she described as "literally cooked." In addition chills, poor digestion, and despondency fell to her lot.

Examination showed a well nourished person with an unusually dry skin who was obliged to have extra clothing at hand—for warmth—altho this would be thrown off instantly on the arrival of a hot flash. Here again daily doses of theelin plus small amounts of thyroid extract worked wonders. Her aches and pains disappeared, her outlook on life was remedied, and she today is a bright, attractive, charming personality.

Strange as it may seem many other indispositions—such as severe itching—have been cleared up completely under this treatment. Probably the most significant effects are those which influence the mind—robbing the period of its capacity to wreck the peace and harmony of a well ordered household. We can then agree with Browning, "The best is yet to be, the last of life, for which the first was made."

REDUCING.

M. R. writes I am going on vacation the end of August and expect to go to the shore. Since I am very much overweight, I would like to take off many pounds before being seen in a bathing suit. How can this be done in a hurry?

REPLY.

The only safe plan calls for the loss of a pound a week. The program demands "stick-to-itive-ness." A satisfying but balanced diet is essential. Wrinkles are bound to come if you take off fat too rapidly. They are the kind that cannot be massaged out of existence. We have two dietary schedules—one more rigorous than the other. Either or both will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ARTHRITIS AND GALLSTONES.

Mrs. U. writes: Is arthritis a form of gallstones—that is, can deposits form on the joints instead of in the gall bladder?

REPLY.

Stones in the gall bladder are composed of material which is quite different from that found in the deposits about the joints. I doubt their relationship, altho an infection may be responsible for each.

HOLDING BREATH.

R. B. writes: I have heard that if a person can hold his breath for 40 seconds the heart is in good condition. Is there anything to this?

REPLY.

Test Your Facts

1. What part of the human body is divided into the right and left auricles and the right and left ventricles?

2. What famous civil war general was known as Little Phil?
[a] McClellan, [b] Sherman, [c] Sheridan.

HE HAS A PROBLEM.

Chicago, July 2.—I believe I am stating here a vital national problem. My alma mater is one of the city's largest technical high schools, my class, 1932.

Unable to continue my education, I was forced to take work where I found it. Fortunately I was working most of the time. But, youthful and unrealizing, I spent the first four years in large factories at jobs of no trade value. The last three years working in a garment factory I picked up some cloth cutting experience, tho nonunion, working up to a salary of $25 a week. Business and my job went bad. The cutters' union, affiliated with the I. L. G. W. U., will not admit any apprentices except a chosen few.

Now at 26 and married, I find myself unable to find employment in the only trade I know where I can earn more than $15 a week. Tho willing to apprentice in another field, I find that employers prefer boys 18, 19, and 20 years of age. The logical reason is, that the apprentice wage is more appropriate for them than a man of my age and responsibility. It seems incredible that a man of my age is too old to do anything.

In my dilemma I went to a vocational adviser, who, for the fancy fee of $25 which I could not afford, assured me he could solve my problem.

Is there any place where vocational advice is a public service?

What is to be done about the rehabilitation of thousands like myself and prevent us from becoming unwilling liabilities on an already overburdened public?

M. D.

UNDERFED CHILDREN HERE.

Chicago, July 2.—Why should European refugees be brought to Chicago — a city where thousands are out of work, where Americans not on relief are poorly clad and always a little hungry; where there are hundreds of underfed, underprivileged children who have never seen the lake and do not know what it is to play on green grass? G. S.

WAIFS.

Rockford, Ill., July 2.—Concerning your article, "Refugee Waifs Arrive from England," I take it for granted you know what a waif is. For enlightenment, however, it means children of the slums. If you think those unfortunate kids look like waifs of the slums and every city [including Chicago has them], just take a peek at the current pictures of the arriving children and see if there are any waifs among them. EX VET.

FIFTH COLUMN LEAFLETS.

Chicago, July 2. — On Sunday as I passed by the unguarded equipment of a W. P. A. street project at 63d and Greenwood avenue, I noticed a small leaflet which had been dropped, either by intent or accidentally, near the toolbox. I stared at the black and red lettering on the leaflet as if it were a snake ready to strike.

"Fight U. S. A. war plans.

"Demonstrate strike committee for revolutionary labor action."

Fellow Americans! Do not close your eyes to the significance of the propaganda literature being distributed in the streets of Chicago. The treacherous vultures, fifth column propagandists, are even now at work among the laborers in your community. As loyal American citizens, now is the time to get behind the local organizations that are trying to stamp out such activities.

We should not countenance such dastardly affronts upon our life, liberty, and happiness. The guilty persons should be found and punished.

ELLA J. PHILLIPS, R. N.

NO PASSPORTS NEEDED.

Chicago, July 1.—There have been conflicting reports in the newspapers, both Canadian and American, as to whether United States citizens need passports in order to tour Canada.

Will you kindly give authoritative information concerning the necessity for passports for tourists, and whether evidence of citizenship in order to reënter this country is sufficient?

WILLIAM F. TOWLER.

[No passports are required by Canada for visitors from the United States. But proof of United States citizenship is required by our country for the tourists' return.]

G. O. P. A NEW MEANING.

Chicago, July 1.—The Republican party is fortunate in having the letters G. O. P. as its standard at this particular time because it stands for Guardians of Peace, and just now we certainly need some one to Guard Our Peace before the powers that be get us in.

A great newspaper such as yours can do a wonderful service to the public by spreading this slogan. FRED R. WARD.

ZONING AND THE COST.

Chicago, July 2. — Our organization has been vitally interested in bringing about a compliance with the city zoning ordinances in the Hyde Park district and has discovered many obstacles in the course of prosecution. We did not realize, however, that the expense was so great and that 99 6-10 pe. cent of all building and zoning cases are dismissed without penalty or fine to the violator.

When an organization such as ours reports a zoning violation to the building department, the city investigators, clerks, and so forth are immediately put to the necessity of a thoro investigation, the serving of notices and the preparation of a file upon which to base a subsequent prosecution. All this is expensive, and is caused only by a willful disregard for a city ordinance.

Our thought is that if the violator does not comply peaceably and causes the institution of legal proceedings, then the judges of the Municipal court should, if finding of guilty is had, assess at least a minimum fine plus cost so that the entire burden does not fall upon the taxpayers.

We trust that you will continue to investigate situations such as this.

WILLIAM J. WILSON,
Hyde Park Property Owners, Inc.

AN EASY OUT FOR POLITICIANS.

Chicago, July 2. — In the proposed Burke-Wagner conscription bill, in the section which allows for certain political exemptions, there is also an allowance for exemption if "one is engaged in work which is necessary to the public health, safety, or welfare." This is just another way of saying that one is exempt if he knows the right politicians. Why any exemptions at all? What work can there be for which replacements cannot as easily be found as for fighting? Why should those so unfortunate as not to have jobs, or so unlucky as not to have the best jobs, be the first ones who must lay down or offer their lives to protect these exemptees? Inasmuch as we are copying Messrs. Hitler, Stalin, and Mussolini, why not go the whole hog and make every one enter the army? MARK TABER.

DIVORCE LAWS.

GLASGOW, Scotland, May 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On the assumption that like most newspapers in Scotland here you run a column giving free legal advice, I am taking the liberty of writing you to see if you can help me. I have tried every other source I know in this country but without success, and I should be very grateful if you would fill in the answer column of the enclosed questionnaire and return to me.

1. Can a person living in Scotland secure a divorce thru United States courts without returning to Florida, U. S. A., where marriage took place? That is, can a divorce be secured thru correspondence between Scotland and Florida, U. S. A.?

2. Further, if it is necessary to return to the United States, could a divorce be obtained in New York, remembering that this marriage took place in Florida, U. S. A.?

3. On what grounds can a divorce be obtained in the state of Florida?

4. What is the average cost of an uncontested divorce suit? E. J.

1. It would not be necessary that the divorce be handled where the marriage took place, but in general it should be handled where the complainant resides, altho Illinois also authorizes the proceedings here if the cause for divorce occurred here. Hence, the answer is no.

2. Yes, if you as the complainant, establish a legal residence in New York and prove a ground satisfying the New York statute.

3. The grounds for divorce in Florida are: [1] Parties within degree prohibited by law; [2] natural impotence; [3] adultery; [4] extreme cruelty; [5] habitual indulgence in violent and ungovernable temper; [6] habitual intemperance; [7] willful, obstinate and continued desertion for one year; [8] divorce in any other state or country; [9] either party had a husband or wife living at time of marriage [4983].

4. The attorney's fee would be the largest item and we are not in a position to estimate this. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

REAL ESTATE MORTGAGE.

Chicago, June 13 [Legal Friend of the People].—A person has his home under the Home Owners' Loan corporation for a mortgage of $2,000. He owes a man some money and this man threatens to pay up the mortgage and get the house. Is that possible? J. B.

If the creditor reduces his claim to judgment, he could subject the judgment debtor's equity to an execution sale and ultimately he would presumably acquire a clear title by paying the HOLC mortgage if the original owner does not, within 15 months, redeem from the execution sale.

PUBLIC HEARINGS ON CAR LINE PLAN OPEN WEDNESDAY

Council Group to Hear All Factions.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Public hearings on Chicago's unified traction ordinance will begin Wednesday and will continue daily until all parties wishing to appear have been heard. This was announced yesterday by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the city council's local transportation committee, which will conduct the hearings.

Quinn said that 1,000 copies of the ordinance proposal will be mailed to civic organizations, neighborhood associations, banks and any other groups and persons requesting them.

One System Set Up.

The proposed ordinance, whose terms were agreed to by the city and the transit lines May 25 after a 13 year dispute, grants a franchise to one unified system, the Chicago Transit company. It will operate all surface, bus and elevated lines and the eight mile city-owned subway now being built. The agreement provides that the company keep present rates of fare at least until 1942, and spend 102 million dollars in the next eight years for modernizing and extending Chicago's transit facilities.

This program will include more than 250 miles of new local and express bus routes and substitution of buses for street cars on about 300 miles of present trolley routes. More than 4,000 new street cars, buses and subway-elevated cars are to be bought to carry out the eight year plan.

Quinn said the referendum vote on the ordinance, which is required by law, will not be held until mid-September. City officials had previously hoped to hold the vote in August. Quinn explained that the city wants to give car riders, aldermen and all interested groups ample time to be heard.

May Vote About Sept. 20.

Under the plans outlined by Quinn the ordinance will be sent back to the local transportation committee by July 22, following the public hearings. The committee then will vote on the ordinance, section by section, and if it is passed, send it to the council by Aug. 1. The council then will have a week or 10 days to study the ordinance. The council is expected to bring it to a vote on Aug. 10, Quinn said.

If the council approves the ordinance, it must give 40 days' notice of the referendum, which would make the date of the public vote about Sept. 20.

During the 40 day period, moreover, the franchise ordinance must be sent to the federal court, which has jurisdiction over the transit lines, for submission to the 75,000 securities holders. These holders have 30 days to accept or reject the franchise. If they approve it, then the referendum can be held; if they reject the franchise, the vote would have to be canceled. Negotiators for the lines named by the federal court have agreed to the franchise terms, however, and the investors are expected to accept the plan.

Majority Approval Needed.

The referendum will be a special election on the franchise question alone and all of Chicago's 3,648 polling places will be open, Quinn said. A majority approval of those voting is required for passage. The estimated cost of the referendum is $300,000, to be paid from the city's traction fund.

The full ordinance will not be printed on the ballots, but a sentence will be carried, saying the ordinance would grant a terminable permit to the Chicago Transit company to operate Chicago's transportation system.

Quinn said that he and Philip Harrington, city traction commissioner, together with financial officers of the transit lines, will go to Washington, D. C., Monday to confer with the Reconstruction Finance corporation on a proposed loan to the new company. The 102 million dollar improvement program is planned on the assumption that an initial loan of 25 millions can be obtained from the RFC.

KILLS DAUGHTER IN CONVENT AND SHOOTS HIMSELF

Valhalla, N. Y., July 4 (AP).—Joseph Moshell, 47 years old, wounded and still in his American Legion uniform, was held tonight on charges of first degree murder in the slaying of his daughter Melba, 15, before the gaze of the sister superior in the Episcopal convent of St. Mary's in the Field.

State troopers, who found Moshell on the floor with a self inflicted bullet wound near his heart, said he had entered the convent with a box of candy, asked for his daughter and when she entered the room he shot her thru the heart and turned the gun on himself.

The girl was committed by juvenile court to an institution in Philadelphia on June 6 and removed to the convent when she complained her father was "pestering" her.

Moshell lives in Philadelphia where he operates a chain of dry cleaning shops.

Burglars Get $1,950 Gems in Manufacturer's Home

While he and his wife were attending a holiday celebration yesterday afternoon, jewelry valued at $1,950 was taken from his flat, Michael S. Apter, 5232 Hyde Park boulevard, told the Hyde Park police last night. Apter, who is president of the M. S. Apter Manufacturing company, 552 West Harrison street, said he found the rear door unlatched, but did not remember whether he had locked it when he left. The loot included two platinum bracelets and an engagement ring.

OREGON LAUNDRY OPERATOR DIES.

Oregon, Ill., July 4 (Special). — Fred Knodle, who operated a laundry here many years, died last night. Funeral will be held Saturday.

Brooks, Green Warn: Prepare

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Preparedness is the greatest issue in America today, Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for United States senator, said yesterday on his return to Chicago from the east. And he asserted that the Willkie - McNary ticket is exceptionally strong—picked by plain people in an unbossed convention—and will appeal to citizens in all walks of life.

Wayland Brooks.

At the Republican national convention in Philadelphia last week Brooks, as Illinois member of the resolutions committee, made a fight which strengthened the national defense plank. At the instance of the 58 Illinois delegates he battled in committee for a plank patterned on the one adopted by the Republican state convention at Springfield.

Praises Convention Choice.

"I think the convention made the finest possible ticket for the campaign," Brooks said. "It was entirely the choice of the people. It was not dictated in any sense by political leaders or political organizations.

Efforts by the New Deal to bring public utilities into the campaign as an issue will be unavailing, Brooks declared. Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for President, on Monday resigned his $75,000 job as head of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, to make his campaign.

"A smear campaign on Mr. Willkie will not work," Brooks said. "He never was a speculator in utility stock. He merely proved that by honest and intelligent management of a great utility he could lower the cost to the consumer and increase the service to the consumer to a greater extent than the government could in managing utilities. And in addition he could still pay tremendous taxes to help maintain the government.

"The selection of Mr. Willkie and Senator Charles L. McNary for Vice President is in complete recognition of the farm problem, a major problem in Illinois.

Champion of Farmers.

"Senator McNary has long been a champion of the farmers. For years the Republican party was criticized by agriculture because the Republican administration refused to follow the principles laid down by Senator McNary. Now the party has named the author of the farmers' bill [the old McNary-Haugen bill] as party candidate for Vice President, guaranteeing the farmers' point of view will be completely recognized in the next administration."

Prophetstown, Ill., July 4 [Special].—Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor, told an audience here tonight that self - government is on trial thruout the world, and that American people now must decide whether to fight to keep their form of government or permit it to become "a part of the wreckage of history."

Dwight H. Green.

Green, who also addressed a large Fourth of July crowd here last year, said that the American choice lies between arbitrary government and self-government.

"What can we do?" he asked, then answered his own question.

Must Correct Wrongs.

"We must make democratic principles work or we shall lose them," Green asserted. "We must efficiently meet the needs of our people—we must see the wrongs and correct them. We must draw into our government the best men and women which our nation can produce.

"We are here today to restore our vision and to rededicate our souls to the preservation of self-government as set down on this continent 164 years ago. We are able to meet our problems; we can solve them.

"While we are celebrating our Independence day, what about Europe? There on July 14 the people of France will awaken on their traditional day of independence and realize that they have no independence to celebrate.

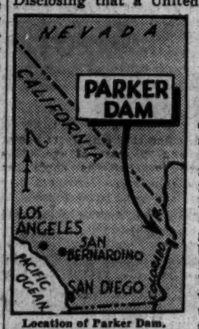
Green Asks Strong Army.

"Today our citizens must do their part. It is up to us to maintain our form of government and to make it stand invincible against the world. Not alone with armies and navies and air forces—tho we must have a strong army, a two ocean navy and the strongest possible air force to protect those rights from force from without—but we must protect our self-government by making that self-government work."

Earlier in the day Green also spoke at Aledo.

SABOTEURS HUNTED AFTER BLASTS AND FIRE AT PARKER DAM

San Bernardino, Cal., July 4 (AP).—Disclosing that a United States reclamation service warehouse at Parker dam had been destroyed by explosions and a fire June 28, Sheriff E. L. Shay said here that an investigation had been started into possible subversive activities in the entire Parker dam area.



Location of Parker Dam.

Shay said the fire destroyed $100,000 worth of equipment for power lines linking Parker dam powerhouse up river and for tunnel drilling crews piping water into Arizona.

In the ruins of the warehouse, said Shay, searchers found parts of what may have been a timing device for an infernal machine. He added that when firemen attempted to use fire nozzles they discovered that the equipment had been plugged with iron bolts.

FINDS THE COLD NOSE SCARCELY KNOWS A COLD!

Dr. Arnold Tells of 5 Years' Study.

Anyone who can adjust his body so that his nose stays cool in a cold shower has just about insured himself of immunity to the common cold. This revelation was announced yesterday by Dr. Lloyd Arnold, head of the department of bacteriology and public health at the University of Illinois school of medicine.

Dr. Lloyd Arnold.

For five years Dr. Arnold and his associates have been studying the causes of colds. They believe their discovery of the relationship between temperatures of the mucous membranes and cold susceptibility will be an important step in developing immunity to colds.

Nose Temperature the Key.

The temperature of the nose is the key to the whole problem. What to do about it is so simple that Dr. Arnold is frankly skeptical of how his findings will be received.

First, he and his associates found that most people can be classified in three groups with respect to immunity: [1] those who never contract colds; [2] those who get sniffles two or three times a year, most often in the winter, and [3] those who have colds most of the time.

Experiments then showed that the noses of those who were immune cooled off a degree or two in a cold bath and became warm in a warm bath. Those who had occasional colds showed the same characteristics, but the reaction was delayed. Their noses took a long time to come back to normal.

Noses of those who have colds persistently behave in an astonishing manner. They become warm in cooling baths and cool in hot baths.

How to Cool Off Your Nose.

It was found that in many cases patients could develop normal noses and acquire partial immunity by taking cold showers night and morning.

The beneficial effects of returning noses to normal, he said, can be increased by diet and mental tranquility. Depletion of carbohydrates was found to result in an increased immunity to colds. Training in the prevention of worry also was found to be beneficial.

"If cold water, diet, and mental tranquility had a little more glamor about them," Dr. Arnold said, "colds might be materially reduced by our discoveries. Popular fancy, however, inclines toward mysterious serums in syringes."

N. Y. TESTS SHOW BIG CHICAGO NEED FOR SUPERROADS

Continuous Driving Lanes Speed Up Traffic.

BY HAL FOUST.

This is a detailed report showing how automobile driving times between various points in Chicagoland would be shortened were Chicago to get superhighways comparable with those of New York City.

[Today's report is the second of two on a survey made in the Tribune's road car. New York's superhighway system was discussed yesterday after it was traveled in the Tribune car.]

How Times Were Compared.

Trips in five directions from the Chicago loop were clocked with the cooperation of the Chicago Motor club. The times and distances then were compared with two test drives from Manhattan—one north from the tip of the island over the west side elevated highway, Henry Hudson parkway, and into Connecticut on the Merritt parkway, and the other over the East River drive, across the Triborough bridge, and east on Long Island on the Grand Central parkway and the Northern State parkway.

The results of these test runs follow:

CHICAGO—From State and Madison streets 7.8 miles west to the city limits by way of Washington boulevard required 37 minutes.

No Lights Encountered.

NEW YORK—The same time—37 minutes—took the Tribune car 22.2 miles north into Westchester county; on another run, of 37 minutes, The Tribune car reached a point in Long Island 21 miles from midtown Manhattan. To cover 7.8 miles on Manhattan's west side elevated highway and Henry Hudson parkway, thru the most heavily populated area in the world, required 13 minutes, compared with the 37 minutes thru Chicago's west side. Not a single traffic light, pedestrian, parked car, or crossing was met in the run.

CHICAGO—Continuing west in the first test run, St. Charles—36.6 miles from the loop—was reached in 1 hour and 7 minutes.

NEW YORK—An hour and 7 minutes took the car from lower Manhattan well into Connecticut, a distance of 44 miles, with only three stops to pay 10 cent tolls. In the same time 42 miles from midtown Manhattan to Fort Jefferson, Long Island, was covered. To travel 36.6 miles on this route required 59 minutes—and the speed never exceeded 50 miles an hour.

53½ Minutes to Chicago's Edge.

CHICAGO—Traveling northwest from the loop, in Clybourn and Elston avenues most of the way, 53¼ minutes was necessary to reach the city limits, 13.6 miles away.

NEW YORK—This distance [13.6 miles] to the north was covered in 23 minutes, and to the east in 22 minutes.

CHICAGO—From the loop to Barrington, 35.8 miles, the elapsed time was 1 hour and 13 minutes in non-rush hours, 1 hour and 27 minutes in the evening rush.

NEW YORK—Northbound travel required 57½ minutes for 35.8 miles and eastbound travel 58 minutes.

CHICAGO—It took 39 minutes to reach the southern city limits [15.6 miles] from the loop by way of Michigan avenue, Vincennes avenue, and Halsted street.

15.6 Miles in 25 Minutes.

NEW YORK—This distance [15.6 miles] north along the Hudson was covered in 25 minutes. The 15.6 miles from midtown Manhattan to Jamaica, Long Island, required 29 minutes.

CHICAGO—From the loop south 27.5 miles to Chicago Heights consumed 54 minutes.

NEW YORK—In a more heavily built up section to the north 27.5 miles took 45 minutes. The same time was made driving this distance east from New York to Saxon Woods park, Long Island.

CHICAGO—From the loop north to the city limits, via th outer drive and Sheridan road, the 10.9 miles was clocked at 27 minutes. Continuing north in Sheridan road to the Lake-Cook county line road in Highland Park, 22.3 miles required 51 minutes.

10.9 Miles in 18 Minutes.

NEW YORK—Along the Hudson, 10.9 miles was covered in 18 minutes. Along the East river, across Triborough bridge to the world's fair, 10.9 miles required 17½ minutes. Northbound in New York, 22.3 miles required 37 minutes; eastbound the time was 38½ minutes.

CHICAGO—South and then southeast from the loop by way of the outer drive and main extensions, the city limits [14.8 miles] were reached in 39 minutes. The 28.5 miles to Gary took 57 minutes normally and 1 hour and 4 minutes in rush hours.

NEW YORK—From lower Manhattan into Yonkers, 14.8 miles was driven in 24 minutes, with only one stop for a 10 cent toll. A distance of 28.5 miles, north, was covered in 47 minutes. To the east the same distance required 46¼ minutes.

Better time is made in New York, not by fast driving, but by continuous driving. In Chicago minutes are lost waiting for cross traffic and pedestrians. The same factors account for a higher death toll here than in New York.

CHICAGO'S MATERNAL DEATH RATE DECLINES SHARPLY DURING 1940

A further decrease in Chicago's maternal death rate was reported yesterday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health. There were 51 maternal deaths during the first six months of 1940, compared with 66 in the same period last year. The 1940 rate was 2.2 for each 1,000 live births, compared with 2.9 in 1939. Infant deaths numbered 701, compared with 834 in the 1939 period.

Heart disease, accounting for 6,830 deaths, remained the largest single cause of death. Heart diseases caused 380.8 of every 1,000 deaths during the last six months. The second most frequent cause of death was cancer, followed by nephritis and diabetes.

A total of 18,990 deaths from all causes were reported, compared with 19,131 during the first six months of last year. Births this year numbered 22,907, against 22,999 in the same period of 1939.

EDUCATORS URGE DEFENSE; BLAST REGIMENTATION

Ask Teachers to Develop Americanism.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 4.—Resolutions affirming that peace is the normal status among nations and is an ideal that educational systems should continue to promote, were adopted today by the National Education association in convention here. To maintain peace, the resolutions strongly advocated a degree of preparedness to "make the United States fully able to defend itself."

The series of resolutions were designated "fundamental considerations which should guide the profession in the present emergency."

No Opposition Appears.

They were adopted without opposition and discussion was limited to a few minor changes. An attempt to limit a phrase, which defined the ultimate line of national defense as being founded on the character of the country's citizens, by eliminating its last clause, "and not in the regimentation of youth characteristic of totalitarian countries," was voted down.

The argument that the reference to totalitarian countries added nothing to the resolution was disregarded.

There also was argument against a resolution deploring the pressure during depressions to force school boards to hire only local teachers. The resolutions committee explained that schools exist to promote the best interests of children and that teachers should be selected by merit rather than residence, so the statement was included.

Citizens' Day Approved.

The resolution also gave formal approval to the new ceremonial originating in Wisconsin known as Citizens' day and under the title of Recognition day commended organizations that have promoted it.

Resolutions recommended that schools give more attention to the profitable use of leisure and condemned the display of offensive literature.

The patriotic resolutions dealing with national defense, preparedness and the promotion of inter-American relationships were:

"The National Education association points out that peace is the normal status among nations and that educational systems should continue to promote the ideal of peace among men. At the same time, the association strongly advocates such preparedness as will make the United States fully able to defend itself.

Propaganda Condemned.

"Since education is essential to the maintenance of democracy, the National Education association insists that the defense needs of the country can and must be met without injuring youth by interrupting normal and necessary educational services.

"The association strongly condemns subversive propaganda which seeks to undermine our democratic ideals. Schools should continue to turn the searchlight of truth on alien ideologies so that Americans may know wherein democracy is superior. This same search for truth will enable us to locate weaknesses in, and to strengthen our democracy.

"The association advocates the full protection of the liberties guaranteed citizens by the bill of rights, at the same time recognizing the principle that liberties are preserved only by the acceptance of accompanying responsibilities. Democracy cannot be successfully defended if these essential elements are abandoned."

POLICE GET TWO-WAY RADIO.

Kankakee, Ill., July 4 [Special].—Two-way police radio communication was inaugurated in Kankakee county today. Both city and county police put transmitters and radio equipped cars into service.

BUSINESS KEEPS BIRTH RECORD BUREAUS BUSY INVESTIGATING STAFFS

American business concerns, investigating the citizenship status of their employés, are keeping the birth certificate departments of the county clerk's office and the board of health busy. During June the clerk's office issued 1,141 certificates, and the board issued 1,920. Comparable figures in June, 1939, were 561 and 765.

"Three-fourths of the requests that reach us come from auto plants in Michigan and airplane factories in California," said Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health. "Apparently they want to be sure their workers are citizens. Prospective tourists to Canada also are asking for certificates to be used at the border, as the dominion demands proof of citizenship."

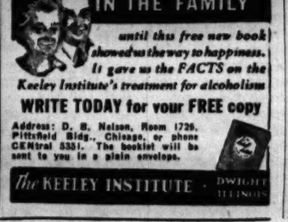
The two offices are involved because birth records were filed with the county clerk until 1916 and with the board of health afterward. A fee of 50 cents is charged for certified copies.

Swinging Trolley Wire Hits Street Lamp; Pedestrian Cut

When the trolley of a northbound street car left its cable yesterday it swung wildly and shattered the globe of a street lamp at State and Harrison streets. The falling glass struck Harold Smiffen, 62 years old, 735 South State street, who was standing beside the light pole. He was cut about the head and neck and was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Louisiana Senators Vote 790 State Scholarships

Baton Rouge, La., July 4 (AP).—The Louisiana senate last night passed a bill to provide "board, room, lodging, books, and all fees" at four state colleges for 790 needy high school graduates.



2 MORE VICTIMS OF MICHIGAN CAR CRASH ARE DEAD

Two more Chicagoans died yesterday in St. Joseph's sanitarium, St. Joseph, Mich., as the result of an automobile crash Tuesday which killed Ernest S. Hough, 5335 Magnolia avenue, the driver. Hough's car plunged off U. S. highway 12 and struck a tree a few miles south of St. Joseph.

Those who died yesterday were Mrs. E. S. Hough, 66 years old, his widow, and Miss Ida B. Turnbull, 68 years old, sister of Mrs. Hough. Mrs. Florence Brown, 60, of 4429 North Beacon street, the fourth passenger in the car, is in a critical condition at St. Joseph. Hough was vice president and treasurer of the American Cross Arm and Conduit company.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 429 persons have been killed in accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 321 were killed in Chicago, where 11,360 persons were injured in the same period.

CARL W. HERTEL, PUBLISHER, DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Carl W. Hertel, president of the Implement Trade Journal company, publishers of farm implement magazines, died yesterday of pneumonia in St. Francis hospital, Evanston. He had been ill three weeks.

Mr. Hertel was 69 years old. He had lived at 196 Myrtle street, Winnetka, for the last 20 years. He was born in Coldwater, Mich., and was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1892. After leaving college he worked for the Western Electric company as an electrical engineer, later became sales manager of the Meade Cycle company, then entered the publishing field. In 1900, as an advertising salesman, he joined the company he headed at his death.

Mr. Hertel leaves two sons, Robert E. and David H.; a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Archbold, and a grandson. Services will be held tomorrow in Coldwater.

W-G-N PRESENTS 1ST SHOW IN NEW SERIES OF PLAYS

Will Dramatize City as World Crossroads.

From W-G-N and the coast to coast stations of the Mutual Broadcasting system last night was heard the premiere of a radio show that in future months will dramatize Chicago as a world melting pot and the crossroads of the nation.

The new show, "Chicago Tonight," was presented by a notable cast in the main studio of W-G-N before a holiday audience, including many specially invited guests. In the spirit of the day, the first performance was patriotic in motif.

Play Written for Occasion.

The play was "Man with a Country," written for the occasion by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan, distinguished novelist and screen writer. It was produced by William A. Bacher, director of programs and production at W-G-N.

Future programs will present the newest music, outstanding personalities of the night clubs, and headliners of the screen who pause in Chicago en route between New York and Hollywood. Next Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock, "Chicago Tonight" will present a radio preview of "Tom Brown's School Days."

wicke, and Jimmy Lydon—the stars of the picture—will take part in the broadcast. All Chicago Tonight shows will be given in W-G-N's main studio before an audience of 600 on Thursday nights at 9:30 o'clock.

Story of New Citizen.

The première presentation told the story of a man born in another land; a man to whom American citizenship meant so much that he was willing to risk his life and happiness in carrying out the pledges he had made in taking oath as a citizen. The play opened with dramatic administration of this oath in federal court.

Above the voices of the other new citizens, chanting their citizenship pledge, could be heard the broken English of Chris—played by Lin Borden. His first act is to cancel $2,000 worth of his new country's bonds, which he has bought with his savings. He has been told to exercise his franchise wisely. In investigating a gangster candidate for alderman Chris uncovers the candidate's unsavory past and is beaten up.

He makes so much of his new citizenship that his fiancée, Helen—played by Fran Carlon—all but throws him over. She tells him his life is in danger and tries to persuade him not to vote.

Interviews the President.

But vote he does, for the honest candidate, and is beaten to within an inch of his life. His protests, and determination that his ballot be counted, lead him eventually to an audience with the President of the United States. The dishonest election is upset—because of the efforts of one earnest, foreign born citizen.

Others in the cast besides Miss Carlon and Mr. Borden were Stan Gordon, Tom Post, Bret Morrison, Donna Reade, Willard Waterman, Stan Harris, Al Halus, Marvin Mueller, John Walsh, and Malcolm Meacham.

FRENCHMEN KEPT IN DARK BY LACK OF WORLD NEWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BORDEAUX, France, July 3 [Delayed].—The average citizen here and in other occupied areas is almost completely in the dark as to what is happening in the outside world today.

There are no foreign newspapers and only a very few persons possess radio sets capable of receiving broadcasts from other countries. Consequently, much gossip and many rumors are circulating which deceive thousands of persons.

Newspapers are being published, but only under heavy censorship. They are devoted chiefly to official announcements, editorials, and news of the city. For the unoccupied areas, however, Adrien Marquet, minister of interior, plans a daily news bulletin to be posted in all courthouses and city halls in the unoccupied areas of the country.

May Resume Broadcasting.

WIESBADEN, Germany, July 4 (AP).—The German-French armistice commission agreed today that the French may resume broadcasts by stations within the unoccupied area of France. The French government is to take full responsibility for whatever may be broadcast; there will be no German censorship.

1,600 Acres of Timber Burned in Glacier Park

Missoula, Mont., July 4 (AP).—Fire scattered by high winds today burned over more than 1,600 acres in Glacier park, four miles north of Nyack, and the flames raged unchecked. All available men in Glacier park and the Flathead national forest were on the firelines, and at noon a hundred more were recruited in Libby and Missoula and rushed to battle the flames.

Fall Breaks Fireman's Rib as He Fights $2,000 Blaze

Fireman Gregory Maher of engine company 77 was injured in a fall yesterday while fighting a 2-11 fire at the Nebraska Bridge Supply and Lumber company at 1001 South Pulaski road. The origin of the fire, which caused $2,000 damage, was not learned. Traffic on Pulaski road was tied up for an hour. Maher, who lives at 1023 Leamington avenue, was taken to St. Anthony's hospital with a fractured rib.

IDENTIFY LAKE VICTIM.

The body of a man recovered Wednesday night from the lake near the pumping station of Great Lakes Naval Training station was identified yesterday as that of John Palo, 60 years old, 845 Helmholz avenue, Waukegan. Palo, a WPA worker, had been missing since June 21.

NORTH WESTERN RAIL EMPLOYES BUY IRON LUNG

Employés of the North Western railroad have raised funds by popular subscription to buy a mechanical respirator which will be available without cost for emergency infantile paralysis cases anywhere in the territory served by the road.

This was announced yesterday by L. C. Reuter, commander of North Western post of the American Legion. He said the "iron lung" will be kept in readiness at the station, so that it may be placed on a train to be taken to any point where it is needed. It weighs about 1,000 pounds and is designed for adult use."

Funds were raised thru the Legion post. The committee which will purchase the respirator consists of Dr. Irving S. Cutter, medical director of the railroad, chairman; F. G. Fitz-Patrick, W. G. Burns, W. H. Roberts, P. N. Martin, J B. Barkelar, J. Fischer, O. A. Snedekor, and Reuter.

THREE LEADERS OF NEW JERSEY BUND ARRESTED

Andover Township, N. J., July 4 (AP).—Augustus Klapprott, manager and president of the New Jersey German-American bund, and two other bund officials were arrested by sheriff's deputies at Camp Nordland today and charged with violation of a state law banning meetings which "promote hatred."

They were arrested shortly before a bund Independence day celebration was to start.

Held with Klapprott were Wilhelm Kunze and Mathias Kohler. Kunze is successor to imprisoned Fritz Kuhn as fuehrer of the bund. Nordland is a separate corporation affiliated with the bund.

Wilbur V. Keegan, attorney, entered pleas of innocent on their behalf and they were committed to the Sussex county jail by Justice of the Peace Charles Van Ness in default of $1,000 bail each pending grand jury action. Justice Van Ness refused to accept camp property as bond and committed them when a two hour deadline for raising the cash expired. Twelve hundred bund members and guests at the camp poured out bills and silver in response to an appeal for bail money broadcast in German over a public address system.

MONTREAL, Quebec, July 4 [Special].—Safely out of threatened England, 650 children arrived by ship here tonight, the second contingent to reach here in two days. They will find homes in Canada and the United States.

Among the children were the niece and nephew of Queen Elizabeth—Davina and Simon Bowes-Lyon, children of the queen's brother, David Bowes-Lyon. Accompanied by their grandmother, Mrs. Spender-Clay, they are bound for the United States, where they will be cared for in the home of J. P. Morgan. Davina is 10 years old and Simon is 8.

Among the arrivals was a party of 110 girls from St. Hilda's school, escorted by nuns of the high church of England.

WE WILL DEFEND OUR NEUTRALITY, IRELAND WARNS

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 4 (AP).—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera reaffirmed tonight the neutrality of Ireland and said the government "is resolved to maintain and defend it." He issued this statement:

"In order to prevent misapprehension which may have been created by recent press and wireless statements, I desire to repeat that the government has no intention of departing from the policy of neutrality announced last September as representing the will of the Irish people.

"The government is resolved to maintain and defend the country's neutrality in all circumstances."

The Fate of the Darmenys

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Madge Darmeny, a childless widow, finds she has but a few months to live and sends for her nearest relatives, her own niece, Leda, and her husband's nephews, Frank and Geoffry. She wants to select the most deserving heir unbeknown to them. Pretending she has to retrench financially, she suggests they all live with her on her large estate. Amelia Pennyfather, a distant cousin and an eavesdropping old maid, already lives with Madge. Leda is married to Frank, but is having an affair with Geoffry, who is unprincipled, but has managed to become Madge's favorite thru his flattery. Frank has an 8 year old daughter, Betsy, by a former marriage, and Shirley Westall, Madge's secretary and close neighbor, is acting as Betsy's governess. Frank, miserable because he has suspicions of Leda and Geoffry, sees the sweetness of his first wife in Shirley and falls in love with her, but because of his high moral standards, he does not declare his love. Shirley, devoted to Betsy, sympathizes with Frank and soon finds her sympathy turning to love. Madge, anxious for Geoffry to settle down, suggests that he marry Shirley. Geoffry, tiring of Leda, and anxious to stay Madge's favorite, pays court to Shirley. Leda gets jealous, and after a number of fits of rage, Madge begins to see her and Geoffry in their true light and decides to change her will in which she has left Geoffry most of her estate. Amelia eavesdrops and hears about the new will and about Madge's ill health. Having a crush on Geoffry, she tells him what she has heard. He gets Madge's keys to her safe and reads both wills. The new one which is to be signed that week, has left the estate to Frank. Geoffry is wild and in a fit of temper starts out to the Westall cottage to see Shirley. Frank, who has been there to see Mr. Westall, who is an old friend of his, comes out of the house with Shirley. Geoffry waits for him until Shirley goes back in the house, then waylays him and threatens to get Shirley as he got Leda. Frank knocks him down, loosening Geoffry's front teeth. Later Frank confronts Leda with Geoffry's accusation and she goes into a tantrum, admitting to both Frank and Madge her love for Geoffry. Geoffry goes to the city to see his dentist and Madge waits up to talk things over with him. When he returns he insults his aunt, and she is so shocked by his behavior she is upset and asks Geoffry to get her medicine drops for her. Deliberately he gives her an overdose, and he knows the new will is not to be signed until Friday.

INSTALMENT XXXV.

BEECHBOURNE GHOST.

The mistress of Beechbourne was dead.

The silence in the room was awesome. Except . . . had something stirred?

No, there was nobody in the passage.

He came back and, keeping his eyes from the still figure in the chair, brought the little water jug and the bottle of medicine to the desk, where he used a handkerchief carefully to remove the possible imprints of his own fingers. He hadn't quite the hardihood, however, to make a new impression with the dead hand of Madge Darmeny.

But it was scarcely necessary to go to such lengths.

Her death was expected, wasn't it? And if an overdose was suspected, what more obvious that in failing to use the medicine dropper, she had given it to herself?

He remembered to leave the light on, too, and use his handkerchief on the door knob.

But when Geoffry Darmeny was safely out of that room where he had left death behind him, his craven cowardice threatened to undo him.

His knees began to sag; horror filled his being. Not because he had killed her, but at the remote possibility of the crime being brought home to him.

Should he make tracks back to London?

No, he mustn't act rashly. He must give himself a little time to think.

Somebody might have heard him come home, and if he went away again it might take too much explaining.

Whatever else happened, he must have a drink, and there wasn't any left in his room. He had finished the bottle last night after the fracas with Frank.

He went unsteadily into the dining room and didn't switch on the light. There was enough to see by from the hall. A decanter stood on the sideboard. Whiskey—brandy? He didn't care which it was. He poured himself half a tumberful and drank it down neat.

Ah, that was a little better! Presently it would fix him up; he could feel the warmth already stealing thru his veins. Another.

His hand went again to the decanter, but never reached it.

From somewhere, so close that he could almost have touched any human being from which it emanated, came a sepulchral, wailing groan, as of some soul in anguish.

Geoffry Darmeny, like everybody else, had heard of the Beechbourne ghost which only Gibson and Amelia Pennyfather claimed to have seen.

He took the stairs two at a time, with never a backward glance. When he reached his own room he switched on the lights, locked the door and threw himself across the bed, pulling the covers over his head to shut out sight and sound.

Downstairs in the dining room Geoffry had deserted so abruptly, a panel in the wall seemed to move slowly outwards, but it was really the door of the disguised cupboard Amelia Pennyfather had discovered.

All expression was washed out of her countenance. It was quite vacuous.

Her true consciousness knew exactly what had happened as well as if she had witnessed the scene with her eyes as well as her ears, but another part of her was denying that it could possibly have happened.

The intelligent, submerged half of her shuddered to think what the sequel would have been if her uncalculated groans had discovered her to Geoffry. That part of Amelia had no doubt that Geoffry would have murdered her as ruthlessly as he had taken the life of Madge Darmeny.

But the other Amelia Pennyfather was saying: "If it's true, it was just an accident."

It might not be true, however, and altho, as poor Madge had intimated, Amelia had sunk pretty low, she hadn't reached such depths that she would slink back to bed without making an effort to find out if there was any chance of reviving her benefactress.

With a trembling hand, she opened the door of the study and peered in.

One glance was all she took; it was quite enough.

Less swiftly than Geoffry had done, Amelia took the stairs. Indeed, she had to drag herself up by the bannisters, and stumbled at every step.

She was glad that she did not have to pass Geoffry's room on her way to Frank's.

Frank was in bed and asleep when she burst in.

He sat up, dazed with the sudden light and the apparition Amelia presented.

"What—who is it?"

"Frank, something's happened to Madge. I—I think she's dead."

He was out of bed with a bound.

"What—what's that you say? Aunt Madge—you think she's dead?"

Amelia began to gibber.

"I couldn't sleep and I lay there listening for her to come up. And—and then I went down. There was a light in the study. She's in there. It was her heart, Frank. That doctor said she only had a few months to live."

But Amelia was talking to the empty air.

Amelia ran distractedly from door to door, rousing everybody—except Geoffry. He wouldn't need anybody to call him.

Over and over again she babbled her story, how she had become uneasy when she didn't hear Mrs. Darmeny come up to bed, and went down to find her sitting in her chair in the study, dead. Gibson, Mrs. Lemon, the other women servants, and lastly Leda, all rushing into their dressing gowns and grasping only one point in Amelia Pennyfather's narrative—that the kind mistress of Beechbourne Park was dead.

Gibson had hard work to rouse the postmistress at Crane's Wood in order to get Dr. Jelks who, altho he had not attended Mrs. Darmeny personally for some time, was the nearest doctor and familiar with the household. It was he who had been called in for Betsy.

"It's a specialist in London she's been seeing recently," whimpered Amelia. "Mr. Barnes knows who he is. She was in a bad way and knew she might die suddenly."

Frank had made a brief examination and then he lifted the frail, lifeless figure of the old woman, who had been so gentle and kind and thoughtful for others, and laid it on the worn leather couch.

"There's nothing any doctor can do," he said. He tried to move them all away from where they were crowding the door.

Geoffry, when the alarm was raised, was still dressed, just as he had thrown himself on the bed and covered his head with the blankets, to shut out the possible repetition of the ghostly groans he had heard.

But it was no time before he became aware of the stir in the house, and jumping up to open the door a crack he heard Amelia going her hysterical rounds.

He tried to figure how long he had been upstairs. Five—ten minutes?

How had Amelia Pennyfather found out so soon?

Suppose she had come down a few minutes earlier? He remembered that rustling sound that had so startled him, and his face blanched. Could it have been Amelia? Could she possibly have whisked down the passage before he caught her? There hadn't been a sign of anybody when he looked out.

As these thoughts were racing thru his mind, Geoffry Darmeny tore off his clothing and got into his pajamas and the magnificent black and silver dressing gown, which had been a Christmas present from his aunt. He made the bed look as tho he had been sleeping in it, and then, fearfully, he hurried down to the lower hall.

Amelia saw him and that queer look of a sleepwalker came over her face again. She stepped aside with a cringing gesture and made no effort to tell him what was happening. He had to guess for himself, or pretend to know nothing.

IF YOU DON'T LIKE BARGAINS AVOID FRUIT COUNTERS

Vegetables, Too, Cheap This Week-end.

BY MARY MEADE.

If you don't care about putting up glasses of ruby colored jelly and jars of plump fruits, stay away from the grocery store this week-end. The very fine bargains in an impressively long list of fruits, which are at the peak of the season right now, will tempt you to scour up the preserving kettle in spite of yourself.

The strawberry season is already on the wane and pie cherries, sweet cherries, raspberries, plums and apricots are demanding canning table attentions. July is the month when the preserving kettle hardly has a chance to cool off between batches.

It's Time to Hustle.

Pie cherries, very nice looking plump ones, are now coming from Michigan. Illinois cherries are gone, and if you like to see your own cherry pickles and jellies on the table, it's time to hustle.

Apricots will be around in sufficient quantities for canning for another 8 or 10 days and plums should last at least two weeks, but they're both reasonable enough now for preserving and canning.

Raspberries are now coming mostly from Illinois and Indiana and they're down to quite a reasonable level. Sweet cherries, which won't be here much longer, are lower priced again this week-end.

Between sessions with the fruit jars, maybe you'll find time to bake the first green apple pie of the season. Summer's first cooking apples have been around for a couple of weeks and now they're getting down to a reasonable price level.

Booklets on Canning.

If you'd like information on canning, preserving and pickling these fruits, get my booklets, "Homemaker's Guide to Canning," [price 5 cents; by mail, 7 cents]; "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies," [price 20 cents; by mail, 23 cents]; and "Favorite Pickles and Relishes," [price 3 cents; by mail, 5 cents]. Send your stamps to Mary Meade to get them by mail, or pick them up yourself at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower.

The first Hiley Belle free stone peaches are coming to town and bringing lower prices with them. The first gooseberries, still a little high, are arriving from Michigan. Oranges are a little cheaper and blueberries, while still rather high, are carrying lower price tags.

Melon prices are dropping and cantaloupe is down. It's been said before, that melons are extra full flavored and juicy this year.

It's unusual to find so much really good asparagus available at moderate prices by this time of year. Asparagus is getting a little higher, but one can't complain of the price, when the quality is as extra as it's been.

Most Prices Lower.

And asparagus is the only price up great enough to mention in the entire vegetable market. Everything that's not already as reasonable as you could wish, is cheaper this week. A few items, including carrots and green corn, are still rather high, but for the most part you can't go wrong when you're selecting fresh vegetables.

Very low priced and very, very good looking are radishes, green onions and greens of all kinds. Low priced and of equally good quality are summer squashes, both yellow crooknecks and the flat white variety, green peppers, cucumbers, tomatoes, green beans, and bunch beets. Green peas are a very good buy and are the featured vegetable buy of the week in many stores. Lettuce is again down to a moderate price level.

Poultry is one of the best buys at the meat counter. Broilers, fryers, and stewing and roasting hens are all available. Leg of lamb is widely featured and rolled lamb and veal roasts are specialed in some stores.

Beef and Pork Higher.

In general beef and pork prices are up this week. The cheaper cuts in both are still good buys, however. Pot roasts, stewing beef and such pork cuts as spareribs are on the specials list at many stores. Smoked pork is a good buy anywhere.

For women who prefer to use fresh fruits on the table and leave their canning problems to the commercial canner, there are many good sales on canned fruits and vegetables. Bottled beverages and summertime picnic foods are attractively priced, too.

Corned Beef and Cabbage Fine in Picnic Hampers

Corned beef and cabbage can be carried in the picnic basket now—in salad form. Shred the cabbage, add finely sliced celery, onion, green pepper and cubes of tender corned beef. Combine with mayonnaise which has been thinned with French dressing. Chopped ripe olive and cucumber sandwiches make a grand accompaniment for this picnic salad.

Meringue Topped with Ice Cream

For a real party treat serve Blitz meringue with a topping of fresh strawberry ice cream. Dessert bridge addicts will especially enjoy it. To make the meringue sprinkle ¼ teaspoon salt over 4 egg whites, add vanilla, and beat to a stiff foam; then gradually beat in 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, until thoroly blended. Spread meringue on top of plain cake batter in 2 8 inch cake pans. Sprinkle ¼ cup shaved blanched almonds over the top. Bake in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees) for 1 hour, or until meringue is delicately browned and almonds toasted. Cool partially before removing from pans. Serve as soon as cooled cutting in wedges and topping with strawberry ice cream.

HERE IS AN IDEA FOR VARIETY IN SUMMER DRINKS

Afternoon refreshments present no problem to the hostess when there's a supply of sparkling carbonated beverages in the refrigerator, ready to serve at a moment's notice. These bottled drinks are exhilarating on warm days, and they're especially good when combined with fruit-flavored sherbets. Serve one of these pleasant thirst quenchers next time friends drop in for the afternoon.

1. Apricot sherbet with ginger ale, grape, lemon, lime, orange, or raspberry beverage.
2. Grape sherbet with root beer, or "cream" beverage.
3. Pineapple sherbet with grape carbonated beverage.
4. Pineapple milk sherbet with lemon, lime, or "cream" beverage.
5. Orange sherbet with grape, orange, or "cream" beverage.
6. Raspberry sherbet with lime, or raspberry beverage.
7. Banana, lemon, or orange sherbet with ginger ale, grape, lime, and lemon, pineapple or raspberry beverage.
8. Grape sherbet with ginger ale or grape carbonated beverage.

The Home Canner Finds July a Very Busy Month

This is a busy month for homemakers who like to do their own canning. If you are buying new fruit jars select those with wide mouths and straight edges. Be sure that the glass is clear and free from bubbles and flaws. Jars should be easy to wash. They may have the type of lids which require rubber bands or flat caps with a composition seal, which are fastened on with a separate screw band. Some jars have a glass top which is sealed with a clamp and jar rubber.

USE OF EVAPORATED MILK IN ICE CREAM CUTS DESSERT BUDGET

Ice cream made with evaporated milk is as easy on the budget as it is easy to eat. Butter pecan is a favored flavor.

BUTTER PECAN ICE CREAM.
[Serves Six.]

1 tall can evaporated milk
1 teaspoon plain gelatin
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup coarsely cut pecans
6 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla.

Scald milk in top of double boiler. Add gelatin which has been softened in 2 tablespoons of cold water. Cool. Melt butter and stir in pecans. Brown slightly. Cool. Put milk into tray of automatic refrigerator set at coldest temperature. When it begins to freeze around edge, remove to bowl and beat until stiff. Fold in nutmeats, sugar and vanilla. Return to tray and continue freezing.

TURN LEFTOVER FRUIT PULP INTO A TASTY PASTE

While you're busy filling the pantry shelves with glasses of homemade jelly, why not add a few jars of fruit paste to the supply? This paste is made from the left-over fruit pulp and may be used as candy or garnishes, in salads, fruit cocktails, and desserts. Or roll the strips of paste in flour and use for flavoring cakes, cookies and puddings.

FRUIT PASTE.

To each two cups of fruit pulp, add one cup of sugar. Boil this mixture until it is thick and clear, being careful not to scorch. Put the paste on a well-greased platter and let it stand until a film forms over the top; then put it on a cloth or cake rack and let stand until it loses its stickiness.

Cut the paste into one-inch squares or in strips, roll the pieces in granulated sugar, cover with waxed paper and pack into tin boxes or glass jars. Or sprinkle the paste with sugar, roll like a jelly roll, and wrap in heavy waxed paper before storing. Slice the roll when ready to use.

GELATIN MAKES FROZEN DESSERT A SIMPLE DISH

One of the simplest and most inexpensive frozen desserts that has been invented in some time is made from flavored gelatin. It's particularly good when made with lemon or lime ice.

LIME OR LEMON ICE.
[Made with Flavored Gelatin.]

1 package lime or lemon flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
¾ cup sugar
1¾ cups cold water
⅛ cup lemon juice

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Boil sugar and cold water together for 5 minutes. Add to dissolved gelatin. Cool slightly and add lemon juice. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray and freeze quickly for about one hour or until mixture begins to freeze at edges. Remove to bowl and whip until fluffy. Return to tray, freeze, and whip again after two hours. Freeze until solid. Makes about one quart.

RAISED GRAHAM NUT MUFFINS FOR YOUR LUNCHEON

Have you tried your hand at making "raised" muffins? These graham nut muffins are easily made and they are delicious as a luncheon bread or for breakfast.

GRAHAM NUT YEAST MUFFINS.
[Fourteen large muffins.]

1 cake compressed yeast.
4 tablespoons molasses or brown sugar
2 cups milk, scalded and cooled lukewarm
4 tablespoons melted fat
1 egg, well beaten
3½ cups graham flour
3¾ cups sifted white flour
2½ teaspoons salt
¾ cup chopped nutmeats

Dissolve yeast and sugar [or molasses] in lukewarm milk. Add fat, egg, graham and white flour gradually, using enough flour to make a thick batter. Add salt and nuts, beating in well. Beat until perfectly smooth. Cover and let rise until light, about 1½ hours. Fill well greased muffin pans about ⅔ full. Cover and let rise to fill pans, about ½ hour. Bake in moderately hot [400 degrees] oven about 20 minutes.

Fruit Flavored Ice Cubes Provide Taste and Color

Fruit-flavored ice cubes give extra taste and color to summer drinks. To make them pour a can of fruit-nectar into the cube freezing tray. For extra garnish drop a berry, cherry, bit of orange peel or mint leaf into each cube before freezing.

Satisfying!

[ADVERTISMENT]

TOLL HOUSE COOKIES GREAT WITH ICED TEA

Try this wonderful summertime combination. A tall tinkling glass of cooling iced tea and a plate of rich, tempting Toll House Cookies. Here's just the thing to serve for tea. Popular with everybody and so easy to prepare. Have you tried making those amazing Toll House Cookies? Here's the famous original recipe that never fails:

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet to the size of a pea as indicated on the wrapper. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop by half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies.

Everyone will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrapper. There is no substitute. Toll House Recipe on each wrapper. Other delicious recipes inside the wrapper! Or send for a Recipe Booklet. Free. Address: Semi-Sweet Chocolate Dept., 58 Hudson St., N. Y. C.

Old Friends to Join Sally at Cub Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

In reading all the letters from boys and girls who wanted to see the Chicago Cubs play Boston next Thursday, I came across a number of old friends—boys and girls who have attended previous parties and were waiting anxiously for the opening gun of this year's season. There were also a great many newcomers, and I was glad to hear from them.

Some of you youngsters eliminated yourselves, I'm sorry to say, by omitting from your letters the three bits of information I always want . . . name, address, and age. Often we have good letters from children who would be winners of invitations, except for the fact that they neglected to tell me who they are and where they live. I can't very well mail an invitation to anyone like that, can I?

One or two others wanted to know how much the parties cost. The answer to that is—"Not a penny." It's not even necessary to bring money for ice cream—if you have it—because refreshments are amply provided, as youngsters who have attended previous parties know.

Those of you who missed the news of the first party, or who find their names missing from the list of winners to be printed in the Sunday TRIBUNE—will find the announcement of our second party in my column, and I assure you it's a swell one!

Women World Wide
by Ruth DeYoung Kohler

NEXT Sunday, for the first time in the history of Mexico, women are scheduled to vote in the presidential elections. But they will not.

A constitutional amendment has been passed granting the feminine phalanx the right of suffrage. Press and radio have announced to the world that Mexican women at last have come into their own. But, barring a miracle, pretty girls will be the only women having a part in the election . . . and they will be simply stage setting for the two candidates, Leftist Manuel Avila Camacho and Rightist Juan Andreu Almazan.

President Lazaro Cardenas, who is sponsoring Camacho as the candidate of the Government party, pushed the suffrage amendment. But as the campaign has grown warmer and stormier, he can see no reason for injecting a new and unpredictable element—the feminine vote.

Consequently, it is reported, Cardenas and the rest of the politicians who passed the amendment in the national congress have made sure that it will not get the necessary ratification by two-thirds of Mexico's 28 states . . . at least in time for the Sunday elections. Protests are being answered with the masculine axiom that "woman's place is in the home."

Almazan has been hoping for the feminine vote because he is backed by the pious and middle class and, he points out, women generally are more pious than men.

But even Almazan has not been particularly enthusiastic about the support of Suffragette Esther Chapa, a woman lawyer who is a leader of the communist party in Mexico.

Both Camacho and Almazan claim to be friendly to the United States, champions of democracy against communism and Fascism. Both have grown up in the revolution, Mexico's 30 year old socialistic program now become respectable . . . both are army generals . . . both use their mother's family name last according to old Mexican custom. They even look alike. Perhaps the women would have had a hard time deciding between them.

And perhaps none of the vote, not even that of the army, will count too much on Sunday, for in Mexico votes are not tabulated until two months after the election and no governmeht has been able to resist the temptation of counting itself in. There is even rumor that President Cardenas will call off the elections at the last minute and name his own president.

THIS week in my radio broadcast I spoke of Abigail Adams and her interest in this subject of women's rights a century and a half ago. Abigail Adams was the wife of John Adams and the mother of John Quincy Adams. Surprising it is to find Mrs. Adams, at the time of the Declaration of Independence, urging her husband "to remember the ladies and be more generous and favorable to them."

While her husband was attending a session of the continental congress in Philadelphia, she wrote in a letter: "Please do not put unlimited power into the hands of husbands. Remember, all men would be tyrants if they could. If particular care and attention is not paid to the ladies, we are determined to foment a rebellion and we will not hold ourselves bound by any laws in which we have no voice or representation."

Altho joking in his answer about what might resolve itself into "the despotism of the petticoat," John Adams put a high estimate on the value of women in politics.

NO doubt Abigail Adams would have been unbelieving if she had been told—on the day she wrote that letter in 1776—that it would take American women 144 years to gain the privilege of the vote. She would have been interested in the equal rights plank just written by the Republicans in their platform, but she would have deplored sorely the discriminations that women have suffered in dictatorship countries abroad.

As if a reaction to the subjugation of women in Germany and Italy, a few countries, of recent months, have given women a voice they never before enjoyed.

Take the province of Quebec in Canada, for instance. Ever since 1834 Quebec women have gone without official participation in the affairs of their province. By law this spring they were given the vote in provin-

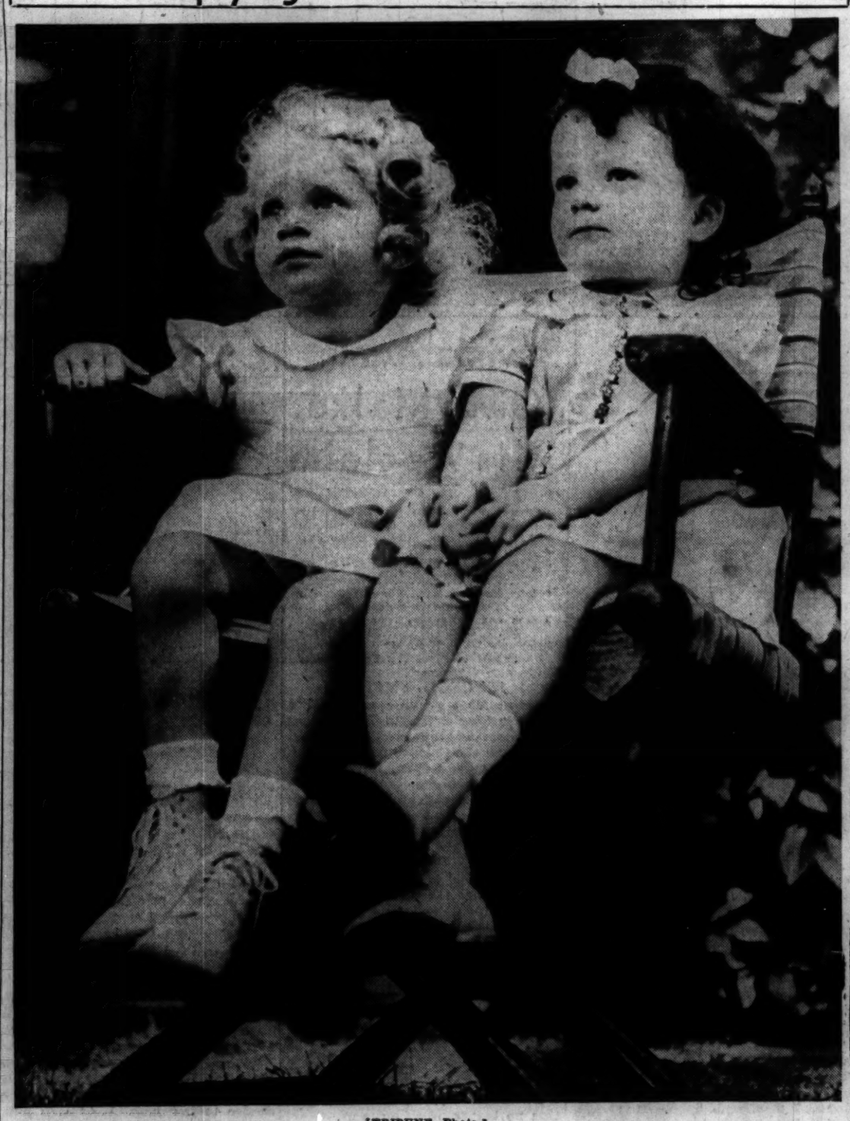
Enjoying a Safe and Sane Fourth



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Among the hundreds of children who enjoyed a safe and sane Fourth of July at country clubs were Bonnie Pietsch, daughter of the Richard F. Pietschs of Kenilworth, and Terry Huston, the Noyes Hustons' son of Winnetka, photographed at Glen View while watching the Punch and Judy show.

Ravinia Is a Place of Peace and Quiet After Hectic Fourth

BY JUDITH CASS.

FACES bright with 4th of July sunburn poured into Ravinia park last night to relax after what had been for most members of the audience, apparently, an active outdoor day. "No Fireworks Allowed in the Park" read signs at the entrances and, while no crackers were shot off near the band shell, there was a steady distant bang-banging that was drowned out only by the louder passages of the orchestra and the noisy applause for the guests.

Informality in dress continues to be the keynote of these Ravinia Festival association concerts, with evening gowns and wraps worn almost exclusively by the boxholders and their guests. There seems to be a strong hatless trend, and sweaters are popular covering, especially among the young. In that part of the audience that listens from the lawn, the art of knitting while the twilight lasts, at least, has been added to that of holding hands.

This season's antimosquito solution seems to smell oddly of shoe polish, but the odor disappears rapidly as the band shell fills.

Mrs. Malko Is Guest of the Percy B. Eckharts.

Mrs. Nikolai Malko was among the Percy B. Eckharts' box guests last night. Intermission conversation that group was largely in Russian, as the youthful wife of the conductor had as neighbors Col. George Voevodsky and his wife, and Albin Polasek, head of the sculpture department of the Art institute.

Mrs. Eckhart and Mrs. Malko wore furs. Near them, also in evening dress, sat a smart looking group of young Lake Foresters, the John B. Morses, the Hugh M. Johnstons, and the Alanson Donalds. They occupied the box Mrs. Morse's parents, the Donald R. McLennans, have taken for the season.

Also in evening dress was Miss Jean Armstrong, whose tanned complexion is due to a winter in Palm Springs, Cal., rather than to a sunny holiday. She was with her parents, the Horace W. Armstrongs, who are just back from their California home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse had as their guests the John A. Chapmans and the Sterling Mortons, two handsome couples. All three women wore short fur jackets despite the mild evening.

Others in the park last night included Mrs. Picher Purcell, her brother, Stanton Picher, and Dudley Kelly; the recently married Roger Dustin Shaws, Miss Patricia Dobson and her fiancé, John Clarke; Mrs. Howard Fenton, and the John Beattys.

Matter of Dress Is Problem at Arlington.

Sartorially speaking, a great part of the feminine contingent at Arlington Park yesterday had apparently been faced with two serious problems. How to dress coolly enough to guarantee comfort in the excessive heat and tremendous crowd; and how, at the same time, to show its patriotism on the 4th of July. White dresses with tricolor accessories were the answer to both questions.

Mrs. Ward Ames of Duluth, Minn., who, with Mr. Ames, was among the house guests of the Donald R. McLennans, wore a red coat and navy hat with red birds. Mrs. McLennan was dressed in a dusty pink and black print with matching turban which harmonized with the gray and dubonnet print of her other house guest, Mrs. Francis Shaughnessy of Jackson, Mich.

Edward Foss Wilsons Guests of His Parents.

Mrs. Edward Foss Wilson, who, with her bridegroom, was the guest of his parents, the Thomas E. Wilsons, wore "one of those tricolored affairs," a white fronted, blue backed skirt, red belt and navy sweater. Also sharing the Wilson box were Mrs. Robert Hunter in a black and

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, July 4.—Gene Fowler has adopted, for the purpose of obtaining his life story, a venerable and picturesque gentleman named Sada-Kichi Hartmann. Gene, the connoisseur of fabulous characters, has struck it rich in Hartmann.

Sadakichi, who is part Japanese and part Dutch, seems to have confused the government a bit. Anyhow, for several years he has lived on an Indian reservation. A first-rate intellectual, he once was Walt Whitman's secretary.

Recently Fowler took him to Fox's western studios to see a bit of "The Great Profile" being made. Hartmann was introduced to John Barrymore. "Hello, John," said he. "Your father was a pretty good actor."

Somebody asked Hartmann what he thought of Fowler's aesthetic powers. "Fowler means well," he said.

W. C. Fields, for whom Richard Carroll is working on a script at Universal, got a telegram from Jack Dempsey a couple of nights ago stating, "will fight you in Los Angeles Sept. 5." "Okay," wired Fields, "but can you get in shape?" . . . Hollywood's as daffy about station wagons as is the Connecticut countryside. Sometimes they call 'em beach cars here. On one beach car is lettered "no ranch yet." . . . Fox is excited about a new man who just signed up—Laird Cregar, who had the title rôle in the coast production of "Oscar Wilde." Cregar is along Laughton lines—big, with a booming, commanding voice. They tested him for roles in "The Californian"—which stems from "The Mark of Zorro"—and "Down to the Sea in Ships." . . . Bill Robinson in town, kind of hurt because Paramount put a woman in a role instead of himself. "They should have had me," says Bill, "because I could get 'em business down south."

One of the smarter producers out here was explaining why he snapped up the picture rights to a play. "Sure I bought it," he said. "I didn't want to die." And then he told a weird story about the playwright, who is well known for a couple of Broadway hits and who is convinced he can put the curse on people. Two people who have crossed him up have died tragically.

Newest producer is 29 year old Robert Carlton Sherwood, who dug up a set of money at a bank and is producing "Legacy," based on Charles Bonner's novel, on the Columbia set. No relation to and 3 inches shorter than Playwright Robert Sherwood—who is 6 feet 6—Robert Carlton is a reformed oboe player. He had two seasons with the Los Angeles Philharmonic. . . . Don Ameche is working in "Down Argentine Way," which is being made in technicolor. Says the brighter lights don't bother him in the studio, but they're tough in outdoor shots. They have to use even more powerful lights in exteriors—to kill the shadows made by the sun. . . . Interesting to see Broadway's calm, cold George Abbott being calm and cool on the RKO lot, where he's directing "Too Many Girls." He wears blue slacks and a blue sweat shirt and sits in a chair marked "director."

Random notion: Been working a week now and haven't once called this layout "the industry" in print or conversation. And if you think that isn't a record you ought to stay here a week.

Nancy Carroll, modeling in a charity fashion show this week, walked away with the door prize. . . . Mary Martin getting a bang out of betting 50 cents on a horse at Hollywood Park—four women, four bits a head, makes the $2 necessary for a bet—and in the next box Elsa Maxwell wagering fifties and hundreds. "I never have any money," says Mary. "They never give me any because I lose it out of my purse." . . . Nice to hear that old Robert Benchley Haw-Haw, so familiar at Broadway first nights, resounding thru a Universal stage. He's working in "Hired Wife" with Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne, and Virginia Bruce. . . . Drama Critic Richard Watts has been threatening to depart for Mexico, China, or New York for a week now, but hasn't gone. Too soothing out here. He reminded somebody of the time a Broadway press agent got a Hollywood job. The space grabber was given a farewell party at Sardi's—and then something held the job up. For weeks he slunk around Broadway, using back doors and side streets. Then George S. Kaufman encountered him. "Ah," said Kaufman, "forgotten but not gone."

Record Crowds Hear Concerts in Grant Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A vast number of Chicagoans and out-of-town visitors included a visit to the Grant park band shell among their Fourth of July observances. Altho the character of the audience area [wide, gateless, indefinite in extent] makes an accurate count impossible, it was announced that the crowd which came to the afternoon concert by Col. Armin F. Hand and his American Legion band was the largest matinée audience in the history of the Grant park concerts.

And in the evening A. F. Thaviu's band played before a sea of people that overflowed the park's generous seating capacity and spilled over onto the acres of lawn all about.

The printed programs of the two concerts were made up largely of standard music, with a generous number of excerpts from opera and operetta. However, they took on a Fourth of July character from the conductors' engaging habit of throwing in a sizzling march here and there as an encore or an extra number. The smart military uniforms in which Col. Hand's band appeared constituted another reminder of the holiday.

The afternoon soloists were Henry Thompson, tenor, and Edward B. Straight, drummer. Mr. Thompson returned in the evening to join Teresa Ferrio, soprano, in a duo. The other evening soloist was Paul Mallory, tenor.

cial elections and legislative assembly seats were opened to them. The law will take effect next Jan. 1. In years previous 13 bills asking such privileges for women failed even to reach the legislative council.

INCIDENTALLY, Mrs. Dorise Nielsen of Saskatchewan has just taken her seat as the only elected woman in Canada's house of commons at Ottawa. She represents the distressed farmers of northern Saskatchewan, who financed her campaign last winter and spring on nickels and dimes.

And a good representative she is, for she has lived their life, knows their hardships and privations. A tall, slender, mild mannered Englishwoman of 40, she has spent the last 13 years in a two room log cabin 22 miles from the nearest railway. The last three years she and her husband and their three children have been on relief.

In her maiden speech in parliament, she said, "I feel myself very much qualified to speak upon this question of relief. I had to feed a family of five—listen carefully—upon $11.25 a month."

THE spirit of adventure took Mrs. Nielsen to Canada after being graduated from good schools in England. She took the train as far as it would go and then traveled 53 miles back of the Canadian frontier by sleigh. She set up a schoolroom to teach the children of world war soldiers who had been given homesteads.

With one of these returned soldiers—Peter Nielsen—she fell in love. The story from there on was one of hardship for her. She campaigned for the local Coöperative Commonwealth federation, Canada's Socialist party, in the provincial election. This paved the way for her entrance into the federal Canadian election.

Now, as a member of parliament, Mrs. Nielsen and her family have more money than they've ever had—an annual income of $4,000. Mr. Nielsen is in Saskatchewan looking after the farm, but the children are with Mrs. Nielsen in Ottawa in their first brick house.

But Mrs. Nielsen is not forgetting the people who elected her. "I feel that I am an instructed delegate," she says, "sent to Ottawa to fight for the pressing needs of distressed western farmers. I am free to support any political group that sponsors the cause of my electors."

WITHOUT a fight—almost overnight—women of Turkey have stepped from the harem into parliament. Why this happened is explained by Bayan Mihri Pektas, one of the 15 women members of the national assembly.

"The men had such a big job in building a new nation that they needed our help," Miss Pektas points out, "so they broke down the traditions and laws which kept us secluded in harems. They gave us the right to vote and sit in the assembly because they needed our counsel."

Simple Frock for Matrons

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

There's flattery for mature figures in this simple daytime frock for matrons, whatever their age. It's a youthful dress, with its own bolero. One version makes the bodice of a contrast color, and gives the neckline a soft collar edged with plaiting. Polka-dotted material fashions the rest of the costume. Another design omits the bolero and also the collar, and uses a delicate print as the pièce de résistance. Both styles are pretty, and washable silks and cottons, plain and printed, are in order.

Style No. 3386 is designed for size 16, and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for jacket and skirt; 1⅝ yards of contrasting for top; 3¾ yards for dress of one material, with 1⅛ yards for jacket.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Universal Day—A lot of power on the loose today. Watch your step and don't be persuaded against your better judgment by the propaganda issuing from world "executives."

Universal Month—You might as well give in to the family demands on you this month. You should be having more freedom than usual this year so you can afford to be gracious and loving as well as unselfish this month. Share your good fortune. Those connected with community organizations should work for them. If you do go on a vacation, go domestic, but if you want to go alone, wait until August.

Universal Year—Those having birthdays today or are in an 8-year, probably are in the thick of events which are sweeping them on to the grand finale which comes next year. Make the most of this golden year of opportunities.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

A glamor-girl-special in the way of beach paraphernalia is a stunning pottery canteen of suntan oil. The theory of its creation and the legend the canteen bears is "Gentlemen Prefer Bronze."

It is quite a wonderful beach oil, quickly absorbed, and instead of the usual oily scent it has the luxurious perfume of gardenias. This alone puts it in a class by itself. Its purpose, of course, is to assist in obtaining an even, gradual tan without burning.

The container is inspired. It's a kind of a girl scout pottery canteen—but with the great difference of chic. It's gaily decorated with marine signal code flags and has a dashing red rope around it so that it can dangle from the shoulder as its owner promenades or make a smart splash of color on a cabana wall.

A perfumer who specializes in the scents of white flowers—she has a white violet, gardenia and white carnation among others in a family of perfumes that bear her name—has a new body sachet powder on the market. The scent is a white flower bouquet. Our guess is that carnation has a slight edge in the mixture and the result is divine. The powder is just off-white, very fine and ultra smooth. The fluffy sterilized puff [a nice large one] is treated so that it absorbs the lovely fragrance of the sachet powder and contributes no odor of its own—as some wool puffs do. The box is a beauty in shiny silvery blue, the price extremely low.

Ravinia Again Gives Malko Its Acclaim

"A Night on the Bare Mountain"..... Mussorgsky
"Qarrtsiluni".....Knudage Riisager
[First time in America.]
Theme and Variations, from Suite No. 3, G major.....Tschaikowsky
Symphony No. 6, B minor ["Pathetic"] .....Tschaikowsky

BY CECIL SMITH.

Except for a stirring performance of "The Star Spangled Banner" at the outset of the evening, Nicolai Malko and the Chicago Symphony orchestra presented at Ravinia last night a program wholly given over to Russian and Danish music. An austere novelty, "Qarrtsiluni," by the contemporary Danish composer Knudage Riisager, was played for the first time in America.

"Qarrtsiluni" is a tonal picture representing first the silence of Eskimos brooding thru the long dark winter, and later the impassioned song which comes to life as a result of their brooding. Riisager's music falls curiously upon American ears in 1940, for it is an offshoot of the barbaric primitivism employed a generation ago by Stravinsky in "The Rite of Spring." In recent years our own musical thinking has turned more in the direction of a renewed classicism and abstractionism, and this Danish score sounds like an echo of a past that no longer preoccupies us.

This is not to say that its style is not modern. Quite the contrary, it abounds in dissonance and in original, resourceful uses of orchestral timbres. In the early part of the work, during the depiction of the long silence, persistent trills are heard thru the orchestra, interrupted by sharp interjections of a three note figure, and enlivened by an obstinately repeated rhythmic pattern in the snare drum. Half way thru, these elements are replaced by a rather conventional melodic section. The climactic close, however, resumes the repeated drum figure, adding more percussion and the brass to the scoring, and works up to a smashing, harsh finish.

Mr. Malko conducted the score with apparent mastery, but this quickly ceases to seem novel, for he has evidently fully mastered all the music he conducts. In the more familiar works of Mussorgsky and Tschaikowsky he once again indicated the intelligent grasp of a large musical totality which had made his first concert impressive last Tuesday.

The performance of the "Pathetic" symphony, perhaps the best I personally have ever heard, restored to a much tortured masterpiece the nobility it once had before so many modern conductors started to distort it. Here were complete reasonableness, logic, and fluency. Melodies spoke eloquently for themselves, without frenzied assistance on the part of the conductor, and each movement was permitted to move easily toward a single forcefully planned climax.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Nash of Wilmette announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Francis Richard McVoy of Stratford place. Miss Nash is a graduate of St. Mary of the Woods college. Mr. McVoy is a graduate of Georgetown university. The wedding will take place in September.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: For some years I have noticed—with disapproval, often disgust—that you are highly chivalrous in your treatment of feminine mistakes. Every time you publish a letter signed by a Miss or Mrs. you pull your punches where the bids or plays of the actual correspondent are concerned and lambast her partner, who usually is masculine.

"Now I demand redress for my entire sex! I am bruised and bleeding from an encounter with an amazon partner and I expect you to tell her off properly, in print. She was the declarer [South] in the following hand:

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass

"West led the heart ten. My jack held and my dear, sweet, precious partner immediately took the club finesse to her jack. West won and, not unnaturally discouraged about the heart situation and seeing very little nourishment in the diamond suit, made the obvious switch to the queen of spades. Need I say that we lost four spade tricks, our contract, the game, and eventually the rubber?

"I very gently pointed out that the club finesse was a bad play—that the ace and king should have been laid down as a safety measure—and an avalanche hit me! Milady accused me of everything from double-dummy criticism to peeking into West's hand and noting the unguarded condition of his queen, with, of course, a lot of plain and fancy adjectives to embroider her point of view.

"Will you kindly take this matter in hand? And, mind you, this is no time for chivalry! L. B., New York."

I have an uneasy feeling that my criticism of declarer's play will not be nearly strong enough for my correspondent, who obviously is out for blood.

It is quite true that correct technique called for the laying down of the ace and king of clubs, rather than taking the finesse. If the club queen was in East's hand, where the finesse would succeed, declarer was in no danger. But for that very reason she should have cashed the ace and king, fully willing to let East then make his club queen if he had it. East could not attack spades, hence there was no danger in giving him the lead. And declarer needed only three, not four, club tricks to insure her contract. The crucial point was to take all possible precautions against West getting on lead. Obviously, these included guarding against a doubleton or singleton club queen in West's hand—the only condition declarer could control.

But in all fairness it must be admitted that this sort of safety play is not generally known or appreciated, hence I cannot be too harsh on the alleged "amazon." And anyway, just incidentally, why didn't my correspondent make the correct opening bid—one no trump—and play the hand himself?

Satin Sandals, Dance Slippers Are Last Word

BY REA SEEGER.

Summer dancing or party sandals and slippers must be graceful, decorative, and festive enough to accent anything in chiffon, cotton net or clinging silks. Every season new ideas arrive. This summer they are just about the most feminine affairs that have ever been unpacked. High slender heels, a maze of crossed narrow straps, and the flashing highlights of either silver or gold kidskin are composed into models of summer loveliness.

Brand new numbers, as daintily French as can be, are made of beautiful embroidered satin. Three exquisite color combinations offer realistic rose leaves and buds against the contrast of peach tint, pale sky blue, or sooty black. The roses are a particularly stunning shade of crimson with effective contrast of deep leaf green foliage. Besides being the most appealing pattern imaginable for summer evenings, these slippers will never be duplicated. There isn't any more of the satin available.

Heels are covered with the same embroidered satin, making the most romantic dancing slippers to be found in town. Wear them with chiffons, with wide fluttering skirts of organdy, with lace costumes, as well as with the more sophisticated gowns of silk jersey.

Other summer sandals in white satin are trimmed with gold kidskin, the heels a new high fashion, the vertical lines of matching gold leather making them appear even more slender. Such slippers are ready for tinting to match difficult colored gowns. And if you're still sold on wedgies, see the new satin and kidskin trimmed beauties.

white print, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Williams.

Miss Margaret Elizabeth Hecht, who attended the races with her parents, the Frank A. Hechts of Barrington, had a red, white, and blue vertical stripe dress. They were accompanied by their house guest, Miss Anne Barrett Walten of Baltimore.

Mrs. Robert Levy of New York, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz, wore a blue and white polka dot dress and red coat. She shared her parents' box with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carruthers of Versailles, Ky., and their young nephew, Jimmy Bond; Mrs. Leona Hertz, and Mr. Levy.

Mrs. Samuel J. Maddin of Buffalo, N. Y., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Eugene P. Williams of Oak Park, was dressed in a red and white blouse and white skirt and carried a blue purse. Mrs. John D. Allen carried out the patriotic theme in a blue skirt, white blouse, and red bolero. She and Mr. Allen were hosts to Mrs. Melville Flinn, the Aubrey Mellingers, and their house guest, Mrs. Helen Ware of New York; Mrs. Fred Gallagher, and Mrs. John L. Kellogg.

Prenuptial Parties Given for Abbie Kendall Poole.

There are dozens of parties being given for Miss Abbie Kendall Poole and John Magill of Chambersburg, Pa., who are to be married next Tuesday night. The bride's sister, Mrs. John Dennehy, and Mr. Dennehy are giving a barbecue picnic at the Dennehy farm near Waukegan on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Zachary Davis will entertain at cocktails tomorrow afternoon for Miss Poole. The bride's mother, Mrs. Marshall George, and Mr. George will give the bridal dinner on Monday night.

The wedding is to take place at 8:30 o'clock in the evening at the Graham Taylor chapel, with a reception following at the South Shore Country club. Mrs. Dennehy will be her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be another sister, Miss Priscilla George, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Ann Magill. Their uncle, the Rev. George Magill of Wilmette, will read the wedding service.

Nelson Magill of Chambersburg will be his brother's best man. They are sons of Dr. Frank S. Magill, head of Penn Hall at Chambersburg, and Mrs. Magill, who will be here for the wedding. Ushering will be Goodwin de Raisnes of New Jersey and Curtis Yoh of Chambersburg. After a wedding trip to New Hampshire, Mr. Magill and his bride will be at home in New York.

A recent bride who is at home for a short stay is Mrs. Richard V. Wakeman, of Brookline, Mass., the former Sally Jane Crowder. She is visiting her parents, the Gilbert Crowders, while Mr. Wakeman is on a business trip.

Luncheon Set Medallions

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

A tiny crocheted medallion requiring only ten minutes to create is the foundation of this exceptionally beautiful luncheon set. Made and joined as you go along, the pieces create a runner, an antimacassar set, or dresser ensemble. Two skeins of ivory mercerized crochet cotton are sufficient for one complete luncheon set.

For instructions in crocheting the medallions for the luncheon set, No. X-377, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Big Social Gap Needs a Period of Adjustment

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I am hopelessly in love with a young man of good family and he loves me just as dearly. But his family tells him that he should not marry me not only because of the difference in our social status but because, to my deep regret, a sister of mine figured in a scandal that appeared in all the papers. If the true facts were known about this case my sister would have been revealed as a poor cat's paw. She wasn't guilty. Her beau did not believe it of her and he married her and took her out west to live. But my beau's family has dragged that up and now insinuate that our whole family has a bad reputation. Is it fair that another has to suffer for an unfortunate exposé, especially when the real truth was never presented in the papers? Is there anything I can do about it for my love's sake? MARIAN."

Has the young man told you of the family objections? Is he the one to suggest social differences, the one to hint that your family is not as good as his? If so then we'd tell you to have nothing more to do with that young man. He's be a perfect boor, patronizing you until you couldn't take it any longer, did he condescend to marry you.

If he loved you he'd do everything to keep family objections from your ears. But we may misjudge him. Perhaps you've heard the bad news directly from them, in which case you might tell him just as you've told us and see how and if he rallies to your defense.

Certainly, we do not feel that one family member should bear the brunt of another family member's misfortune. Nor would any fair minded person feel so. Yet we will say that where there is a wide social gap between the man and the girl the situation often calls for a trial period of adjusting with the girl having to use all her wits to buffet her way.

Fruit and Flowers.

The fourth wedding anniversary is symbolized by fruit and flowers. A young married couple, enthusiastic Willkie suppoters, who celebrated their fourth anniversary the other day, received from a friend a charming bouquet with a picture of Wendell Willkie in the middle of it. "Because I know he's the apple of your eye," said the accompanying note:

REALITY IN THE ROUGH.

Keep Child on Regular Diet on an Outing

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

As one who's had experience in taking days' outings with small children, I made a suggestion in yesterday's article, which was: tuck in a rest period or nap for them sometime during the outdoor day.

Today I want to give you the fruit of my experience in dealing with picnic food for the younger children—if by picnic food you mean such old standbys as boiled eggs, sandwiches, pickles, and bananas and cake.

What you need to do is to keep them as nearly as possible on their regular diet.

So, in your picnic hamper or baskets or boxes and thermos jars, put at least the fundamentals of your young child's regular meals. If you want to let them have some of the grownups' decorations in the way of dessert, or provide a simple treat so they won't feel too workaday, that's all right.

Otherwise, guard their milk so it stays clean as well as fresh. Nutritious soup or broth is easily managed in a thermos. Vegetables, the one food item that usually gets itself omitted from a picnic, shouldn't be omitted for young children off for the day.

For the small fry who were to picnic with us we used to save small glass jars with covers, for vegetables, broth, milk, even cooked fruit. Without a thermos, vegetables can be kept quite warm if you cook or reheat them at the last minute before leaving, put them in the heated glass jar, and wrap them with several thicknesses of napkins and newspapers. Milk can be kept quite cold in this way too.

(Diet Suggestions for the Baby Up to Two Years of Age is a leaflet of interest to parents and nurses. Send a large, stamped, addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.)

WHITE SOX BEAT BROWNS, 7-3 AND 8-5; CUBS DIVIDE

CHICAGO CLIMBS OVER ST. LOUIS TO FIFTH PLACE

First Double Victory of Season.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox yesterday slugged their way into fifth place with their first double header sweep of the season, 7 to 3 and 8 to 5 victories over the St. Louis Browns, the erstwhile surprising team they supplanted in the American league standings.

The Sox, who had made 30 hits in their last two games in Detroit, kept firing yesterday, making 17 safe ones in the first game and a dozen in the second.

Mike Tresh had four singles in four times at bat in the first game and increased his string to five his first time up in the second game. Taft Wright made six hits in nine times at bat during the afternoon and his Big Six pal, Luke Appling, made three singles and a double in seven times at bat. All the 12 Sox who worked yesterday, except Clint Brown, who finished the second game, got at least one hit each.

Lee and Smith Triumph.

The two skilled lefties, Thornton Lee and Eddie Smith, were the winning pitchers. Each had one bad inning, but each was ahead at the time. Lee yielded seven hits, four of them in the fifth inning of the first game. Smith didn't give up a hit until the fifth inning but was knocked out in the seventh in a slugging bee, the high point of which was a homer by Johnny Berardino. Brown was socked for a couple of doubles in his 3 innings of endeavor.

A crowd of 19,519, a whopper for a couple of second division teams six and seven games under the .500 mark, paid to see the afternoon's entertainment.

FIRST GAME

The White Sox's run total in the first game was comparatively skimp because of three Brownie double plays and an out at the plate.

Five of the Sox hits were successive singles by Kuhel, Solters, Wright, Appling, and Tresh, good for three runs in the first inning.

The Browns made one run in the second on singles by Clift and Hoag and Berardino's fly.

Wright, Appling, and Tresh knocked successive singles at the start of the third, two off Johnny Niggeling, the St. Louis starting pitcher, and one off George Coffman, to produce one run. Rescuer Coffman then got the side out without further damage.

Shake Up Lee a Bit.

The Browns moved up within one of a tie with two runs in the fifth. Four of the seven hits off Lee were made in this inning. They were hit by Heffner, Susce, Cullenbine, and McQuinn.

In the fifth the Sox again scored before anybody was out on Wright's third hit of the game, a walk to Appling, and Tresh's third hit. They went no farther, because Appling was thrown out at the plate and Lee hit into the second of the Browns' three double plays.

The game's scoring was concluded with two Sox runs in the sixth inning, produced on singles by Kreevich and Kuhel and a double by Solters.

SECOND GAME

The White Sox decided the issue with six runs in the first inning of the second game, tho the lads had to play on to an 8 to 5 finish.

After Cullenbine and Laabs had

FRENCH WINS, 4-3; RAFFENSBERGER LOSES 2D, 5 TO 2

Shoun All Around Star in Beating North Siders.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 4.—The Cubs experienced a little pleasure and a little grief in their fireworks program with the Cardinals today. Gabby Hartnett's 22 man band had its fun squeezing thru to a 4 to 3 victory in the front end of the double bill. But in the other game the Cubs were painfully reminded that the Chicago club gave $185,000 and three players for Diz Dean. Clyde [Lefty] Shoun, one of the three players, beat them by 5 to 2.

Shoun was easily the prize performer of a party put on before 17,804 spectators. An opposition that offered only two left handed hitters didn't disturb him in the least. His fellow workers fixed him up with a three run lead off Ken Raffensberger in the opening inning whereupon he went to work to accomplish a five hitter in which nine of his foes succumbed on strikes. The only trouble Shoun encountered was due to his own fielding error in the sixth, but he escaped from this mixup after two had scored and the tying runs had reach the far bases with none out.

French Wins Ninth.

The first argument brought Larry French his ninth victory, a mark he has been seeking since June 20, but he attained it only after a hazardous journey. He was scored on in the opening inning and stayed behind until the sixth when his pals exploded two telling blows against Mort Cooper. These produced three runs, followed by another off Jack Russell in the seventh. This latter run proved invaluable because the Cards dogged French with nothing less than seven hits in the four closing innings. However, they scored only twice.

There were only two spots during the entire 18 innings in which the Cubs didn't show their chronic tendency to be easy on enemy pitchers. In the first game it was the aforementioned sixth that produced three runs, even though the batting was limited to doubles by Jim Gleeson and Bill Nicholson. In the same inning in the second game they broke out with three of their five hits off Shoun, a pleasing incident in which Manager Hartnett set the pace with a single as a pinch hitter.

FIRST GAME

HOLIDAY CROWD BETS $906,617 AT ARLINGTON

Joe Schenck Is 2d in $12,880 Handicap.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

A popular horse, racing in the colors of a famous owner, ran with brilliant speed to put a happy climax on the holiday recreation of more than 50,000 spectators who gathered yesterday at Arlington Park. Charles S. Howard's Advocator was the horse of the hour. He went to the post as the even money favorite in the $12,880 Stars and Stripes handicap. Under Johnny Oros' discreet handling, he came up to take the lead in the stretch, then he drew out to a commanding advantage and lasted long enough to win by a length despite the fact that he tired toward the finish under the fast pace. He ran the mile and an eighth in 1:50, which was only three-fifths of a second slower than the track record held by Blue Larkspur and Sun Beau. The Woolford farm's Joe Schenck was second and Tom Taggart's Yale O' Nine third.

Betting Totals $906,617.

Race track regulars, commenting on the crowd which bet nearly a million dollars, agreed that they had seen nothing comparable to it in the Chicago area since the day in 1929 when Blue Larkspur won the Classic stakes. The spectators came streaming in from the neighboring fields where they had been forced to leave their cars when they found the spacious parking lots filled. They packed the terraces until they were elbow to elbow. They jammed the aisles and they stood five and six deep back of the seats at the top of the stands. They bought up 45,000 programs.

While many were still weaving their way thru the crowded roads, $72,786 was bet on the first race. This promptly jumped to $90,959 on the second and $107,556 on the third. The betting continued to soar until it reached a total of $906,617. This was a record for the last 11 years. Last year's Fourth of July handle was $601,073. The difference of $305,544 constituted an increase of more than 50 per cent.

Joe Schenck at More than 8 to 1.

Advocator was backed so heavily that the second choice, Joe Schenck, was held at more than eight to one. Mrs. Marie Evans' Shot Put and W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite were the next in public fancy at approximately 19 to 1.

Eleven horses began the parade to the post, but only ten reached the starting gate. As they pranced past the stands, Porter's Mite became excited, wheeled and tumbled into the narrow space between the guard rail and the public fence. The race was held up for nearly fifteen minutes while attendants worked to dislodge the horse. When they got him out, he was so badly bruised and his muscles so severely wrenched that he was withdrawn. The public lost the sum of $12,708 which had been wagered on him.

The other ten went on to the starting gate and all, except Manie O'Hara, got away alertly when Roy Dickerson gave them the signal. A 60 to 1 shot, Loque, cut out the early pace, with No Competition and Joe Schenck close behind. As they went down the back stretch, Loque maintained her advantage and Advocator advanced to a contending position. Going into the far turn Joe Schenck went alongside Loque and took the lead. Advocator began to move also.

Advocator Challenges.

They swung around the bend with Advocator challenging boldly while Shot Put and Yale O'Nine were closing swiftly from far back. As they headed home, Advocator came up head and head with Joe Schenck. Shot Put, racing along the rail, had difficulty finding a clear path. Yale O'Nine, moving on the outside, launched a strong challenge.

Once straightened out, Advocator drew away rapidly to a lead of two lengths. Then in the later stages he began to shorten stride but he had enough left to hold Joe Schenck safe. Yale O'Nine finished resolutely more than a length in advance of Shot Put, which closed swiftly when clear.

The winner returned his backers $4, $3.40, and $3 for win, place, and show. Joe Schenck's prices were $6 and $4.20. Show tickets on Yale O' Nine were worth $5.

Swain Hurt in Mixup.

Another accident occurred in the seventh race, which was run on the turf. Going around the club house turn, Motley fell and Chance King and Sweep Through tumbled over him. As the field galloped on Carroll Bierman and Jack Richard, who had been riding Chance King and Motley, respectively, regained their feet, but Charley Swain, who had been aboard Sweep Through, lay unconscious. Motley was struggling to rise with a broken leg and the other two horses were galloping riderless away.

Swain was taken to the track's first aid quarters and was revived. It was found that he was suffering rib fractures and a chest injury. He was taken to the Northwestern hospital in Des Plaines.

Advocator Is Horse of Hour as 50,000 Cheer

Advocator, Charles S. Howard's even money favorite, crosses finish line a length in front of the Woolford farm's Joe Schenck in the running of the Stars and Stripes handicap yesterday before a crowd of more than 50,000 at Arlington Park. Yale O' Nine, owned by Tom Taggart, was third, a length back of Schenck. The handicap had a gross value of $12,880 and Advocator's victory was worth $9,260 to his owner.

JARETZ, KIEFER SET RECORDS IN A. A. U. SWIMMING

Santa Barbara, Cal., July 4 (AP).—Two husky Chicago Towers club teammates, Otto Jaretz and Adolph Kiefer, opened the national A. A. U. men's outdoor swimming meet with record performances today.

Jaretz started the day's program by lowering the American 220-yard free style record held by Johnny Weissmuller since 1927. Kiefer scored a notable triumph in the backstroke leg of the medley relay to close the day's activities.

Jaretz, newly graduated from Lane Tech high school in Chicago, and the present 110-yard free style champion, added the 220-yard free style crown to his collection, paddling the distance in 2 minutes, 13 1-10 seconds. Thirteen years ago Weissmuller set a record for the distance of 2:13.6. It was a duel among the victor, Kiefer and Paul Herron of Los Angeles. Herron nearly took the lead on the turn home on the last lap, but fell back before the Chicagoans' power.

In the final event, the new 330 yard medley relay race, Kiefer swam the backstroke leg in 1 minute, 5 4-10 seconds. Over the 110-yard distance, it bettered his American and Olympic 100-meter records, both 1:05.6.

Kiefer, William Klaus, and Jaretz won the event, for the Towers club, with Jaretz forced to hold tight to a slim lead, made large by Kiefer, but lost by Klaus, to the threatening Los Angeles Athletic club team. The fast Hawaiian team, placed third, and the defending champion team from Detroit A. C., fourth. The time was 3 minutes 22 seconds.

Reds Buy Mike Dejan, Chattanooga Outfielder

Cincinnati, O., July 4 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds today announced purchase of Outfielder Mike Dejan of Chattanooga of the Southern association. Dejan, who started professional ball as a pitcher with the New York Yankee organization four years ago, is hitting .403, has clouted 17 homers, and batted in 80 runs. He bats left handed and throws right handed. He will report July 10 in Cincinnati, General Manager Warren C. Giles said.

WEST SIDE WILL GREET HAWAIIAN BOXERS TONIGHT

Garfield Park Is Scene of First Reception.

Reception Facts

PLACE—Garfield park band stand, Madison street and Hamlin avenue.

TIME—9 o'clock tonight.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Hundreds will gather in front of the Garfield park band stand at Madison street and Hamlin avenue tonight to honor the amateur boxing champions of Hawaii, who will meet a Catholic Youth organization team in Soldiers' field Wednesday.

This reception will be the first of a two night welcome tendered the visitors. The other event will be held in Davis Square park, 45th street and Marshfield avenue, on Monday. Each reception will start at 9 o'clock.

Entertainers Will Appear.

The west side program will be augmented by stars of the stage, radio, and opera. Civic leaders and boxing celebrities also will participate. Music will be provided by the C. Y. O. band and the organization's drum and bugle corps.

Ray McCarthy and Carl Stockholm, co-chairmen of the reception committee, said the reception will open with the singing of "The Star Splangled Banner" by John Pane-Gasser, tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera company. From this point on the tempo of the program will be increased until the boys from the land of Aloha are introduced.

On Reception Stand.

Among those on the reception stand will be the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, who founded the Chicago C. Y. O. nine years ago; United States District Attorney William Campbell, George T. Donaghue, superintendent of the Chicago park district and president of the Central association of the Amateur Athletic union; Charles Bidwill, owner of the Chicago Cardinals football team; Chief Bailiff Al Horan, Ald. Jacob Arvey, Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district; Ald. Edward Upton, and Ald. Roger Kiley.

Selections by the C. Y. O. band.

Address of welcome by Mayor Kelly and Truman K. Gelighty, member of the Garfield Park Business Men's association.

Soprano solo by Teresa Ferrio.

Introduction of celebrities and the Hawaiian team.

Address by Bishop Shell.

Reception Committee Members.

Members of the west side reception committee include:

George Maddigan, E. C. Schneider, Nathan Balner, Capt. Louis Kleinzoo, David Kovin, Gael Sullivan, Judge Thomas Lynch, Ted Prendie, Bernard Baer, Amerigo Sansone, Walter Busenbarr, George Eberhardt, Joseph Glespie, Thomas J. O'Brien, James O'Keefe, Walter Kelly, Jack Elder, Frank Hahn, John F. Amberg, Ald. George D. Kells, George Boyle, Arthur Murphy, Edwin Thomas, Felix Szymanski, O. D. New Mark Set by Viscounty at Hollywood

Los Angeles, Cal., July 4 (AP).—Valdina farms' Viscounty, priced at $7.40, set a new track record of 1:49 over a mile and one-eighth at Hollywood Park today to capture the $15,000 American handicap purse by four lengths over Hysterical. Specify was third by a nose. A crowd of 40,000 saw the program.

PASS OUT TRIUMPHS.

Boston, Mass., July 4 (AP).—The fast starting Pass Out showed the way thruout to seven rival 3 year olds and hung on just long enough to beat Sirocco by a nose today in the sixth running of the $15,000 added Yankee handicap at Suffolk Downs as 30,000 looked on. Dusky Duke was third. Pass Out covered the muddy mile and three-sixteenths in the fair time of 2:00 3-5.

LEVEL BEST SCORES.

New York, July 4 (AP).—Level Best won the Demoiselle stakes at Empire City track today before a crowd of 30,427. Unbeaten in two previous starts at Delaware, Level Best took the $6,425 major portion of the purse by 10 lengths.

Strange Device was second, a half length over Mrs. Payne Whitney's Tangled. Strange Device, coupled with Philomel, was an odds on favorite at 3 to 4. Level Best ran the six furlongs course in 1:09 1-5, despite the muddy going. She paid $12.80 for $2.

MASKED GENERAL WINS.

Stanton, Del., July 4 (AP).—Masked General won the $10,000 added Sussex handicap, feature of the closing day's program at Delaware Race Park today before a record crowd of 25,000. Running over a sloppy track, Masked General covered the mile and a quarter in 2:06 4-5 to win by six lengths over Belay. Foxshade finished a neck ahead of the Knollwood stable's Solarium for show.

Rivals to Meet Parichys in Girls' Softball Tonight

Alice Reid, the Parichy's southpaw hurler who last week dethroned the league-leading Rival Dog Foods team, 3 to 1, will try to duplicate that feat tonight in Spencer Coals field, where the two teams meet in a Girl's Major Softball league contest. Catherine Castator will do the Rivals' hurling. A victory would put the Rivals back into first place. In a nonleague game the Raab Tailors will meet the Atlas Beers in Midway stadium, 60th street and Langley avenue.

GIANTS LOSE TO DODGERS TWICE, 5 TO 1 AND 6 TO 1

New York, July 4 (AP).—Cheered and jeered by a holiday crowd of 54,306 at the Polo grounds, the Brooklyn Dodgers dented the New York Giants in a double header today, 5 to 1 and 6 to 1, to preserve their place at the top of the National league. In the first game Curt Davis, resurrected from the St. Louis Cardinals, kept seven hits scattered. Lefty Vito Tamulis pitched a perfect game for seven innings of the second game, never letting a Giant get to first.

Yanks Trounce Red Sox Twice, 12 to 4 and 7 to 3

Boston, Mass., July 4 (AP).—Unleashing eight home runs in today's doubleheader, the New York Yankees steamrollered the Boston Red Sox, 12 to 4 and 7 to 3. The double victory, making it eight triumphs for the Yanks in their last nine games, carried the New Yorkers within a game and a half of the third place Red Sox. Charlie Keller, Joe Gordon and Warren Rosar, young catcher, each clouted two homers.

Minneapolis Star Hits for 19 Bases in 1 Game; Record

Minneapolis, Minn., July 4 [Special].—Ab Wright, Minneapolis Millers' right fielder, set an American association total bases record today when he hit a triple and four home runs, 19 bases, in a game against St. Paul. His four homers tied the mark set by Dale Alexander. His totals were the major factors in the team's setting two records, for home runs with seven and for total bases with 50. In the morning game, in St. Paul, Wright also hit a homer. St. Paul won the morning game, 3 to 2, and the Millers the afternoon game, 17 to 5.

Al Rogers Wins Land's End Automobile Race

Grand Junction, Colo., July 4 (AP).—Al Rogers of Colorado Springs won the Land's End automobile race today in his Coniff Special. Time for the 14.5 miles was 18 minutes 39.9 seconds. George Hammond of Colorado Springs finished second in 19 minutes 3 seconds. Bus Hammond, brother of George, was third in 19 minutes 21 3/5 seconds. The drivers ran against time.

Kuhel Helps Sox Get Away to Fine Start

Cubs, Cards Break Even; French Wins

to third. He scored on Moore's infield out.

This run grew in importance because of the fashion in which Cooper bowled over the Cubs, but his progress was unexpectedly halted at the start of the sixth on Mize's fumble of Herman's easy grounder. Gleeson promptly doubled to center and Nicholson aimed his two bagger to center, Herman and Gleeson scoring. Galan walked, Cavarretta sacrificed, and Collins was purposely passed, loading the bases. When Mattick fanned the remainder of the inning should have been easy for Cooper but he walked French, forcing Nicholson to score. Russell induced Hack to pop to Marion for the third out.

Cards Score Again.

The Cards, who made only three hits in five innings, doubled the total in their half of the sixth but scored only once. Brown led off with his third hit, a single to left, and scooted to third on Moore's single to center. Brown scored while Moore was being forced by Koy. Then, after two were out, Pepper Martin singled and Gleeson fumbled the ball, putting the runners on third and second. A pass to Orengo loaded the bases, but French saved himself by spearing a low line drive off Marion's bat.

Both sides were heard from in the seventh. Herman and Gleeson led off with singles and Herman scored later as the result of an infield out and Galan's liner to Martin, giving the Cubs a 4 to 2 lead. The Cards took back the run in their half and with a little caution might have had more. Owen opened with a single and passed when Gutteridge, batting for Russell, doubled against the right center field wall. Gutteridge thought he had a triple but was nailed at third, much to the relief of French. The next two men were easy.

SECOND GAME

Raffensberger wasn't exactly bad in the first inning in which the Cards scored three times. The youthful left hander merely was careless about his control. Gutteridge opened with a pass and scored on Moore's double to right. Koy fanned and Mize tapped out. Pepper Martin walked and Orengo doubled, Moore and Martin scoring. The Cards weren't heard from again until the fifth when Shoun singled and scored on a hit by Koy.

Hartnett started something in the sixth and it grew until a tie seemed imminent, but some of the boys flopped. Hartnett batted for Raffensberger and singled. Gabby should have been forced at second, but instead went to third when Shoun, after picking up Hack's tap, threw into center field. Herman singled to send the manager home and Gleeson's single scored Hack. A passed ball put Herman on third and Gleeson on second, with none out. But the big swoon engulfed the Cubs. Nicholson bounced to Shoun, Galan fanned, and Marion threw out Russell.

As soon as Root went to work as Raffensberger's successor in the sixth the Cards gave signs of being restless. Orengo walked, Marion beat out a bunt toward first and the pair was sacrificed ahead by Owen. Shoun slapped a fly to Galan and Orengo scored, giving the domestic troops their 5 to 2 margin.

Vern Olsen, the kid southpaw who has been in a semi-invalid state for the last two weeks, will be started by the Cubs tomorrow in the closing engagement of the Gas House series. The Cards' pitcher will be Max Lanier.

Bill Lee is wearing dark glasses on and off the field. He's not hiding from the sheriff but trying to become accustomed to the panes preparatory to receiving the special shatterproof pair he plans on wearing while pitching in the future. He doesn't like the idea but will give it a trial.

Phil Cavarretta had to step to the corner drug store this morning and buy up a few toilet articles. While he was attending a loop movie last night an unknown gentleman broke into Phil's motor chariot and made off with his traveling bag.

Veteran Midget Auto Racer Hurt in Upset

New Berlin, Ill., July 4 (AP).—John Reemsnyder of Peoria, veteran midget auto race driver, was injured last night when his car overturned several times during a race here.

UTILITY 'DEATH' SENTENCE TEST REPORTED NEAR

'Adjoining States' Definition Is Issue.

What is meant by "adjoining states." On that question concerning federal legislation hinges the fate of several of the major utility systems in the United States.

Plans were reported under way yesterday for the first legal test of a key section of the "death sentence" provision in the public utility act of 1935.

In connection with the Middle West corporation integration case, instituted by the Securities and Exchange commission, arguments are understood to be planned on the geographical limitation which the "death sentence" imposes on utility systems.

Seeks Industry Wide Test.

The SEC, moreover, intends to broaden the issue into an industry wide test of the meaning of that portion of the act, inviting all of the major utility holding companies involved in "death sentence" proceedings to submit briefs on the point, according to reports.

On the particular issue in question, the act specifies that a registered holding company will be permitted to control one or more additional integrated public utility systems provided that "all of such additional systems are located in one state, or in adjoining states, or in a contiguous foreign country."

One interpretation is that the words "adjoining states" means those states bordering on the "one state" mentioned in the act.

Report SEC Takes Stand.

The counsel of the SEC staff is reported to take the stand that "adjoining states" means those touching the one in which the major system is located.

Middle West, in its answer to the integration order, took the broadest legal viewpoint—that "adjoining states" means any grouping of states so long as they border on each other. In other words, they might spread across a portion of the country in a string as long as they formed an unbroken line.

Practically, however, Middle West agreed to confine its holdings to two geographical areas and to dispose of eight companies outside the areas, altho these companies were included in what the corporation considered "adjoining states."

In the answer Middle West groups in its first geographical area properties located in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana. The second area would embrace Wisconsin, Illinois, and Kentucky, and parts of Virginia and Tennessee.

Complying in part with a request in the answer, the SEC this week dismissed from the integration proceedings the Midland United company group in Indiana, the Commonwealth Light and Power company, and the Inland Power and Light corporation, all of which are in process of reorganization. They were included among the 52 companies which Middle West denied are its subsidiaries, as claimed by the SEC.

Canadian Firms Included.

The 52 included Canadian subsidiaries considered not to be within the purview of the objectives of the act and the subsidiaries of companies that are in reorganization proceedings and in the hands of trustees appointed by courts.

Many leading holding company executives declared Wednesday that the proposed test of the "death sentence" section would not satisfactorily answer the integration question. They took the view that certain systems can present much stronger arguments than the Middle West corporation for the retention of operating properties.

Receivers of Wabash Railway File New Reorganization Plan

New York, July 4 (AP).—A revised plan of reorganization for the Wabash railway which proposes new cuts in capital debt and fixed interest charges was announced today by Norman B. Pitcairn and Frank C. Nicodemus Jr., receivers for the property.

Frank C. Nicodemus Jr.

Fixed interest debt is set at $76,389,524 and contingent debt at $38,207,975. The total of $114,597,499 compares with the present fixed interest debt and accrued interest of $187,149,144.

The plan calls for a reduction in preferred stock to $45,526,896 from $71,125,592 and a cut in common stock to $473,440 from $66,995,175. The new common would have a par value of $1.

Existing issues aggregating $11,385,000 would be left undisturbed. New securities to be issued include $16,394,583 in 25 year first 3 per cent bonds; $44,118,530 in 30 year first 3½s; $19,722,445 in 40 year income 4s, series "A"; $18,485,530 in 50 year income 4s, series "B"; and $4,491,411 in serial collateral 2 per cent notes.

Under the revised plan, the receivers pointed out, the fixed interest charges are reduced to $2,443,213 from $2,978,000 under the original plan. The latter, brought out a few years ago, was shelved because of a subsequent sharp decline in Wabash revenues. The road's present fixed charges amount to around $7,600,000 annually.

The plan has been filed with the United States court for the eastern division of the eastern district of Missouri.

MARKETS, BANKS REOPEN TODAY

Securities exchanges, commodity markets, and banks in the United States will reopen today for business as usual after remaining closed yesterday in observance of Independence day, celebrated by the 48 states and the District of Columbia. Market followers looked to exchanges in Canada and abroad yesterday for financial news.

WINNIPEG WHEAT FUTURES STICK TO PEG LEVELS

WINNIPEG, Man., July 4 (AP).—Wheat futures prices finished their eighth consecutive session on Winnipeg grain exchange today without climbing from pegged levels set by the government May 14.

Scattered trades were completed at the minimum positions of 71⅞ cents a bushel for July wheat, 73⅝ for October and 74⅝ for December, but operations generally were quiet.

RUMANIAN BAN ON WHEAT EXPORTS TO BE CONTINUED

BUDAPEST, July 4 (AP).—Indicating poor harvest conditions in the Balkan countries, the Bucharest radio announced today that Rumania has extended indefinitely her ban on wheat exports, with an explanation that the nation is without sufficient wheat to meet her own needs this year.

In Hungary it was announced that only 40 per cent of the normal amount of white flour can be milled.

In Jugo-Slavia new regulations require growers and wholesalers of wheat to turn over immediately any surplus of the grain to government agencies.

HOLIDAY OR NO, MR. CASE OPENS HIS NEW BANK

Stonewall, Okla., July 4 (AP).—The Case State bank was the only bank in Oklahoma—and probably in the nation—doing business today.

Here's why:

President P. S. Case, 65, closed his First State bank a few weeks ago after an employé embezzled $35,000. Case raised $25,000 capital and reopened today under a new charter.

"Why, I'd open even if it were Sunday," Case declared.

Bulgaria Bond Interest Payments Stopped by War

New York, July 4 (AP).—War conditions have prevented the Bulgarian government from transferring funds for meeting payments on three of its bond issues, it was announced today. Involved are the 7 per cent settlement loan of 1926, the 7½ per cent stabilization loan of 1928, and the 4½ per cent loan of 1909.

Report Japan Would Swap Rail Cars for Chile Products

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 4 (AP).—An authoritative source said today that Japanese interests had offered the Chilean government $35,000,000 worth of railway equipment—presumably German made—in exchange for Chilean copper and nitrates.

LEHMAN PROFIT AND NET ASSET VALUE DECLINE

Investing Firm Cuts Aviation Holdings.

New York, July 4 [Special].—Lehman corporation earned a net profit of $858,240, or 41 cents for each of the 2,075,784 shares outstanding in the hands of the public, according to a report issued today for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1940. The profit compared with $957,950, or 46 cents a share, for the preceding fiscal year. As of June 30, 1940, net asset value was about $27.46 a share, against $29.79 a year earlier.

Robert Lehman.

Up to June 30 Robert Lehman, president, reported the big investment trust had purchased 5,800 shares of its own capital stock for retirement at an average price of $17.28 a share.

At the end of the latest fiscal year the corporation had cash, receivables, and United States government obligations totaling $10,353,551. The report also showed net unrealized depreciation of $9,888,798, compared with $5,819,334 a year earlier.

Investment Income $2,752,247.

Investment income for the 1940 fiscal year totaled $2,752,247. Deductions for operating expenses and provision for taxes left $2,115,993. Net realized loss on investments was $1,279,293, which left a balance of profit of $858,240 after giving effect to a recovery of $21,540 on real estate loans previously written off.

There were a few important changes in the portfolio in the quarter ended June 30. The major changes are:

Railroads Ban Coal Storage in Open Cars

Washington, D. C., July 4 (AP).—In a move to conserve transportation capacity "to meet any demands which may develop in connection with national defense preparations," the Association of American Railroads today issued a rule against using open top cars for storage purposes.

The association ordered, effective July 15, that no coal cars be placed for loading at mines where more than one day's supply already is being held under load and unconsigned. Such cars are called "no bill" coal loads.

41,000 Cars Loaded.

More than 41,000 cars loaded with coal and unconsigned now are being held at mines, the association said, adding that this "represents a waste of potential transportation capacity which can be avoided."

"Altho coal loading now is more than 20 per cent above that of the corresponding period in 1939, there is no shortage of cars and none is anticipated," the association said.

Expect Increased Loading.

"The rule which limits the coal held unconsigned to one day's operations will prevent any difficulty as to car supply for transportation needs. Forecasts from various shipper advisory boards indicate that there will be an 8.2 per cent increase in coal loading in the third quarter of 1940 as compared with the corresponding period in 1939."

LONDON STOCKS PUSH FORWARD FOR FIFTH DAY

LONDON, July 4 (AP).—The stock market pushed ahead for the fifth consecutive session today, adding substantially to recent gains in most divisions.

Firm at the start, prices maintained initial levels thruout the session, then gathered additional strength as fresh buying developed in the final stages.

Home rails led the market and recorded a general advance under strong support. Early improvement in oil issues was fully held.

The small available supply of leading industrials was quietly absorbed and prices responded with modest advances in most cases.

NLRB Reports It Handles 28,132 Cases in Five Years

Washington, D. C., July 4 (AP).—The National Labor Relations board announced today, on its fifth anniversary, that it had handled a total of 28,132 cases, involving 6,140,000 workers, since it was established. Of these, 25,030 cases have been closed, it said.

New Photo Aid May Speed Up War Industry

Washington, D. C., July 4 (AP).—A great impetus to production of war materials in American industrial plants was foreseen today as the result of a new system of electrical color photography.

The method, which is under consideration by the National Defense Research committee, is extremely simple but so sensitive that it will ferret out one part of contaminating substance from 999,999 other parts and show it up clearly on a photographic plate.

Can Photograph Motor Parts.

It is possible, for example, to take a part of an airplane motor, photograph it and within a few minutes be able to determine whether it contains impurities which would make it break down while in use.

In making the pictures, the sample to be tested is placed on a sheet of photographic paper and then sandwiched between it and a piece of platinum or other inert metal. A weak electrical current from a small battery is then shot thru the specimen, leaving on the color negative a tracing of what the specimen contains.

Earlier Method Described.

Previously the best available method of examining such specimens was to burn parts of them at high temperature and study the color lines which they emitted thru the spectroscope, a complicated instrument which outlines the various elements thru a finely-ruled glass grating.

The principal value of the device is its simplicity, Dr. Hermance declared, and the possibility of using it in every industrial laboratory to make quick checks on materials in production.

AUTO INDUSTRY FEARS IT WILL BE DEFENSE 'GOAT'

Industry, and the auto industry in particular, will be the "goat" when the public eventually is disillusioned of the idea that a real defense program has already started in the United States, Iron Age magazine said yesterday.

"Over and over again auto executives emphasize that no orders have been placed yet for the mass production of anything except trucks. Tooling up for whatever projects may finally be allotted to auto plants cannot be accomplished over night," the publication asserted.

"So serious is the threat of a damning public reaction that there is a move afoot in Detroit this week to put the industry on record on this subject so that there can later be no unwarranted criticism or implications that the industry has failed to meet its obligations to the nation," Iron Age explained.

HEAVY BUILDING AWARDS DROP FROM YEAR AGO

New York, July 4 (AP).—Engineering construction awards for the week ended July 4 declined to $31,599,000, or 16 per cent below the corresponding short week last year, Engineering News-Record said today.

Total	$31,599,000	$34,869,000	$37,549,000

PAINTS TO FOODS.

I read an article recently which discussed the use of soy beans in making plastics. The Glidden company was mentioned as one of the producers. I would like some information about this concern and its products. —D. F.

Answer: Originally a manufacturer of paints and varnishes, The Glidden company branched into the making of food products in an effort to use more fully its crushing plant capacity. The activities of the company, directed from Cleveland, O., are divided as follows:

1. The manufacture of paints, varnishes, enamels, lacquers, stains, and kalsomines, which are sold thru dealers and company stores.

2. The processing of vegetable oils, margarines, shredded cocoanut, salad dressings, bakers' and confectioners' fillings and coatings, and spices.

3. The production of pigments and other raw materials for the paint, rubber, linoleum, automobile, paper and other industries.

The company holds exclusive rights to a German process of deriving oil, meal, flour, and other products from soy beans. The increasing uses of soy bean materials in industry led the company to construct last year in Chicago an elevator with a capacity of 2 million bushels. Recently, Glidden has developed soy bean liquid plastics for use in the textile, paper and leather trades.

Sales of paints, varnishes and related products provide the bulk of the company's revenues—which, therefore, fluctuate with activity in the industries served. Consolidated net income of the company and subsidiaries, earnings per common share in recent fiscal years ending Oct. 31, and dividends on the common stock in calendar years were as follows:

1936	3,085,469	3.29	2.00
1937	2,542,793	2.62	2.60
1938	205,597	*.29	.50
1939	1,853,549	1.70	.50

*Net loss. †Calendar years.

For the six months ended last April 30, consolidated net income increased to $614,933, equal after preferred dividends to 47 cents a common share, from $366,147 or 17 cents a common share in the corresponding period a year ago.

The company has outstanding funded debt of $3,750,000; 199,940 shares of 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock of $50 par value, and 825,421 shares of common stock of no par value. Regular dividends are being paid on the preferred stock. A dividend of 30 cents a share on the common stock was paid July 1, 1940.

WILLKIE CHOICE HITS NEW DEAL POWER SCHEME

Noted for Blasting Roosevelt Failures.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 4.—The Republicans' choice for President undoubtedly has thrown a monkey wrench into the New Deal's ambitious plans for the power industry.

If there's any one thing in which Wendell L. Willkie excels it is in debating the power issue, and observers here feel the New Deal dare not increase its vulnerability on that score by any further power grabs.

The New Deal has tried and will try many things in the name of national defense. One of these is the proposed super-system of electric transmission lines, which Willkie condemned last December as wholly unnecessary. With an articulate expert like Willkie on the platform, it is considered unlikely that the New Deal—meaning President Roosevelt—will push the power grid idea.

600 Million Project Planned.

It was after millions were lavished on boondoggling projects and exposés of waste made public works unpopular, that the New Dealers seized upon the "national defense" cry. An ambitious 600 million dollar project to create a government owned and operated transmission system, with energy from four mammoth steam plants, was hit upon. It would hook up public and private utility systems, with gradual elimination of what were termed obsolescent private utility plants.

Premature publicity killed off a project of this size, however. Military experts also found that the defense motives were only secondary in the plan. The project was whittled down to 200 million dollars.

Hold Super-Grid Is Vulnerable.

The proposed 2,500 mile system of transmission lines would be vital to national defense needs, the New Dealers argued, but power experts

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Daffy Donald Ducks.

July 4, 1940.

THE men who work on the Du Page county farm have a friendly little tip for farmers and landowners who like to be entertained by born comedians without the expense of going to a vaudeville house or movie theater. If every farm resident will only hatch a family of mallard ducklings every year he'll get more laughs per hour than professional comedians can provide.

The antics of a family of mallards hatched this spring in the farm incubator have kept the residents at the Du Page county farm amused for weeks. There are nine of these miniature Donald Ducks, and just to watch them waddle around their pen is enough to create lots of chuckles. But when they go on an escapade like the one they participated in this week they make the real Donald Duck seem like an amateur funmaker.

think differently. Entrance of private utilities into the grid might be the stepping stone to further socialization in the industry, it was held. The proposed system would duplicate existing facilities, the expert asserted, adding that as far as national defense goes, a super-grid such as contemplated would be more vulnerable to attack by an enemy than the present diversified setup. One of England's greatest concerns now is the safety of its government-owned grid.

Beats TVA at Own Game.

Willkie has been successful in exposing the failures and foibles of the administration, and is one of the few business men who has beaten the administration after seven years of opposition. He defeated the Tennessee Valley authority at its own game.

By refusing to be driven out of business by the TVA, which competed with the Commonwealth and Southern system, Willkie forced the government on the spot by offering to sell Commonwealth and Southern properties in the Tennessee valley. Then he held out against confiscatory offers from the government until he obtained 25 million dollars more than originally offered—with a final purchase price of 80 millions.

Repeatedly, Willkie has made the government's power experimenters look silly when he confronted them at government hearings. He showed that he knew more about their own projects than they did. He lived and fought the issue. To support his arguments, he could rattle off facts and figures that dazzled his foremost opponents. A man of remarkable energy, he threw it all into the issue and won. This same energy can be expected in the forthcoming campaign.

TVA "Juggling" Uncovered.

The New Deal undertook vast power projects, condemning land, building dams, and erecting power lines as long as public works were accepted as a means of ending the depression. Then the tales of fanciful waste began to come home: The fact that government produced power was more expensive than privately produced power; the fact that government projects were tax free and deprived the federal and state governments of large revenues which had to be secured from the smaller taxpayers; and the fact that TVA juggled its figures to turn losses into gains.

Willkie was an active troubleshooter in these exposés and at the same time could point out that his companies had the lowest residential electricity rates and the highest average residential consumption in the country.

General Electric Orders Soar to$115,163,267 in June

New York, July 4 (AP).—Orders received by General Electric company during the June 30 quarter jumped to $115,163,267 from $82,188,693 in the comparable 1939 period, an increase of 40 per cent, Charles E. Wilson, president, announced today. For the first half of the year orders expanded to $212,653,314 from $169,071,646 in the first half of 1939, a gain of 26 per cent.

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without 1 cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shopworkers, mechanics, etc., and are now in business for themselves. Our percentage as much as $50 in a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constantly increasing demand.

Now, here are the arrangements: You must be between 24 and 54, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance, and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side and southern Cook county.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to the offer, as we even can pay rent, light, heat, salaries, or help you consign your merchandise, and finance your account.

Apply Friday at 1 p. m. sharp. Ask for Mr. Buckley, 2d floor, Standard National Bank Building, 7919 S. Ashland-av.

MEN 25 TO 50 YRS. OF AGE

We have several openings in Chicago territory for men who are looking for permanent selected will receive excellent return for their effort immediately and chance of advancement. If you qualify you will be put in business for yourself without any investment on your part. Comm. Experience not necessary. $40 to $50 a week from the start.
Ask at the desk for Mr. Callahan, La Salle Hotel, Friday, July 5, at promptly 1 p. m., no other time

What Happened to the French Fleet

Cruisers: 2 Damaged, 2 Taken Over, 4 Bottled Up

Battleships: 1 Sunk, 1 Damaged, 2 Taken Over, Others Bottled Up

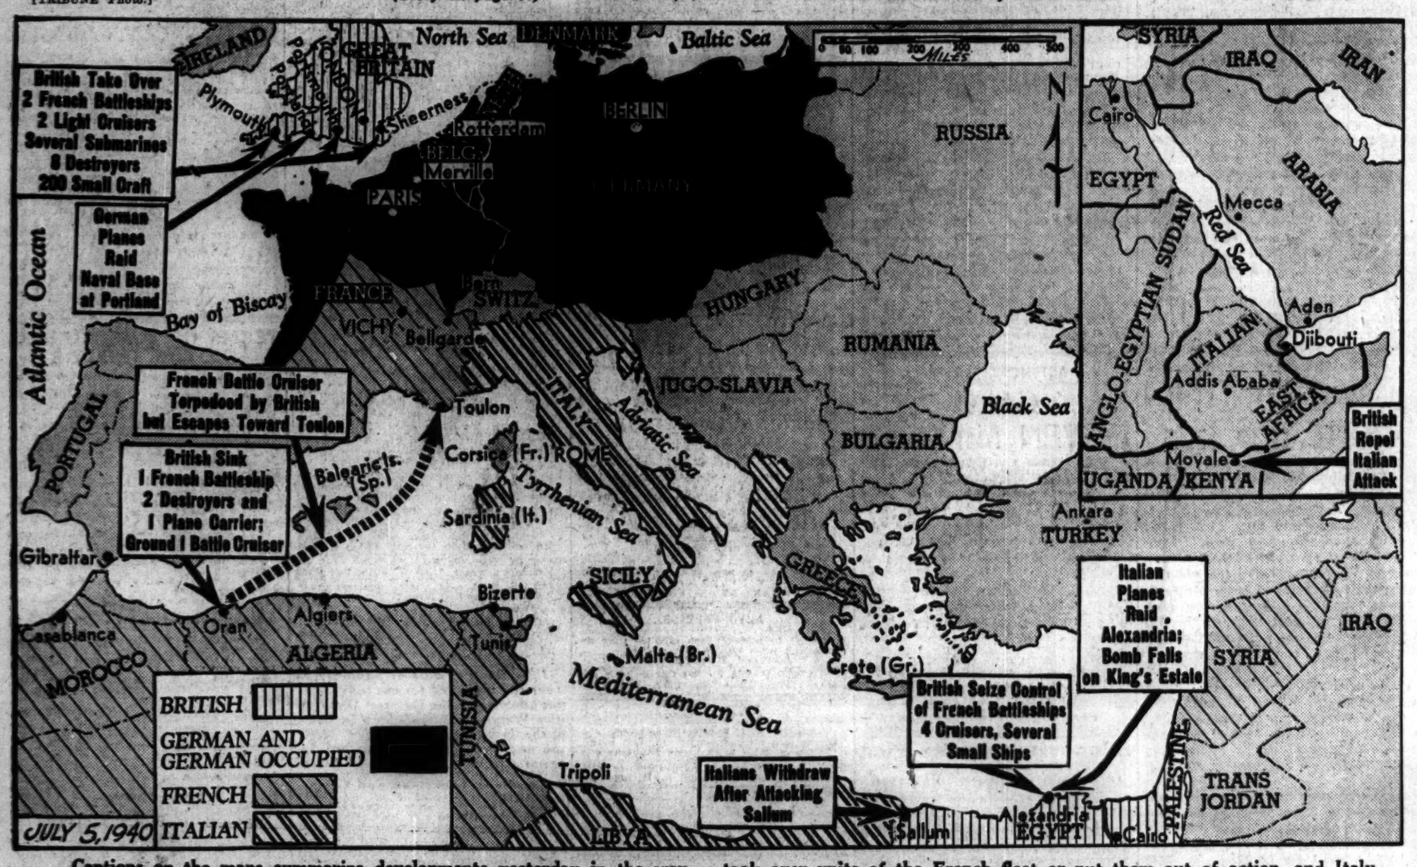
Submarines: Unknown Number Taken Over



Captions on the maps summarize developments yesterday in the war between the axis powers and Great Britain. In England, German bombers attacked a new base at Portland; in England and the Mediterranean Britain took over units of the French fleet or put them out of action, and Italy attacked Alexandria, and (inset map) a British post in Kenya.
(Stories on pages 1, 3, and 4.)
